Watch the World's Money,
The Akron,
Space and Matter,
More Prosperity News,
—By ARTHUR BRISBANE

SOON SOMETHING will happen to the world's money, interesting and important.

The London Star prints a picture of Uncle Sam and France looking at a safe labeled "Three-quarters of the World's Gold Supply," with Uncle Sam saying to France:

"We've kept it too long, Frenchie! It's gone off."

NINETY PER CENT of the world's nations and people, now off the gold standard, must have some kind of money better than imaginary paper values.

They will be compelled to use silver, which nature and industry furnish uniformly about 13 times as plentiful as gold.

At present gold is almost 70 times as expensive as silver. More than SEVENTEEN HUNDRED MILLION HUMAN BEINGS HAVEN'T GOT ANY GOLD and therefore have got no "real" money.

They will use silver and the conspiracy against silver, ingeniously managed by those that have wanted to control the world's money and have succeeded too well, will come to an end.

FROM ENGLAND comes a hint that the British Empire may stay "off the gold basis" permanently. Why not?

France went off the gold basis when she cut the value of her currency 80 per cent, paying debts with the francs worth less than 4 cents each, and accumulated $2,500,000,000 in solid gold. She recently has taken $600,000,000 gold from us. England might wisely follow such an example.

A DROP OF ONE dollar in the pound's value has already increased British manufacturing and promoted British prosperity. Thousands of men that were on the dole are now on payrolls. The pound being cheaper, outside nations can buy from England.

THAT IS SOMETHING for the United States to consider. We have such a good dollar that outside nations cannot afford it. Perhaps we need money not quite so "high hat."

THE GIANT AIRSHIP Akron, flew with 207 human beings on board, yesterday, a record for any aircraft.

The President and the Navy are to be congratulated on investing $5,000,000 in the Akron. Not enough praise has been given to Mr. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Company, whose enterprise made it possible to build such an airship here in the United States.

And not enough praise has been given to Admiral Moffett, who worked hard to push through the enterprise.

THE AKRON, intended FOR WAR, will carry five bombing planes that will leave the mother dirigible, attend invading floating ships, or submarines, or drop bombs on hostile cities, then come back to the mother ship.

On top, in the middle and at both ends the giant Akron carries machine gun nests. It could earn a living carrying fast mail, and a few passengers, across the ocean in peace time. This country should have a dozen like the Akron but bigger, and 5,000 heavier-than-air ships, as a fighting fleet, also useful in peace.

DR. HUBBLE, of Mount Wilson Observatory, calculates that the amount of matter in the universe, compared to the immensity of space, is equal to one grain of sand compared to the earth.

Jeans, in his "Mysterious Universe," which you should read, compares the amount of matter actually existing in space to one grain of dust floating around the inside of London's Waterloo Railroad Station.

However, it is some guesswork, for we do not know how big the universe is, and there is really no such thing as "matter" since it is made up of small units of positive and negative electricity, each atom an electric solar system.

There is NO matter in the universe, only arrangements of electrons and protons that look sufficiently like "solid matter" to our dull senses, and supply us with a material universe in which to think, act and disappear.

A SIGN of prosperity, bigger than a man's hand, is the rising price of wheat. Arthur W. Cutten, of Chicago, able grain personage, expects $1 wheat.

That would mean money for farmers, money for farmers would mean buying goods, that would mean hiring men and that, plus a few other things, would mean prosperity.

PREMIER LAVAL, back in France, tells his cabinet what was said and done in the United States and the cabinet declares Laval a wonderful man. French newspapers applaud him, the Paris public is delighted with him.

They probably know something that we don't know here. One thing is sure, when a French statesman goes anywhere he goes with a PLAN, and sticks to it. And it is always a plan to help FRANCE, not some other country. France is quite prosperous in consequence.

"SEEST THOU a man diligent in his business?"

You see a man VERY diligent in his business when you see a Japanese engaged in war. When they start, they go through.

GRAND JURY INDICTS O'MALLEY

'Strip' Leader, Four Aides To Stand Trial in Buying, Altering of Tax Receipts

Patrick J. O'Malley, Republican boss of the Second Ward, which yesterday rolled up its customary heavy majority for organization candidates, and four of his henchmen were indicted on vote fraud charges by October grand jury today.

O'Malley was indicted on 25 charges of wholesale purchase of tax receipts prior to the primaries without having been authorized to do so while he and the others were indicted on charges of conspiracy to hinder and prevent an honest primary election.

POLL HUGE VOTE

At yesterday's election the Second Ward ran up a vote of 2,201 votes for William D. Mansfield and 2,154 for David L. Lawrence, backed for County Commissioner by the Kline-Coyne organization. Their opponents, C. C. McGovern and C. M. Barr, received 57 and 35 votes, respectively.

According to the indictment, O'Malley is said to have deposited $1,400 on August 19, 1931, with Arthur Drumm, tax clerk in the County Treasurer's office. Tax

ELECTION ENDS 'BOSS' RULE; M'GOVERN TO HEAD BOARD

BULLETIN

Totals for 868 districts out of 932 in the county in yesterday's election, with the city of Pittsburgh practically complete, were:

Mansfield	168,602
McGovern	161,324
Barr	125,910
Lawrence	117,920

By MARK SHIELDS

Senator William D. Mansfield, Republican; Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, Republican and Independent, and former Senator C. M. Barr, Independent, have been elected to the Alleghny County Board of County Commissioners, Barr by a margin over David L. Lawrence, Democrat, which approximates 8,000 votes.

Independent leaders, to protect their victory from post-election trickery by the regular Republican organization which supported Mansfield and Lawrence in a bi-partisan campaign, have procured a court order impounding every ballot box in the county.

'ORGANIZATION' OUSTED

Victory for McGovern and Barr means the wresting from the regular organization of the control it has long held over political affairs in Allegheny County. Results of yesterday's election have swept into control of the Independents the Bureau of Election and the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, potent weapons in controlling elections and agencies which have been used for years to throttle any rebellion against the Republican machine.

Under the reorganization of the board to be undertaken January 1, with the retirement of County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and E. V. Babcock, McGovern probably will become chairman through the support of Barr. Mansfield, who had the highest vote among Republican candidates in the September primary, when McGovern also was nominated, will be relegated to a minority position, to ruminate on the powers which might have been his had the bi-partisan deal with Lawrence succeeded.

With the exception of County Commissioners and the County Poor Board, all other Republican candidates were elected practically without opposition. The Poor Board fight appeared to be another Republican victory.

In 282 districts of 525 outside Pittsburgh the totals were:

W. L. Henderson	39,260
J. Clyde Miller	36,501
H. H. Dixon	35,084
Bert L. Llewellyn	19,518
Bernard Flynn	18,127
K. W. Schuchman	18,637

Llewellyn, Flynn and Schuchman are on the Square Deal ticket.

MACHINE RULE SCRAPPED

Had the bi-partisan alliance of Mansfield and Lawrence been successful yesterday, Mansfield would have controlled the Board, and Mayor Charles H. Kline, Senator James J. Coyne and Armstrong, Republican machine leaders, would have continued dominant factors in the county government.

Yesterday's victory for McGovern and Barr, accomplished by a rising in independent wards, boroughs and townships to counteract the drive of the Republican machine on behalf of Mansfield and Lawrence, means a virtual revolution in the county government, with possibilities of far-reaching effects in succeeding elections, including the mayoralty campaign of 1933 and the senatorial struggle next year.

'RECIPROCITY' FAILS

Kline, Coyne and Armstrong, fighting to salvage something suffered from the defeat of the primary when Coyne and Armstrong were defeated for Republican nominations by Mansfield and McGovern, threw all of their weight

SUIT ATTACKS NESBIT TRUST

The Fidelity Trust Company, which has been appointed administrator in certain litigation concerning the estate of Harrison Nesbit, filed suit today asking that an insurance trust he created for his family, totalling about $829,000, be declared fraudulent and that the money be used for the benefit of creditors.

In the suit, filed by Attorney William Watson Smith, it was alleged Nesbit created the trust in 1928 and at the time of his death owed about $1,200,000 to 12 banks, to which he had given collateral that had depreciated.

It was further alleged that the trust was a fraud because, it is asserted, Nesbit was not solvent. The suits ask that the money be

Pinchot's County Goes Democratic

MILFORD, Pa., Nov. 4—(INS.)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot's home county of Pike apparently had swung into the Democratic column as a result of Tuesday's election. Unofficials returns today found the Democrats apparently assured of the associate judgeship, prothonotary, sheriff and two of the county commissioners and auditors posts.

There was one consolation for the Governor's faction, however, in the defeat of Asa B. Martin, bitter anti-Pinchot man, who ran fourth in the race for county commissioner on the Republican ticket.

WABASH DEAL BEFORE JURY

The October grand jury this afternoon began a rehearing of the agreement for purchase by the county of the old Wabash Railroad bridge and tunnel for a vehicular tube.

R. H. Hellick, county maintenance engineer of bridges, testified he thought the tube might be used for inbound traffic only during the morning peak and for outbound traffic during the evening rush hour. He said he considered expenditure of $4,000,000 justified.

Members of the grand jury quizzed the witness. Albert T. Morris, foreman, wanted to know why the same arrangement could not be worked in the Liberty tubes. Hellick replied the ventilation system was so arranged that only one-way traffic could be handled in each tube.

Woman May Win House Chairmanship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Yesterday's elections may carry a woman, for the first time, into a House Committee chairmanship—presiding over affairs of this city, where President Hoover lives.

She is Mrs. Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, first woman to be elected to Congress from the Democratic party, and now in line for the District of Columbia committee chairmanship in the predicted Democratic organization of the House.

House Contests Show Growing Sentiment Against Hoover

Outstanding developments in yesterday's elections nationally were these:

Democrats won control of the House.

All congressional victors were anti-dry.

Roosevelt defeated Smith in New York test.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Sweeping Democratic and anti-prohibition victories were scored in congressional elections held in several states yesterday.

The results were interpreted as indicating Democratic and anti-dry trends for the 1932 presidential race and rebukes to the Hoover administration and to prohibition.

Democratic control of the House of Representatives was indicated. The standing in the House as a result of the elections is:

Democrats, 217; Republicans, 215; Farmer-Labor, 1; vacancies, 2; total, 435.

The Democrats won the Eighth Michigan, the Seventh New York, in Brooklyn, and the Twentieth Ohio, in Cleveland. Republicans won in the First Ohio, the seat held for many years by the late Speaker Nick Longworth, and in the Second Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia.

ALL DRY LAW FOES

All the new Representatives-elect are for out-and-out repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or modification.

The two Republicans elected, Edward L. Stokes, of the Second Pennsylvania, and John D. Hollister, of the First Ohio, are for repeal. Stokes wants light wines and beer until the amendment is removed from the Constitution.

N. J. LANDSLIDE RAP AT HOOVER

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—A. Harry Moore today became governor-elect of New Jersey after a landslide of Democratic votes, which political leaders throughout the country eyed with interest because of its national implications.

Moore's plurality, over his Republican opponent, David Baird, Jr., passed the 250,000 mark. With 106 of the 3,349 districts still to be tabulated the vote stood: Moore, 706,311; Baird, 470,096.

Coxey Wins Fight For Massillon Mayor

MASSILLON, O., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—"Gen." Jacob S. Coxey, who led an "army" to Washington in the early nineties to urge that Congress approve an issue of non-interest bearing bonds to aid the unemployed, today was Massillon's mayor-elect.

Running on the Republican ticket, he defeated Fred W. Justuis, (Dem.) 4,442 to 2,631. He advocated municipal ownership of the public waterworks, and a $200,000 issue of non-interest bearing bonds.

Florida Voters O. K. Dog Race Betting

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Voters of Pinellas County legalized pari-mutuel betting at dog races by a vote of three to one. The St. Petersburg Kennel Club will open a 90-day racing season at its track near here late this year.

VOLPES BEATEN IN WILMERDING

Independent candidates in Wilmerding were successful in every instance, according to official figures today, which gave them large leads over candidates of the regular Republican machine headed by John Volpe.

The victory, which placed W. J. Gilmartin, J. R. Dick and A. B. Fox in Council, where the Independents already have two members, John Carthew and Kyran Boyle, assures the Volpe opponents of political control in the borough for at least two years.

At the reorganization meeting of the borough council next month it was said the borough would be cleared of every vestige of the Volpe control that has persisted for eight years.

Independent leaders said the first two borough employes to go would be Police Chief Joseph Corteal, brother-in-law of John Volpe, and Capt. Moody Champ. Other offices said to be affected will be that of borough engineer, borough solicitor, street commissioner and board of health.

Home Town Gives MacDonald Ovation

LOSSIEMOUTH, Scotland, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Every able-bodied man in Lossiemouth turned out today to welcome Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, who arrived for a brief rest after the strenuous political campaign.

His automobile was hemmed in by the crowd and hundreds of children pushed it from the railway station to Mr. MacDonald's home while the Prime Minister sat in the back seat.

W. L. Mellon Turned Away At Polls, Fails to Vote

W. L. Mellon, former Chairman of the Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania, in company with his chauffeur, yesterday appeared at the polls in the Twenty-fifth District of the Fourteenth Ward, for the purpose of voting.

The election board did not find his name on the registry list and advised him to return with an affidavit of his residence so that he could vote. Mellon did not return.

His chauffeur, who was registered, voted.

Williams Jewelry Company, 823 Federal street, of $1,000 in gems according to North Side police, John Hough, 31, of 2585 Charles street, an employe of the store and a former owner, is held at the North Side station on a suspicious person charge. Shortly after his arrest, police report, Hough attempted to sever the artery of his left arm.

Patrolman Joseph Scanlon said he saw Hough inside the store. He arrested Hough and William L. Dittmar, 28, of 1424 Sheffield street, driver of a taxi cab that was alleged by Scanlon to be waiting nearby and which contained part of the stolen jewelry.

Henry C. Hotz, 36, of 2701 Charles street, also was arrested when Hough, police declared, said he had been with him earlier in the evening.

ROOSEVELT BEATS SMITH IN NEW YORK POPULARITY TEST

VOTERS UPHOLD EXECUTIVE'S FOREST PLAN

Observers Doubting Grudge See Maneuver to Spare Governor Tammany Taint

By HARRY B. STRINGER
United News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 — Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today had emerged victorious from the "popularity contest" with his predecessor, Alfred E. Smith, which developed over their split on the celebrated reforestation amendment to the state constitution on which the state voted yesterday.

Tammany swept New York City, electing the borough president for Manhattan and all members of the Board of Aldermen with one exception. The Legislature remained Republican.

The reforestation amendment which Roosevelt zealously advocated and which Smith as zealously opposed was adopted by a tremendous majority.

POLITICS INVOLVED

The amendment provides for an expenditure by the state of $15,000,000 in the next 15 years to reclaim abandoned lands by reforestation. Roosevelt urged it as a conservation move, while Smith branded it as an attempt to put the state in the lumber business.

Although both Roosevelt and Smith insisted their controversy over the amendment had no political significance, it became so bitter in the closing days of the campaign that Roosevelt supporters made the blunt accusation that it was nothing more than a plot to embarrass Roosevelt because of his presidential boom.

Smith, in alliance with John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and personal political ally, had determined it was charged, to sidetrack Roosevelt at any cost in favor of Newton D. Baker or Gov. Albert Ritchie, of Maryland.

SHREWD MOVE SEEN

Impartial observers, however, inclined to the view that it was a shrewd political maneuver to cleanse Roosevelt of any Tammany taint should he be the nominee. It was pointed out that with both Democratic and Republican leaders indorsing the reforestation program, which virtually assured its adoption, Smith would scarcely risk a blow to his prestige by engaging in a grudge fight with Roosevelt on this issue.

The Governor today laughed off an attempt to question him about the reforestation vote. He jovially refused to answer this question.

"Do you consider the result of the voting on the amendment a personal victory over former Gov. Smith?"

New York's vote was a record for an off-year. One of the results was a Tammany sweep in New York City, despite the "tin box" revelations of the Hofstadter Investigating Committee.

Continuance of the Hofstadter investigation of corruption in the city government was insured, however, by the return of Republicans to control in both houses of the Legislature.

LLOYD GEORGE QUITS AS CHIEF

LONDON, Nov. 4 — (INS) — In a letter to Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the National government wing of the Liberal party, David Lloyd George, former prime minister, today resigned the chairmanship of the Parliamentary Liberal party. Sir Herbert was immediately elected to the place.

Lloyd George, who is convalescing from his recent illness, expressed the hope that his health will be completely restored by the end of the year. He said:

"I am looking forward with pleasure to co-operation with those who have at heart the advancement of the ideas to which many millions rallied hopefully in 1929, but which were overwhelmed in the calamitous folly of October."

OUR OWN JACK AND JILL :-: By Quin Hall

OWNERS SHARE IN BANK CASH

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4 — (AP.)—Dr. William D. Gordon, state banking secretary, announced that stockholders who are depositors in closed banks will receive liquidating dividends along with other depositors, reversing a previous ruling. The secretary said both the original ruling and the new decision were made by the Attorneys General.

The new rule is retroactive so that stokholding depositors now may obtain their dividends from three banks which already have declared one. They are the Aldine Trust Company, the Darby Bank and Trust Company and the Plaza Trust Company. The Bankers Trust Company will pay a 20 per cent dividend Monday, officials said.

Dr. Gordon said the first ruling barring stockholders from receiving dividends was made to avoid delay in distribution of payments and to permit a more thorough scrutiny of the law on the subject. He said a test case will be brought soon to determine the question of stockholders' liabilities.

SOVIET CREDIT STIRS BERLIN

BERLIN, Nov. 4 — (INS) — Uneasiness over the financial position of Soviet Russia was renewed in business circles here today by the sudden cancellation of numerous orders placed by Moscow with various German firms.

The Soviet trade office here was reported to have broken off negotiations for further orders, under instructions from Moscow.

The cancellations were believed partially due to the tightening of credit by German banks and the lack of prospects of additional government guarantees for Russian business before December.

13 CITIES SHOW TRADE GAIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 — Thirteen out of 30 cities reporting to the Department of Commerce last week showed some improvement in business or a more favorable sentiment toward the future, it was announced today.

A seasonal increase in retail trade in a number of cities and a marked improvement in the steel industry at Pittsburgh were featured during the last few weeks.

Steel ingot production rose to 30 per cent this week against 29 last week, said the Iron Age, which reported better steel industry sentiment because of higher grain and cotton prices and imminence of larger automobile production schedules.

Improvement in the anthracite fields and continued near-capacity operation in the textile industry also were noted by the Bureau of Employment of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry in a report.

In Chicago, the International Harvester Company announced it had resumed active operations in all of its American and Canadian plants.

WILLIAMS DIES, STAGE, SCREEN LOSE STAR

Peritonitis Ends Career of Brilliant Actor; Played Here in Stock Company

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Death has ended the brilliant career of Robert Williams, noted young stage and screen actor. He succumbed in a hospital last night to peritonitis, which set in after rupture of the appendix.

Two operations, one for the removal of the appendix and the other in an effort to check the peritonitis, were performed, the second last Sunday night.

Williams was the husband of Nina Penn, formerly a New York stage player. He had one daughter, Mary Ellen, 9, by his previous marriage to Marion Harris, actress.

Born on a farm near Morganton, N. C., September 15, 1898, Williams at the age of 11 ran away from home to join a tent show. He remained with the tent show until it reached Jackson, Miss., when he joined a showboat on the Mississippi.

BROADWAY STAR

At 14, Williams entered a midwest stock company which led him to Chicago and Pittsburgh and eventually New York.

His first appearance in New York was with Marjorie Rambeau in "Eyes of Youth." Other Broadway successes which lifted him to stardom were "Abie's Irish Rose," "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and "Rebound." He had co-starred with Alice Brady, Ann Harding, Hope Williams and Elsie Ferguson.

Williams came to Hollywood six months ago to appear in the stage production, "Rebound." The films claimed him to play for their version of "Rebound," and a long-time contract as feature player resulted. He subsequently played opposite Constance Bennett.

IN STOCK HERE

Robert Williams appeared in juvenile parts in the old Davis Stock Company here, about 1914, when the stock company was moved from the Grand to the Davis Theater. His engagement was of several months duration.

One of his latest screen productions, "Platinum Blonde," is closing today at the Stanley.

ENGELSBERG'S FIGHT FAILS

Last-minute efforts of Joseph Engelsberg, Mayor C. H. Kline's one time chairman in the Third Ward, to avoid going to jail for six months for bootlegging, failed today when Federal Judge Nelson McVicar refused a petition for a stay of execution of sentence.

Engelsberg, denied an appeal for review by the United States Supreme Court, was scheduled to surrender to United States Marshal James C. McGregor today to begin his sentence, but probably will not surrender until tomorrow, it was learned, when District Attorney Louis E. Graham, absent from the city, will return.

paid Nesbit's creditors and that it not be given to the family.

The suit was filed against the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., of which C. O. Thomas was named as receiver and Scott S. Nesbit as trustee, and against Edith H. Nesbit, Edith Caroline Nesbit and Nancy Elizabeth Nesbit.

The trust agreement, according to the suit, was made with the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., and under its terms Nesbit's widow was to receive the income from the fund during her life. At her death it was to be divided among his two daughters and his son.

The suit also sets forth that, aside from the property and livestock at his farm in Virginia, and the collateral given the banks, the trust fund is his only other asset.

Nesbit was killed October 21 in an auto accident at Muirkirk, Md., in which his daughter, Edith C. Nesbit, was injured seriously. Miss Nesbit is in a hospital in Washington.

The assets of the closed Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., were increased by $1,000,000 as the result of an insurance policy the bank held. Nesbit was insured by the bank and his policy is payable to the bank.

LAVAL, BELGIAN ENVOY CONFER

PARIS, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Premier Pierre Laval today received Baron Gaiffier d'Hestroy, Belgian ambassador, and it was understood the Premier informed him of his conversations with the German ambassador, Dr. Leopold von Hoesch, yesterday.

Belgium and France are the chief countries interested in German reparations payments.

Meanwhile, France is awaiting Germany's reaction to yesterday's meetings. It is understood that the Premier inquired minutely into German's intentions during his conference with Dr. von Hoesch, but that neither made any definite proposals.

Persons usually well informed said Dr. von Hoesch had told the Premier that Germany could not meet both reparations payments and debts due to the private banks, and that if the private obligations, due in February, must be met then the reparations installment must be scaled down.

POISON THEORY NEW ANGLE IN TRUNK CASE

By W. M. BISHOP
International News Service.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 4. —New evidence which was expected to refute the claim of Mrs. Ruth Judd, 26, "blonde tigress," that she shot Hedwig Samuelson, for whom she had admitted a strange affection, in self-defense, and then killed Agnes Lero, was discovered today.

The new evidence, as revealed following Mrs. Judd's arraignment on a charge of murdering the two women and then mutilating Miss Samuelson's body and shipping both bodies to Los Angeles.

Mrs. Judd was bound over without bond for a preliminary hearing next Monday. Mystery surrounded the identity of two persons for whom County Attorney Lloyd Andrews issued "John Doe" and "Jane Doe" warrants as accomplices of the accused woman.

HINT POISON ATTEMPT

That Mrs. Judd tried to poison Mrs. Leroi at a private luncheon in Mrs. Judd's apartment the Thursday preceding the double murder, was the startling evidence disclosed today.

Herbert Ellis, laboratory technician at the Grunow Memorial Clinic, where both Mrs. Judd and Mrs. Leroi were employed, said the two women left the clinic arm in arm en route to Mrs. Judd's apartment about noon Thursday.

Mrs. Leroi returned to the clinic before 2 o'clock and complained to Ellis and others in the hospital of violent pains in her stomach and deathly sickness.

POISON FOUND

The finding in Mrs. Judd's apartment of bottles, one of which contained poison tablets, was disclosed by authorities.

County Attorney Andrews considered the new evidence of the utmost importance. He had maintained since the murder was discoverd that the slayings resulted from a jealous row among the three women. The quarrel was due, he declared, to threatened disruption of a strange feminine love triangle.

Cleveland Ousts Manager Plan; Court Test Urged

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4 — (AP.) — After using the city manager form of government for the last eight years, the city of Cleveland is going to restore the old federal system of a Mayor and Council elected by wards.

This city, the largest that ever used a city manager form of government, yesterday gave a 9,297-vote majority to a charter amendment abolishing the office of city manager and restoring the Mayor as the chief executive. The amendment also abolished the proportional representation group-district system of choosing Councilmen in favor of selection by wards.

The vote on the amendment was 61,267 for and 51,970 against.

Hardly had the vote been counted, however, before plans were started by the Citizens' League for a court attack on the mayoralty election which the amendment provided to be held in February.

Defeat of the city manager plan will oust from office Monday the present manager, Daniel E. Morgan. Law Director Harold H. Burton will then become acting Mayor until his successor is elected next February. Morgan has been getting a salary of $25,000 a year.

McGovern Opens Gates Barring State Police

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern averted a clash between state police and county employes today at the Courthouse yard when he himself opened the gates and permitted a machine filled with state troopers to drive in.

Stationed here to guard against election disorders, the officers yesterday had parked their machine in the yard. Today when they applied for admission, it is said, they were refused by Henry Allen, in charge of the yard. McGovern appeared, however, and swung open the big gate.

McGovern explained the difficulty was caused by a misunderstanding. Allen had been ordered to keep the yard clear so trucks arriving with ballot boxes, impounded on court order, would have room to unload the boxes without interference.

James Routley, assistant chief clerk of the County Commissioners, when he learned of the occurrence, ordered Allen to clear the yard of all county cars and to place them in the county garage. The state car was permitted to remain.

NAN'S $50,000 SUIT AGAINST HOTEL MAN NEARS JURY

JUDGE LIMITS ARGUMENTS TO 4 HOURS

Defense Declares Verdict Must Hinge on Reputation Girl Held in Marion, O.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Federal Judge John M. Killits set a four-hour limit for each side to give final arguments today in Nan Britton's $50,000 libel suit against C. A. Klunk, of Marion, a hotel operator.

This indicated that today's entire session would be given over to the summations and that the case would not be given to the jury before tomorrow.

SUIT OVER BOOK

The case, based on Miss Britton's charges that her character was defamed in the book "The Answer to the President's Daughter," which Klunk allegedly distributed in his hotel, is being held behind locked doors by order of Judge Killits.

It was understood attorneys for Miss Britton rested their case yesterday after she took the witness stand to give certain rebuttal testimony.

Miss Britton, who claims the late President Harding was the father of her daughter, now 12, was on the stand half on hour yesterday.

Her testimony was followed by that of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Willits, of Chicago, who was in the courtroom only a few moments.

DEFENSE ARGUES

The jury has only two things to consider, Donald D. Melhorn, defense attorney said in his argument. These are whether Miss Britton had a $50,000 reputation in June 1927, when "The Answer to the President's Daughter" was published and whether statements made about Miss Britton in the book were true.

If the statements published in the "Answer" which Klunk admits having sold are found to be true, Melhorn asserted a verdict for the defense must be returned.

It is up to the jury to decide whether Miss Britton had a good reputation in Marion at the time the "Answer" was published, he asserted.

MAUDE ADAMS WINS OVATION IN COMEBACK

59-Year-Old Star's 'Portia' Acclaimed By Critics; Skinner in 'Shylock' Role

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—To the accompaniment of a record-breaking ovation, Maude Adams made her bow upon the American stage again last night after an absence of 13 years.

The 59-year-old actress played the part of Portia in "The Merchant of Venice" with Otis Skinner as a co-star in the part of Shylock.

It was the first time the actress, who established herself as a prime favorite in the latter part of the nineteenth and the early part of the twentieth centuries, has appeared on any stage since 1918, when she retired to indulge a taste for tinkering with the mechanics of the theater.

14 CURTAIN CALLS

An audience of fashionably groomed and gowned society filled the theater, greeted Miss Adams with a prolonged ovation the moment she stepped upon the stage, and called her again and again before the curtain before the last scene.

She and her co-star were called back no less than 14 times, a record in Cleveland theaters, critics said.

To many in the audience Miss Adams was remembered as the Babbie or the Peter Pan at the height of her glamorous career. To others she was only a famous name, for a large part of the present generation of theatergoers has known her by hearsay alone.

PERFORMANCE PRAISED

The curious, skeptical and worshipful saw a typical Maude Adams performance. That she was at her best in the scenes calling for feminine grace, charm and caprice—at the opening of the gold, silver and lead caskets, and again in the final garden scene—was the consensus of the critics.

An innovation of the performance was a new type of stage lighting, introduced by Miss Adams herself as a result of her research since her retirement.

Instead of footlights, the actors were seen in a field of diffused light from projectors high in the balcony. At times the lighting crew dim and odd tricks in color were performed.

The premiere performance introduced a tour of the South and Middle West and a return to New England and New York in the spring.

2 SAVED AT SEA FIGHT FOR LIFE IN HOSPITAL

BULLETIN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Irving Tushyner, who, wiath a companion drifted for nine days in an open motorboat off the coast of New York before being rescued, died at 1:50 p. m. today from exposure.

Tushyner had been weakening during the morning, and physicians reported his heart had stopped beating three times, but that injections had revived him.

STAPLETON, N. Y., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Seriously ill after nine days of thirst and hunger in a drifting open motorboat, two men who were rescued dramatically 60 miles at sea arrived here last night on a Coast Guard cutter and were taken to a hospital.

They are David Warshauer, 31, and Irving Puchyner, 29, brothers-in-law, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Warshauer was barely able to speak, but managed to tell the story of their long battle with the tide and heavy winds. Puchyner was unconscious.

HAD GIVEN UP HOPE

Propped up in his bed in Staten Island Hospital, New Brighton, as physicians rubbed his limbs, Warshauer related that he and his brother-in-law had been swept out to sea from Sheepshead Bay, October 25, when their gasoline supply ran out after a run from Rockaway Beach. He said:

"We tried to row back but we couldn't make it. The tide was too strong. We had given up hope. We knew we were goners. We agreed that whoever survived was to take care of the others folks. Then the Coast Guard cutter came."

The men's boat was sighted by the Coast Guard patrol boat Cuyahoga 60 miles off Fire Island light, about 125 miles east of New York City, off Martha's Vineyards, Mass.

Boatswain's Mate Frank Rados jumped into the boat as the patrol pulled alongside and found the two men lying in several inches of water, under a canvas tarpaulin.

PLEADS FOR AID

Warshauer looked up weakly, Rados said, later and gasped out:

"For God's sake, don't leave us."

After drinking black coffee and some broth both fell asleep.

Later Puchyner awakened, delirious, and began screaming for water. He had drunk the liquid from a fire extinguisher on the boat. At the hospital Warshauer said:

"The only water we had was what we collected on our canvas tarpaulin when it rained last Saturday.

"But we tried to keep it in our empty gasoline tank and it was unfit to drink. Once we sighted a liner. We thought some sailors aboard had seen our plight, but the liner left us in its wake.

"Several other times we sighted smaller craft. But they couldn't see us in the heavy sea. We made a drag anchor out of the outboard motor and threw it overboard on a line. That kept our bow into the sea and we were saved from being swamped."

A police seaplane, with a doctor aboard, made two attempts to locate the Cuyahoga at sea but failed.

'CRUSOES' DENY ISLE PARADISE

CRISTOBAL, C. Z., Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Denying statements that Cocos Island, where they spent seven months as modern Robinson Crusoes, is a South Seas "paradise," Elmer Palliser, Paul Stahewick and Gordon Brawner sailed for home today aboard the liner Virginia. Palliser said:

"The person who said Cocos Island is a paradise doesn't know the situation. We are glad to be homeward-bound again and eating civilized food."

The three men were cast away on the little island off the South American Coast when their West Wind was wrecked last April while on a scientific cruise. Their plight was discovered by the crew of Julius Fleishmann's yacht Camargo, which wirelessed the naval station at Balboa to send a warship to rescue the men.

Palliser said he and his companions were unable to hear signals from the Camargo's gun owing to the pounding of the surf. They did not know rescue was near until the warship Sacramento arrived and picked them up off the beach at Dampier's Head.

Mary Nolan Wins Cut in Violin Player's Bill

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Beverly Hills' Justice of the Peace, H. E. Billings, used to play the fiddle all evening long in the old days for $5.

So he could sympathize, he said, with the objections of Mary Nolan, motion picture actress, to a bill for $50 from Louis Eist, musician, who went out to her house last year to play music "to soothe her nerves."

As a result, Eist agreed to accept $15 less. The actress was in court to answer charges of non-payment of wages.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Dorothy Machaill, film actress, has ended all the rumors about the man she might marry. She wedded Neil Albert Miller, night club and radio singer, yesterday.

The actress met Miller in Honolulu, where he was employed as a sugar plantation manager. While in Honolulu the couple obtained a marriage license, but failed to wed. Later, Miss Mackaill was reported engaged to John McCormick, former husband of Colleen Moore; Walter Byron, actor, and Horace Hough.

GANDHI SPURNS 'HIGH HAT'

LONDON, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Mahatma Gandhi today was firm in his decision to wear his loincloth to Buckingham Palace to see the King.

When asked whether in deference to King George he would don trousers, a tail coat and a high hat when His Majesty receives him tomorrow, Gandhi said:

"Would a poor man in the United States change his dress to see President Hoover?"

When it was suggested that a poor man in the United States might change his clothes to see the President if he had another suit, Gandhi replied:

"Well, I'm a poor beggar and I have no clothes except my loincloths, which are all alike."

He was reminded that since he will be an official guest the government would provide him with an automobile to ride to the palace. He said:

"Well, it's about time the government gave me something."

FLYING PEGGY PART AMERICAN

LONDON, Nov. 4.—(Universal.)—Miss Peggy Salaman, Britain's flying society deb, sped southward through the heart of desolate Africa, well within schedule on her attempt to break the England-to-Cape Town flight record.

While bulletins described her daughter's progress over Africa's wildest stretches, Mrs. Elkin Salaman declared that Peggy has American blood in her. The mother said:

"Peggy was born in London. Her father was British. I was born in America."

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Peggy Salaman, 19-year-old London debutante, hopped off from Bulawayo, Northern Rhodesia, for Kimberley at 1:30 p. m. today.

Miss Salaman had a narrow escape yesterday. Finding she could not make Kimberley owing to the danger of hitting mountains in her path in the darkness, she decided to land at Mpika. She missed this settlement, however, and was forced to land in the bush, narrowly escaping disaster when the under-carriage of her plane brushed the tree tops.

This morning she cleared a runway with some difficulty and then took off for Mpika, refueling there before proceeding to Bulawayo.

U. S. Judge Scores Schools in Rum Prosecution

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—The value of education is being over-emphasized, Federal Judge Robert L. Williams remarked after a defendant had recited a story yesterday of being forced to sell beer to keep his children in school. The judge said:

"I'm not in sympathy with so much stress on education. All this free textbook stuff is just part of an organized campaign to keep everybody in school until they are 20 so there'll be more jobs teaching."

The alleged beer peddler was Henry F. Maddox, Fort Gibson. Judge Williams sentenced him to 60 days in jail. Free textbooks is one of the aims of Gov. W. H. Murray.

DOLLY TO SHUN BIG DANCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Because Mrs. Dolly Gann is going to the west coast to see and be seen by the stars of Hollywood, a big Armistice Day ball here will have to go on without her.

Mrs. Gann is honorary chairman of Armistice ball patronesses with Mrs. William E. Borah as active chairman. Mrs. Gann had planned a box party.

But her brother, Vice President Curtis, accepted an invitation to travel to the west coast for the Motion Picture Academy dinner the night of November 10, and Mrs. Gann exercised the woman's right to change her mind. She said:

"Brother is going to Los Angeles, and I am just going to tag along. I don't know exactly what the program is out there, but I feel sure we will have a good time."

WIND SMASHES BIGGEST BLIMP

CAPE MAY, N. J., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Navy officials today inspected what remained of the new $250,000 non-rigid dirigible, K-1, largest of its type in the world, to determine definitely the extent of the damage done when a strong wind smashed it against its hangar entrance last night.

A ground crew of 60 sailors was maneuvering the 237-foot airship into its hangar on its return from a flight to Lakehurst when a sudden cross-current wrenched it from their control. A door of the hangar caught the big bag and tore a large hole in it, through which the helium gas started to seethe.

As the gas roared from the valves the huge deflated bag was whirled away by the wind and ripped by a barbed wire fence nearby.

The control car was damaged slightly, but Lieut. Bailey and two student pilots who occupied it at the time escaped injury.

The K-1 was delivered to the Navy about a month ago and had flown 20 hours.

HUNDREDS GET FORD FARM JOBS

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Scenes reminiscent of the old-fashioned harvesting period were being enacted on Henry Ford's 12,000-acre farm, near here, today, as the motor magnate ordered that all modern machinery methods of farming be abandoned for hand power.

In this manner, between 600 and 700 men are working where hitherto it required only about 100 men. Ford, in ordering the innovation, took no one into his confidence. It is believed to be in line with a previous statement that "no one will go hungry in Dearborn this winter."

Most of the additional labor came from his factories, although a portion of it was drawn from the general ranks of the unemployed.

The greater portion of the 12,000-acre farm is planted in carrots. Between 75,000 and 100,000 bushels are expected to be harvested.

JAPAN REPLIES TO LEAGUE ON INVASION

Pushes Troops Deeper Into Manchuria While Defending Course to Geneva Council

TOKIO, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—While its troops moved farther into Manchuria and encountered Chinese machine guns in one instance, the Japanese government tonight began drafting a note to the League of Nations insisting that China recognize the validity of treaties under which Japan operates in the Chinese territory.

The Japanese note will be in reply to that of Aristide Briand, acting president of the league council, setting forth his views regarding the five fundamental principles to which the Tokio government previously had asked China to subscribe as a prerequisite to the withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Manchurian occupied area.

UPHOLDS RIGHTS

Tokio will contend that one essential point must be China's recognition of the 1915 treaty under which Japan was given certain rights in Chinese territory.

China contends that this treaty, originating out of the "21 demands," was signed by the Chinese under duress and therefore illegal. Japan maintains that the treaty was legitimate and binding and as nearly perfect as numerous others now in effect.

It was understood here that Briand had suggested Japan should agree to the Chinese proposal to refer existing Sino-Japanese treaties to The Hague for adjudication. This Tokio considers improper and unfair.

The reply to the Briand note also will say that unless China recognizes and lives up to the terms of that treaty, normal relations between the two nations cannot be enjoyed.

OPPOSES WITHDRAWAL

Regarding the league council's insistence upon withdrawal of Japanese troops from the occupied zones in Manchuria, the Tokio government holds that unconditional withdrawal would mean a return to the previous unsatisfactory and unsafe status quo and an opening of the way for the return of the "irresponsible authority" of Chang Hseuh-Liang, governor of Manchuria under the Chinese regime.

Today

Japanese army leaders, who with the Mikado, constitute the real government of Japan, find it necessary to "clear away resistance in Manchuria," and consider bombing Chinchow, base of the ousted Mukden war lord.

Bombing from a safe height is a convenient way to carry on a war. This country ought to know about this, for it may learn about it unpleasantly some day.

IN MOSCOW, Russia is building a $4,000,000 "culture palace for metal workers." This modern palace, to stand on the site of a monastery torn down, will contain two theaters and a club and be ready next May to accommodate 12,000 persons.

Where does Russia get the money, to compete even on a modest scale with "Rockefeller City" in New York?

How does she learn to build as rapidly as Americans build?

A surprising people. Perhaps Russia has more ability than Wall Street thinks.

YOU WILL READ all about the election this morning eagerly, intelligently, critically. Eighty per cent of voting Americans will read little, care little, understand less. That's one of our troubles.

Democrats may control the House of Representatives, which would break 13 years of Republican control.

THE ROW between former Gov. Alfred Smith and today's Gov. Roosevelt of New York, Roosevelt an open, Smith a probable candidate for the Democratic nomination, interests the country.

POLITICIANS ASK the meaning of the gathering of three mayors in New York yesterday, Walker, of New York, Cermak, of Chicago, Frank Hague, of Jersey City, Democratic boss of his state.

The meeting was no "fortuitous concourse of atoms."

They met for some purpose, and politicians ask, "For what?"

Some think they want to nominate former Gov. Smith again. Others believe they want to nominate Owen D. Young. Everybody believes they do NOT want to nominate Gov. Roosevelt.

RAILROADS HAVE reduced salaries of white collar people, from president down, and have cut or discontinued dividends. Now they say they must cut wages, to continue business since the Interstate Commerce Commission refuses the 15 per cent increase asked for.

This is not good news for railroad workers, and the 22 presidents of railway labor associations deserve all the more credit for considering the proposition in a judicial mood.

The first thing, of course, is to exact a pledge that returning prosperity for railroads would mean reinstatement of former wage scales.

$7,500,000 Welfare Loan Fails in Ohio

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Defeat of the $7,500,000 bond issue for state welfare rehabilitation was conceded by Gov. George White when almost half the state had rolled up an adverse majority of almost 168,000.

Expressing deep regret over failure of the bond issue, the Governor declared it places the state in a "precarious situation."

BARR ELECTED; ALL BALLOTS IMPOUNDED

behind Mansfield and Lawrence yesterday. In the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Ninth, Fifteenth, Twenty-first, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Wards of Pittsburgh, and the Boroughs of Rankin, Wilmerding, Homestead, Braddock and McKees Rocks, where the sway of the organization is absolute, the spectacle was presented of a Democrat, Lawrence, running almost neck-and-neck with a Republican, Mansfield.

Though Mansfield had never openly espoused Lawrence returns from McKeesport, home of the Senator, showed Lawrence running strong in many districts, indicating there was reciprocity to the deal of the Republican organization, interested mainly in the Democrat.

INDEPENDENTS REVOLT

Offsetting this controlled strength, however, was the plain resentment of independent districts. Mansfield, who had run strongly in these sections in the primary, getting 40,000 votes more than McGovern, found the latter turning the tables. Districts of Mt. Lebanon and Wilkinsburg, Turtle Creek and Dormont, gave Mansfield hundreds fewer votes than he had received in the primary, while McGovern exceeded his September total.

In many of these districts disgust with Mansfield for not repudiating the organization alliance with Lawrence and the Kline-Coyne machine was so strong that Barr took second place. This was evident in the Seventh Ward of Pittsburgh, where Barr, in second place, received 1,978 votes to 1,465 for Mansfield.

LESLIE STAND UPHELD

Aiding in the victory of Barr and McGovern was the action of a group of candidates on the Republican ticket with Mansfield who refused to support Lawrence and turned in for Barr. Notable in this group was Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, aided by others allied with the faction once led by Senator M. G. Leslie.

They worked for Mansfield, but made no secret of their friendship for Barr, and their course was approved by McGovern, who throughout the campaign appeared willing to sacrifice votes to advance Barr in order that the Board might be wrested from the Republican organization.

Concrete evidence of the alliance between Mansfield and Lawrence through Kline and Coyne developed with the first returns last night. They came from a district of the Fourth Ward, Coyne's home, and showed Lawrence running practically even with Mansfield, far ahead of McGovern and Barr. This story was repeated as returns were received from the First, Second and Third Wards. In the First, ruled by Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh, Barr received only 339 votes to 1,160 for Lawrence, while McGovern had 612.

SLASHING IN STRIP

The Second Ward, bossed by P. J. O'Malley, Coyne lieutenant, was the outstanding example of machine control. In this ward, the total vote was Mansfield 2,201, Lawrence 2,164, McGovern 57 and Barr 35. The Third Ward gave Lawrence more than two to one over McGovern, and the Ninth, ruled by Deputy Fire Chief Louis Conley, was another where the Kline machine coupled Mansfield and Lawrence.

Weight of these controlled wards placed Mansfield far in the lead in early returns, with Lawrence running second, McGovern third and Barr trailing badly in fourth position. With this strength exhausted, however, Lawrence began to fall back steadily, and McGovern also gained on Mansfield as the independent wards and districts outside of Pittsburgh were heard from.

It was shortly before 5 o'clock this morning, with 551 districts out of 932 in the county report, that Barr passed Lawrence in the count. At that time there were still districts in Homestead, dominated by Burgess John Cavanaugh, in Rankin, led by John Veroskey, and in Wilmerding, bossed by John Volpe, all strong Lawrence territory, to be heard from. Canceling these were sections of Bellevue, Dormont, Ben Avon and the North Boroughs, Barr's old senatorial district, and backers of Lawrence in the Republican organization, abandoned hope that he would be elected.

VICTORY CONCEDED

From the eleventh floor of the William Penn Hotel, where John Fugassi, Armstrong leader, has conducted a quiet campaign for Lawrence and Mansfield, came word that victory for Barr was conceded by at least 8,000.

There was some strange results in the election. The city of Duquesne was carried by McGovern and Mansfield, his margin being 832 votes, while Barr ran two to one ahead of Mansfield. The Mayor of Duquesne is James Crawford, brother of E. R. Crawford, Mansfield's political sponsor.

Armstrong maintained neutrality in his home district, the seventh of the Seventeenth Ward. The result there was Mansfield 326, McGovern 271, Lawrence 250 and Barr 183.

McGovern carried the Twenty-seventh Ward, of which Representative Samuel J. Grenet is chairman, and Barr ran but 100 votes back of Mansfield. McGovern also carried the Eighteenth Ward, with Mansfield second and Barr third.

The Fifth, home of James F. Malone, bitter foe of McGovern, was split because of local fights, and the independents made a surprising showing. In McKees Rocks, also, the independents did better than they expected. Miles Bryan, leader there, is a follower of Armstrong, but his rule has been threatened by local [illegible] tious groups.

MANSFIELD MAN TRAILS GRAY

Republican nominees in local contests were apparent winners in McKeesport and Clairton from unofficial returns today.

McKeesport's hottest fight was between City Treasurer George W. Gray, incumbent, who was leading, and Clarence Johnson, Independent and Square Deal candidate. Gray had a lead of 288 votes in 26 districts reported. Gray was supported by Mayor George H. Lysle and Attorney William H. Coleman. State Senator William D. Mansfield supported Johnson.

Two Clairton Councilmen, John W. Miller and Van E. Ohl, were re-elected by large majorities, according to unofficial returns. Fred Stuhlmiller, Republican candidate for Alderman, was leading the incumbent, B. B. Samuels, by a slight margin.

OHIO BLUE LAW FATE IN DOUBT

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Nov. 4.—The official canvass will be required to determine results of the Sunday show fight, apparently lost by the theater forces by 18 votes, and the final count may change the 38-vote fourth term victory of Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, Democrat, the Columbiana County Election Board said today in beginning a re-check of Tuesday's balloting.

Benedum, the only Democrat who has served three terms as Mayor, seemingly defeated O. J. Herrington, Republican, 3,345 to 3,307, while A. W. Christen, Independent, was a poor third with 61. The rest of the Republican ticket, including Miss Sara E. McMillan, for Municipal Court clerk, was swept into office.

Discovery of a transposition of figures switched victory from the theater supporters to the Sunday Observance Association in the battle over the latter's initiated ordinance, banning Sunday shows. The unofficial count gave 3,176 votes for Sunday theatrical and dramatic productions and motion pictures and 3,194 against them.

STOKES, MOORE WIN IN PHILA.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Edward Lowber Stokes, Republican, was elected to Congress from the Second Pennsylvania District by an overwhelming plurality. Final returns today gave him a total of 34,188 votes against 1,809 polled for his Democratic opponent, Charles S. Hill.

Stokes' election fills the vacancy in the House created last July by the death of Representative George S. Graham, Republican. The outcome was not unexpected, as the Second District embraces eight of Philadelphia's 48 wards and is normally heavily Republican.

J. Hampton Moore, Republican candidate for Mayor of Philadelphia, led his ticket into office with a plurality of 330,999, complete unofficial returns show. He amassed 362,329 votes, as against 31,330 polled by Michael Donohue, Democrat.

A precedent of 50 years' standing was broken by Moore in his election to the second term. Moore, who is 67, was elected Mayor for four years in 1920 after 15 years in Congress.

2 Indiana Miners Killed in Cave-in

VINCENNES, Ind., Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Two miners were killed and another probably fatally injured in slate falls at the River Valley mine, east of here. The dead were Otis Bemis, 30, and Bernard Rodgers, 30, both of Bicknell, Ind.

Jobless Spurn Work, May Go to Rock Pile

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The rock pile today beckoned to men refusing to work after the city provided jobs to relieve unemployment.

Mayor William Anderson was told one-fourth of those summoned to support families now receiving charity, refused to report. The city offered 68¾ cents an hour.

He plans non-support charges to permit rock pile assignment in court.

Cotton Aid Parley To Meet Nov. 23

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Gov. Harvey Parnell, of Arkansas, and Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo, of Mississippi, issued a joint invitation for representatives of Southern states to meet here November 23 and seek unification of plans for the relief of the cotton industry.

Previously, Gov. Parnell had designated the date of the conference as November 20, but November 23 was definitely decided upon after further communication between him and Bilbo.

Mary Lewis, Mate Visit San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Mary Lewis, opera star, was visiting in San Francisco, but as a bride and not a singer. She was accompanied by her husband, Robert L. Hague, former San Franciscian and now president of the Standard Shipping Company of New York, a Standard Oil subsidiary.

Mrs. Hague declared that she was not going to sing this season, although under contract to the Metropolitan Opera Company.

CLOWN MARKS KOMIC MEETS AT THEATERS

Treat in Store for All Chapter Members Who Have Birthdays This Week

Another fun making feature has been introduced in the Warner Theaters - Sun - Telegraph Junior Komic Clubs—Kippy, the Komis Club Clown!

Kippy isn't like Santa Claus—he cannot be at all the meetings the same day, but he will appear Saturday at the Cameraphone and Schenley Theater Chapters. Next week he will go to two other chapters, and so on until he has visited all the boys and girls in all the clubs.

You will find Kippy in the lobby of the theater when you arrive and later he will join the Grand Jester and Board of Directors on the stage. What he will do when he gets there, it is hard to tell, except that we know he will make you laugh and will play in all your games and contests—right with the club members! Watch for Kippy!

TO GET CAKE

Through the courtesy of Rhea's Bakery, every child whose birthday falls within the week, and who is properly enrolled in the Enright, Manor, Kanyon, Harris and Cameraphone Chapters, will be presented with a big birthday cake with his or her name written in colored icing. That is one reason we asked you to put the date of birth on your application blank. There are other reasons, too, but these will be revealed later.

What a treat is in store for the members of Enright Chapter Saturday morning! Following the free dancing class, the children will be entertained by the Eugene Marionettes—70 of them! These cleverly manipulated dolls will tell a story and give a little play.

MAGICIAN PLEASES

The big stage attraction at the Manor Theater will be Tampa, the magician. Wherever Tampa is announced children and grown-ups flock to see him. He has a lot of mystifying tricks and has been known to bring rabbits out of small boys' pockets and then let them take the rabbits home. The children of the Manor Chapter are all excited about his coming.

Every boy and girl attending any of the chapter meetings Saturday will receive a nice package of life savers, and at each chapter special treats have been planned.

Don't miss the fun. Clip the coupon from the Comic Page of this paper, fill it in and mail to the Warner Theaters-Sun-Telegraph Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Irish Playwright To Address Club

Lenox Robinson, former director of the "Abbey Theater," Dublin, will speak on "Realism in Drama" at a meeting in the Westinghouse Club, Wilkinsburg, tonight. He wrote many of the plays presented in the famous Irish theater, and is one of the leaders in the "little theater" movement in Boston and New York.

Claessens to Talk In Temple Friday

August Claessens, humorist, lecturer and teacher of the Rand School of Social Science, New York, will speak in the Moose Temple, 628 Penn avenue, Friday evening, under auspices of the Socialist Party. He will advance an explanation of industrial crises.

HOUSE CONTROL ACQUIRED BY DEMOCRATS

can opponent in the Eighth Michigan District is a modificationist. Two other Democrats, Martin L. Sweeney, elected to the Twentieth Ohio, and Joseph Delaney, Seventh New York, also are anti-prohibitionists.

The anti-dry bloc in the House now claims about 150 in its group. Three years ago it had less than 70 members.

SLUMP UNREST REFLECTED

The elections, taken as a whole, were construed as an indication of general dissatisfaction arising chiefly out of the depression. In New Jersey, where the Republicans appealed to the voters to elect a Republican Governor who would co-operate with the President, they met with rebuke in the election of former Gov. A. Harry Moore (Dem.) over David Baird, Jr. (Rep.).

The biggest plum gathered by the Republicans was in the First Ohio Congressional District, where Hollister, the Republican, won by an indicated plurality of 15,000, over State Senator David P. Lorbach (Dem.).

The G. O. P. concentrated its heavy artillery on the First Ohio, but did not believe that in the Eighth Michigan, Michael J. Hart, anti-prohibition Democrat, would win over Foss O. Eldred, Republican. Late returns indicated Hart won by close to 5,000.

Delaney, the Democrat, scored an easy victory in the Tammany stronghold, the Seventh New York, while Sweeney, Democrat, won by a landslide in the Twentieth Ohio (Cleveland). Delaney's Republican opponent was William Padgett, while Sweeney submerged D. Hayden Parry, (Rep.).

The best that the Republicans can expect in the way of seats in the House is 216. This assumes that a Republican will be elected in the Fifth New Jersey District December 1. One other vacancy, in New Hampshire, will not be filled until January 5, too late for the new member to vote on the speakership. Congress convenes December 7.

PROBABLE LINEUP

Thus, assuming that the G. O. P. win in New Jersey, the lineup would be: Democrats, 217; Republicans, 216; Farmer-Labor, 1; vacancy, 1.

Should 34-year-old Representative Paul Kvale, Farmer-Laborite, decide to vote with the Republicans, which is not expected, the two parties would be deadlocked.

Since seldom in history have all members been present to vote on the speakership, the issue finally will not be settled until the roll actually is called. Deaths or sickness between now and December may yet intervene.

House Control Loss Not Conceded by G. O. P.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Republican leaders today refused to concede control of the next House of Representatives to the Democrats, although yesterday's election gave the Democrats a slender lead of two members.

Representative Will R. Wood (Rep.), of Indiana, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, declared "the Lord may settle the question in the next five days."

Most states, Wood explained, have laws providing that 30 days must elapse before a special election is called. Should any member die in the next five days, the vacancies probably could be filled by special election. But after that time they could not be filled before Congress meets December 7.

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, made the following comment on yesterday's elections:

"The results of yesterday's election speak for themselves.

"Nowhere did the Democrats lose anything they had held, while the Republicans lost the Eighth Michigan seat in the House of Representatives which has been theirs for 30 years, and in addition lost one governorship—in New Jersey—certainly, another probably in Kentucky. In addition, the Democrats continue to hold all the important mayoralties where Democrats have been in office, and in addition have gained mayors and councils in various cities, notably in New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut, which have been under Republican rule.

"The majority of the House of Representatives is definitely Democratic now, and I think we are safe in assuming that any changes in that lineup will be merely in the direction of further Democratic gains.

"In short, the picture shows that the trend away from the Hoover administration, which was so marked in the election of 1930, continues, and so gives a clear indication of what may be anticipated for the national election of 1932."

Dull, Faded Hair... Streaked with gray

LAZY GLANDS

Don't have dull, faded hair, or ugly streaks of gray! There is a remedy. No woman under 50 need have a gray hair in her head! Her scalp still has pigment cells. Those cells are still full of color. But that color can't reach the hair if your glands are inactive.

Stimulate those lazy glands and watch those faded locks revive!

Thousands of women have actually stimulated gray hair back to its natural color. The number would be millions if more women only knew the truth—if so many had not been fooled in matters concerning the hair. Gland stimulation is the solution of just about every hair and scalp trouble we have! Yes, it makes hair grow—as you will soon discover.

If your hair is off-color or undernourished, or your scalp is full of pore filth and there is dandruff, start gland stimulation tonight. All you need is your fingers, and some Danderine. Only massage will wake up the glands, and only a penetrant like Danderine will get through to the subcutaneous glands. The very first treatment will end all dandruff, but keep on with Danderine until you have promoted vigorous coloring and growth. As the hair grows, the gray will go. You'll soon have proof if you watch the color of your hair close to the roots!

Remember, it's thorough massage that does it, and Danderine that gets through to those lazy glands. Just rubbing anything on the head won't do the work. Get your bottle of Danderine today. It's a medicine for sick scalps. The smallest bottle is enough to show results which will surprise you.

PASTOR PLACED UNDER ARREST

COLUMBIA, Pa., Nov. 4.—(INS.)—The Rev. Guy Franklin Caruthers, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church here, recently ordered to release his charge by the Rev. Wyatt Brown, bishop of the Harrisburg Episcopal Diocese, was under arrest here yesterday charged with disorderly conduct.

Charges were prefered by Clayton B. Reese, a member of the old vestry of the church, who asserted that a masquerade party was held in the parish house, adjacent to the church.

Mr. Caruthers had been ordered by the Rev. Wyatt Brown to give up his charge, but did not heed the order.

O'Malley and Aides Indicted

receipts were given out, it is set forth, for persons in the Second Ward.

O'Malley was without authorization of the persons in whose names the receipts were obtained, the indictment charged. From 250 witnesses examined, the grand jury found, it stated, that many of the supposed signatures were forged.

RECEIPTS ALTERED

In other instances, the receipts were altered by erasure of the original names and substitution of others, the jury alleged.

A general scheme for forging orders, altering receipts to permit fraudulent voting was carried out, the indictment set forth.

Regarding the alleged forgery of signatures, the grand jury reported:

"A comparison of the signatures appearing on the tax authorizations with the genuine signatures of the same persons on the registration books disclosed that a large number of such authorizations had been forged . . . In many instances upon an examination of poll tax receipts produced in evidence it seemed apparent that there had been an alteration on said receipts . . . An examination of the registration records disclosed that many of these altered receipts had been used for the purpose of registering and voting.

"We also found that in a great many instances, the money was not furnished by the persons for whom said tax was paid."

Further investigation involving other wards was prevented, the jury explained, by the fact that the Registration Board needed its records for yesterday's election. The probe is to be carried on by the November grand jury.

The presentment approved a recommendation of the September grand jury for a permanent system of registration.

Today's indictments increase to 68 the number named by the two grand juries in election fraud cases. Among these previously named were George J. Schad, chairman, and C. J. McBride, secretary of the County Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes.

NAVY LEAGUE PROBER NAMED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—The Hoover-Navy League inquiry committee today located its missing member, John Hays Hammond, and completed plans for its first meeting tomorrow.

Hammond, a mining engineer, was found in Massachusetts. He assured his four colleagues he would be present tomorrow when the board begins its investigation of charges made against President Hoover by William Howard Gardiner, Navy League president.

A very informal session is the group's tentative program for the first meeting. Assembling perhaps at Mr. Hammond's residence, or a private club, it will decide on policy and a chairman.

QUIZ IN SINKING OF RUM BOAT

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—The crew of nine men from a Canadian power boat was landed in Boston by the Coast Guard yesterday, their craft, the 80-foot Sophie at the bottom of the Atlantic.

James A. Brannen, British vice consul in Boston, revealed that the master of the power boat had told him she was deliberately rammed and sunk Monday night by the American Coast Guard patrol boat Harriet Lane.

Boatswain Maurice D. Jester, commander of the Harriet Lane, reported, according to Coast Guard officials, that the Canadian vessel running without lights, had been sunk in a collision 20 miles off Gloucester. A Coast Guard board of inquiry was appointed.

Brannen said Capt. James Bellman of the Canadian boat told him his vessel was lying 19 miles off the Massachusetts coast with a cargo of liquor when the Coast Guard boat bore down upon it and sank it. Bellman claimed he was within his rights as he was seven miles beyond the 12-mile limit.

4 FILM COLONY HOMES BURNED

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Motion picture celebrities fled from their homes today as fire raged through the exclusive Malibu Beach motion picture colony, destroyed four residences, caused damage of $100,000, and for a time threatened the entire beach community.

Starting in the unoccupied residence of Nash Cartan, a Los Angeles banker, the blaze, fanned by a stiff inshore wind, swept to the home of Barbara Stanwyck and her husband, Frank Fay, reducing it to ruins.

Residences of Ned Marin, motion picture director and producer, and Joseph Santley, actor and director, were the next to be burned to the ground.

Miss Stanwyck and Fay and the latter's father were driven from their home by the fire. Their total loss, house, furnishings and jewelry, was $50,000, Fay said.

Stars and other celebrities of the motion picture world formed a bucket brigade and prevented a spread of the conflagration.

DELAY WEDDING OF PRINCESS

PARIS, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Sources close to former King Alfonso of Spain today denied reports that the engagement of his daughter, the Infanta Beatrice, to Prince Alvaro of Bourbon had been broken off. The date for the wedding merely has been postponed, it was said.

Questioned regarding reports Infanta Beatrice and her sister, Infanta Maria Christina, were sufferers from haemophilia, the ex-King's personal secretary declared they were without foundation. He declared both girls were great lovers of outdoor sports, and that they would be hardly likely to engage in tennis, yachting and ice-skating as they do if they suffered from this disease.

Sufferers from haemophilia bleed profusely, even when no perceptible injury has been done to the tissues, rendering any physical activity extremely hazardous.

GAS TAX RAISE SHOWDOWN ASSURED

Heffran, Pinchot Proposals For Special Levy Put Issue to Special Session

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 4.—A proposal to levy an emergency gasoline tax to raise revenue for unemployment relief is due for a showdown at the special session of the legislature which convenes here next week.

This was definitely assured with the announcement of Representative James T. Heffran, Washington County, that he has prepared and will introduce a bill calling a special tax of one cent per gallon, the revenue derived to provide work on Pennsylvania's rural township highway system.

Simultaneous with Heffran's announcement came Gov. Gifford Pinchot's formal summons for the extraordinary session and his legislative program, including the proposal for an emergency tax on gasoline at the rate of 2 cents per gallon for two years.

At least a half dozen senators and representatives have submitted various proposals to the executive, ranging from reforestation and highway projects to the imposition of a tax on cigarets similar to that now obtaining in Ohio.

That the Governor is giving serious consideration to all proposals advanced was indicated by his recent conferences here with floor leaders of both branches of the legislature.

Just how the organized motoring public will react to the move to boost the price of gasoline is not definite. In a recent public expression Harrisburg Motor Club officials viewed the proposed excise in an unfavorable light.

Officials of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation declined to comment as individuals. S. Edward Gable, Lancaster, president of the federation, said he expects to get the views of the executive board before placing the organization on record. The board is made up of 22 members representing 86 clubs in the state.

Heffran's one-cent tax bill would be purely an emergency measure. The bill would remain on the statute books until the end of the calendar year of 1933, when it would automatically expire.

Heffran Job and Plan Commended, Opposed

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov. 4.—A deluge of telegrams and letters has poured in on Representative James T. Heffran, many of them commending his proposed 1-cent additional gasoline tax to make $775,000 available monthly for unemployment relief by permitting more road construction.

Other messages received denounced the plan as an "expertly devised but a hopeless experiment." Heffran, at his home in Speers, is an authority on economic and political affairs of the state of Pennsylvania. He is secretary of the Charleroi Chamber of Commerce and in legislative circles is known as the author of the Heffran city aid bill, which last year became effective and was destined to finance highway construction in second and third class cities until the Coyne bill, superseding the Heffran measure was passed.

Salus Prepares Bill For Jobless Camps

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—(AP)—State Senator Samuel W. Salus has made public a bill he has drafted providing for establishment of camps to care for jobless men employed in conservation work in the state forests.

The bill will be introduced at the special session of the Legislature, providing it receives the approval of Gov. Pinchot. A copy was sent to Attorney General William A. Schnader. It proposes to appropriate $3,000,000 to provide for the camps and pay the men wages at the rate of $1 a day.

The work would be conducted by the State Department of Welfare, in conjunction with the Department of Forests and Waters, the Board of Fish Commissioners and Game Commissioners.

Gov. Pinchot recently said he was considering the establishment of camps for men to be employed on the state highways after the regular appropriations for that work were exhausted.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

Unsung New Yorkers

YOU CAN step into any theatrical agency in the world and be reasonably sure of finding a couple like Joe and Jane. They are artists, as they themselves can tell you. Before they arise in the morning they know exactly what the day will be.

A walk to the first agency. An exchange of greetings with other Joes and Janes. A hopeful smile at a stenographer who also started out to go upon the stage. A shake of the head. "Sorry, nothing today." Or—"We have something, but you're not the type." A brave smile and some comment on current conditions. Then a walk to the second agency. And the same scene all over again.

Every once in so often a day's work for Joe and a day's work for Jane. Only as picture extras, but a day's work just the same. Every once in so often—bless the lucky day!—a chance to play a bit in some legitimate show. But these occasions are rare. Too rare. And the necessity of skipping meals now and then becomes a heart-breaking regularity.

I know what you're going to say. You're going to tell me that such people should not be in the theatrical business. And you're right—but what are you going to do about it? There's always the thought of the break just around the corner. There's always the feeling that, by some chance or other, some manager will recognize their talents. So they keep trying. And trying. And trying. Until—well, you know the answer as well as I.

The Joe in our story today was just a little different from the rest. He really had a definite talent—and he had proved it on several occasions. He had played a number of juvenile roles, and was most assuredly on his way to the top when the accident happened.

It wasn't Joe's fault—and it wasn't the driver's. The actor was crossing Broadway when traffic was heavy. He stood in the middle of the avenue and saw an automobile, slightly out of line, coming in his direction. He stepped back and under the wheels of a machine that was going the other way.

A piercing shriek. A sudden hush. The blowing of whistles. A huge crowd. An ambulance. The blowing of whistles. And traffic moved on once more.

In the hospital they didn't think Joe would live. Hour upon hour Jane walked up and down the corridor, waiting for some favorable word. They had only been married a year, and they had lived for each other. Everything had seemed so bright—and now this. Horrible.

Joe lived, but he suffered tortures for a long, long time. The doctors knew it would be months before he could leave the hospital, and they told Jane to prepare accordingly. Accordingly, when she was certain that her man would live, she tried to return to the work she had left when she was married. The stage.

It was two weeks more than a year when Joe finally was discharged from the institution in which he had suffered so much anguish.

I can't describe it. His most intimate friends couldn't describe that change—but they knew that it was there. Something in his mannerisms. You couldn't quite put your finger on it, but there it was. Joe was a changed man.

Joe, too, found that things had changed—particularly in the managers' offices. They were very kind to him. They asked him how he was feeling and they shook their heads and shuddered as they spoke of the terrible accident. But the all-important thing they forgot to do. They didn't hand him any parts.

This man was no fool. He saw that something had happened, and he knew that the struggle ahead would be hard and long. He might, of course, have attempted to find some work in some other field. But he never dreamed of such a thing. If you had suggested it to him, he would have thought you a trifle daffy. He was an actor. He was going to remain an actor.

So, with Jane by his side, he dropped into the routine that I discussed back in the beginning of this story. He joined the big parade that lives on little and thrives on dreams. And, as far as he was concerned, he had one consolation that so many of the others didn't have. He knew he had the talent. That had been proved. It was only a question of time until the right thing came along. Yes, sir. It always is.

Thus the time went by. Conditions were extremely bad. The break failed to arrive. Joe and Jane were finding it increasingly difficult to get along. They were worried now. Very worried. They had reason to be.

"What's going to happen, honey?" asked Joe one night. "What's to become of us unless something turns up? Has that accident ruined me forever? Why do the managers keep ignoring me?"

Jane did the same thing she had been doing for a long time. And with virtually the same words. She placed an arm around his shoulders.

"Don't worry, dear," she replied. "Things will adjust themselves. You're no different. Everything's going to be all right. You'll see."

Two days later there came a sudden call from an agent. Joe was to rush immediately to a certain motion picture studio. They were casting a new picture and the agent was positive that Joe could land the role they had in mind. He urged him to hurry.

You can imagine that Joe did. His wife aided him with words of encouragement and kept brushing that last year's suit until it was spotless. A last kiss, a fervent wish for good luck—and Joe was gone.

In an hour, he was standing before the director. The casting director had sent him right through. Now it was up to this big man to pass final judgment.

The part was that of a drug addict. The director listened to him and looked at him from various angles. As far as physical makeup was concerned he was excellent. But how about the various facial expressions? Could Joe carry them off? Had he ever enacted the character of a drug addict?

Joe did his best. He tried to give the director his impression of a narcotic addict. He gave such a performance as he had never given before. But when he was through those words were the same as they had always been. Hard, cruel, fatal words.

"Sorry," said the director, "You're not quite the type." . . .

Home again, Jane met him at the door. He didn't have to tell her what had happened. She knew it the moment she looked into his eyes.

She placed Joe in the easy chair and told him not to be discouraged. The devil with that director. There were other chances just around the corner.

Joe nodded. He shivered slightly.

"Don't say no to me, honey," he muttered. "Fix me another shot of morphine. The last shot has almost run out." . . . .

YOUTH DOOMED FOR MURDER

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Herman Webb Duker, 21-year-old scion of a prominent Baltimore family, has been sentenced to hang for the murder of John W. Anderson last April 20.

Dale Lambert, Duker's 19-year-old companion in the attempted holdup which led to the killing of Anderson, a milk company collector, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Duker received the sentence calmly, stooping from the effect of bullet wounds inflicted by a Los Angeles policeman, who captured him several weeks after the killing of Anderson. He looked steadily at Judge Ulman as he heard the death sentence and then turned and was led limping from the court.

JAPANESE ISLE SINKS IN QUAKE

TOKIO, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—An earthquake which shook all of Northeastern Japan at 1:20 o'clock this morning caused the disappearance of the uninhabited island of Sankan, off Port Kamaishi, into the sea.

It was the most severe earthquake in years in that section, but no loss of life was reported.

Tens of thousands of persons, aroused from slumber by the shocks, refused to return to their houses and spent the remainder of the night in the open.

At Miyako observatory, near where the shock was the heaviest, the seismograph needle was thrown out of gear and the amplitude of the quake consequently was not measured.

Relatives Far Better Than Complete Independence

Are families a nuisance?

Carl thought his was.

They gave him—said he—a pain in the neck. Always bossing him around—grabbing his pay check the minute he got home with it—cramping his style something awful.

If it hadn't been for his family Carl could have had a grand time. He could have gone places, done things. But instead dad expected him to help raise the younger kids. And as a consequence, he had about as much liberty as a trained flea.

It certainly did seem like tough breaks. We agreed with Carl that he wasn't getting an altogether square deal . . . that he did have a right to some of his own money and his own little corner in life.

That was one side of the picture. Here's another, with Tom broadcasting.

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I have just read the article about Carl, whose father thinks he has a right to all the money Carl earns because Carl owes his being here to him.

"I can see Carl's complaint all right. He has a right to want some of his own money. And perhaps he doesn't owe his father so much for bringing him here. But now I'll tell you another side of it.

"I am the same age that Carl is—21—and there the comparison ends because I'm independent. No parents to boss me. I haven't any home to bother about 'keeping up.' I couldn't go home if I wanted to. There isn't any.

ALL ALONE

"I just rent a room and eat all my meals out wherever and whenever I please. There is no Mother and Dad to demand part of my check for the younger kids. I don't have to worry about anybody handing out advice or jawing me about what I do. I am independent. I can spend my money just how I want to and come in at night when I get good and ready.

"And does independence like that make me happy? Listen, Carl, I'd give a lot to lose that independence and have a mother and dad to grab part of my check for the younger kids. Call them Mother and Dad's fault if you want to. I'd call them God's kids.

Did you ever come home to the four bare walls of a rented room night after night with not a soul to care whether you're happy or miserable, whether you live or die? Did you? Did you ever sit for hours and wish you had somebody . . . anybody . . . who belonged to you . . . and maybe cared about you a little? Were you ever so lonesome you didn't know what to do with yourself, and still couldn't be satisfied with "just friends"? Well, I can tell you boost it's not so hot!

KINSHIP NEEDED

As a matter of fact you have what all of us need, and you don't know it. So shut up and give the rest of the kids at home a break.

"The Folks may be a pain in the neck sometimes, but I wish I had some. You would too if you were like me . . . TOM."

Yes, Tom, you're right.

We all of us may and often do feel as if the family were a bunch of meddlers and grafters, but they're mighty precious, too, as we soon find out when we have to go out on our own.

Independence listens grand . . . but a Lone Wolf isn't the happiest thing in the world. We all need to start on our own feet . . . to stretch our own wings . . . to live our own lives. . . . But we need someone who belongs to us . . . and to whom we belong, too.

We need the warmth of kinship.

We need the security of feeling that we "belong," whether we've made a big dent in the world or not . . . and if we haven't that feeling—all the money and liberty in the world won't quite fill the gap.

A LOBBY TRAPPER WORKING THE SKIN GAME!

By FAY KING

I owned a fox fur once.

It wasn't as rare as it was dyed to be, but it suited me fine at the price it was tagged and had a very nice bushy tail.

The first time I wore it I felt that it looked pretty grand. The blow came when I got home and discovered the best part of the tail had been snipped off by the door when I left.

I'd been parading around all afternoon in bobbed-tail fox.

But it disappeared entirely when a lobby trapper armed it off the back of my chair.

I've stuck to fur collars and cuffs since.

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Second Marriage

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Is it proper for a guest to wear a hat at a church wedding? It is to take place at 9 o'clock in the evening and is a formal affair.

2. Is it proper for a divorcee to wear any sort of veil or Juliet cap? If not, what would you advise as a proper headdress? J.D.

1. Whether or not hats are worn at an evening church wedding depends on the rules and regulations of the denomination of the church in which the wedding is to be held. But most denominations allow women guests to wear evening clothes at a formal evening wedding, and no hats.

The guest who is doubtful about this would best telephone to the secretary of the minister, or the minister, or find out from the bride.

2. It is not proper for the bride-for-the-second-time to wear a bridal veil. Since the wedding will be informal, second marriages usually are, and correctly . . . the bride will probably wear a hat. The hat can be of any degree of formality or informality, to harmonize with the rest of the costume.

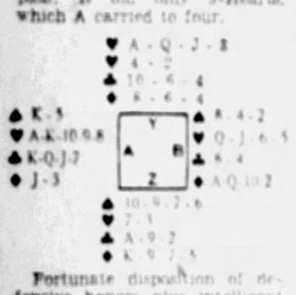
Contract Bridge -:-

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Intelligent Defense

Z passed on the holding shown below. A made an opening bid of 2-Hearts, of course. Y had to pass. B remembered not to jump an opening two bid because the opening bidder promises another bid in case partner does anything except pass; B bid only 3-Hearts, which A carried to four.



Fortunate disposition of defensive honors plus intelligent defense caused A to go down one trick. Of course an opening lead of a spade by Y would have enabled A to fulfill his contract, but Y knew that against a trump make he should not lead from a tenace suit, so he led his fourth-best club.

There are two important rules governing return leads against trump makes. The first is "Never return a fourth-best lead;" the second is given in easily remembered form. When the dummy's on your right lead the weakest suit in sight." Z won the opening lead with his ace. Had he returned his partner's lead A would have gone game; he would have led three goods clubs, discarding upon the last two leads spades from B's hand, and ending by giving his adversaries one spade and one diamond trick.

Instead of returning a club Z led back his fourth-best spade to dummy's greatest weakness. Y gathered in two spade tricks, upon the last of which A's king dropped, showing the inutility of leading another round of spades, so Y followed the rule of "leading through strength" by laying down his top diamond. Having nothing upon which he could discard a diamond, A had to take the diamond finesse, letting the 8 run towards his own J. Of course Z put up his K, to win the fourth and last trick for his side and defeating the contract by one trick.

A changed position of a single card sometimes makes the difference between going game and going down. Give Y the king of diamonds and game is assured. Let Z hold the ace of spades and the contract can not be defeated. Make both of those changes and A must win one trick over his contract, unless his opponents gather in their two aces. A will make a small slam.

As a defender against any declaration you must keep wide awake and make leads that may enable your partner to win a trick or two. The declarer has a great advantage in having trump control and perfect knowledge of resources.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

How Many Hours Sleep Do You Need?

For years sleep has been a subject of great interest to the scientific world. Up to the present time attempts at solving its mysteries have been mainly speculative. Many experiments are being conducted to determine the exact relationship of sleep to health.

Dr. Copeland

It is known, of course, that sleep is of vital importance. Life cannot be maintained without it. But just how its good effects are brought about is not well understood.

Restless sleep is not sufficient to give the body the necessary relaxation and rest. When sleep is undisturbed, the body is refreshed and rested. Upon awakening, the individual feels capable of performing his daily duties.

A common belief that tired persons sleep better than people who have worked less, is now proved false. No doubt you have often heard people say, "I'm so tired I know I will need no rocking to sleep tonight." Such persons go to bed and even though they immediately fall asleep, the rest obtained is not as benefical as when they go to bed less worn and weary.

Disturbed sleep may be the effect of strenuous activities during the day. Excessive stimulation from any cause tends to disturb sleep. Children should not be permitted to stay up late at night. If they do so, become overtired and have difficulty in falling asleep. An adult who has worked unusually hard during the day often finds it hard to sleep.

Fundamentally sleep is a habit. When a child has been taught good sleeping habits, he has learned a beneficial and healthful lesson.

There are some people who cannot go to sleep before a certain hour. These so-called "night owls" have for many years kept late hours and so formed a bad habit.

The number of hours of sleep that a given individual needs, depends mainly upon the sort of work in which he is engaged. However, he should never have less than six to eight hours sleep. It is true there are many eminent men who claim that they manage on four to five hours of sleep. For the average person, this practice is not to be recommended.

Another interesting point, brought out in the recent work conducted at the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, relates to the fact that many persons awaken, believing they have not slept well, but because they can recall tossing about during the night, they think their sleep was disturbed.

It was shown that no matter how much an individual tossed about, he did so without disturbing his sleep. The tossing about is automatic and done unconsciously.

One should never eat a hearty meal before retiring. Often a "snack" at night is inducive to sleep. Very often drinking of a warm fluid, particularly milk, aids in bringing on sleep. A warm bath also brings relaxation and sleep to the restless individual.

What's the good of gargling if bad breath still stays bad?

We've made a breath taking discovery for taking away bad breath (halitosis*)

Don't waste dollars on antiseptics that must be used full strength. We've discovered a new antiseptic that, even when diluted with two parts of water, kills germs in 10 seconds.

THREE people in four add water to their mouth wash. They don't know that most antiseptics lose germ-killing power unless used full strength. That's why we say: Stop fooling yourself with weak antiseptics.

If you want to check bad breath due to unhygienic mouth conditions, you must destroy the germs that cause it—especially those present in fermenting food particles, ordinary mouth irritations, coated tongue. Do not depend on covering up breath odors with the odor of a mouth wash.

A radical new antiseptic discovery

Now there's a revolutionary antiseptic on the market—Pepsodent Antiseptic. Its formula is a radical advance. It climaxes the best antiseptic study of 50 years. A germ-killing agent is employed unlike those now in use. It makes Pepsodent Antiseptic from 3 to 11 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics, depending on which one you use.

Kills germs in 10 seconds diluted with 2 parts of water

That is the startling news in this new discovery. Think! You can mix Pepsodent Antiseptic with 1 or even 2 parts of water, to suit your taste, and it still kills germs in less than 10 seconds. That's where most other leading mouth antiseptics fail. Yet in spite of all that power, Pepsodent Antiseptic is utterly safe when used full strength. What a weapon this new antiseptic is in fighting bad breath!

SORE THROAT COLDS

Pepsodent Antiseptic does double duty when fighting bad breath. For at the same time it combats colds and throat irritations. Remember P. A. is 3 to 11 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics . . . and it kills germs when diluted.

New security against bad breath (Halitosis*)

Pepsodent Antiseptic checks bad breath 1 to 2 hours longer! That's Pepsodent Antiseptic's record in fighting this widespread social offense due to unhygienic mouth conditions. Immediately after use, 95% of germs on mouth surfaces are destroyed. Two hours later the number of germs is still reduced by 80%. That is far longer acting than other leading mouth antiseptics. And remember when you use Pepsodent Antiseptic to check bad breath you are doing double duty by also fighting colds.

$3 worth for $1—regardless of size

To kill germs—most mouth antiseptics must be used full strength. So to mix such antiseptics with water is a waste of money. Contrariwise, Pepsodent Antiseptic can be mixed with twice its own volume of water. Thus Pepsodent Antiseptic goes 3 times as far—saves you $2 for every $1 you spend. Pepsodent Antiseptic comes in 3 sizes: 3 ounces for 25 cents—7 ounces for 50 cents—16 ounces for $1. The larger the size, the more for your money.

Checking bad breath and combating colds are only two uses for this remarkable antiseptic. There are scores of other uses. Some are listed on this page. Learn to rely on Pepsodent Antiseptic whenever a safe, effective germ-killing agent is required. Keep it in the home. Take it with you when you travel.

Again we say: Quit being good to germs. They've laughed at you long enough. Play safe. Buy an antiseptic that really kills germs when diluted. Remember: You can fool yourself but you can't fool bad breath.

Some of the 50 different uses for this modern antiseptic

Throat Irritations
Voice Hoarseness
Bad Breath
Cold Sores
Canker Sores
Mouth Irritations
After Extractions
After Shaving
Minor Cuts
Blisters
Loose Dandruff
Checks Under-Arm Perspiration

Madge's Fear of Presence of Chinese Is Confirmed

If it had not been for the menace of the Chinese searchers for Marion's sandalwood lockbox with its secret compartment, Mrs. Ticer's query if I had been "scared" by "a Chink on the road," would have seemed to me the height of absurdity, for nothing so trivial ever frightens me. But as it was, terror clutched my throat so tautly that for a moment I could not answer her.

She followed up her self-reproach for having spoken of the matter by a rapid explanation.

"Your father cautioned both Ticer and me and Jerry that if we saw anything suspicious along this road we were to come to him with it, but under no circumstances to bother you. He said you knew that there was danger from some Chinks that wanted something in the house, but that he'd fixed things so they could not get near the farmhouse, and that above all things he didn't want you worried, and here I've spilled things."

"Be sensible," I urged her, forcing a smile as well as the words to my lips which felt dry and leathery. "You know how fussy my father is over anything annoying me now, but I'm not a baby, you know."

"No, but you had one not so very long ago," she said, with a friendly anxious smile, "and everybody is worried about you because you simply will not 'stay put!' You're doing altogether too much."

"I'll grant that for the sake of argument," I told her, putting my terror aside with a firm hand, "but as long as you already have spoken about this Chinese on the road, why not tell me about him? I did not see anybody this morning, but all the way from the place where the car broke down, along that thicket, you know, I had the queerest feeling that there was someone watching me from inside the fence. I was furious at myself for being nervous, but I really felt frightened."

"I don't blame you," she said, "and I haven't a doubt in the world there was somebody inside there. At least Ticer said he saw a fellow he was sure was a Chink coming out from that thicket at the corner this morning. When he saw Ticer he scuttled back in again, and Ticer he just kept on going, and pretended not to see him, hoping he'd stay in there until he'd told your father about him. He just came up to the house and was going right over, but I told him he'd better wait a half an hour, because your father never gets up so early as this, and it wasn't important enough to get him out of bed, especially as Ticer wasn't sure it was a Chink he saw, it might have been just an ordinary tramp. But he'll go up as soon as he gets the car."

"That will be time enough, I'm sure," I said. "Father was terribly tired last night, and I would not like to have him disturbed this morning before his usual time of arising. I have something more important on my mind. May I use your telephone in a few minutes?"

"Of course," she said heartily. "But——" with a keen look at my face, "is it anything I could possibly telephone for you? I'd like for you to lie still for awhile."

"Thank you, that's just what I'm going to do for five or 10 minutes," I told her. "Then I shall be quite all right, and unfortunately it's something I must telephone myself. I—I forgot it before I left the house. If the car had been all right, I could have gone back home and phoned from there, but I just didn't feel equal to walking another minute."

"I'd have taken you over my knee, if you had and I'd found out about it," she said heartily. "Let me make you a cup of fresh coffee, and bring you some of my doughnuts. Of course, I know they're not as good as Katie's, but they might taste good if you're tired."

There was in her voice the mixture of thinly disguised complacency over her own culinary skill, and the jealousy over things domestic which has always existed between my little maid and my neighbor, making me feel sometimes as if charting the course between Scylla and Charybdis would be child's play for me. I knew what I was expected to say, and I said it promptly, and with emphasis.

"You know that I think there aren't better coffee and doughnuts in the world than yours," I told her truthfully, although Katie's are equally as good. They both are cooks par excellence. "And after I telephone I shall be glad to have some. Just now you must excuse me. I have just breakfasted."

"Then I'll wait to make the coffee until after you've phoned," she said. "It's no good unless it's freshly made. And you can't start home till the car's fixed anyway, for ours is out of commission, and you mustn't walk another step. I'll put the water on the stove—it takes so long to boil with my slow fire and then I'll go tell Ticer about the car. You telephone whenever you get ready. I probably won't be back before you do. I might as well gather my eggs while I'm out there."

It was a tactful if obvious subterfuge, her way of telling me that I would have no listener to my telephone conversation, and when she had left me I lay motionless with kindly thoughts of my good neighbor warming my spirit, until the clock pointed to nine. Then I went to the telephone and called the number in New York at which I expected to find Martha Halkett.

College Youth Held In Holdup Slaying

WACO, Tex., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—W. C. Beck, 19, former student at the University of Texas, has been charged with murder in connection with the slaying of O. L. Jones, Waco automobile salesman, whose body was found beside a highway September 3. Officers said Beck had confessed slaying and robbing Jones.

Beck said he was on his way to his home at Wilks Point, near Waco, when given a ride by Jones. He said he had attended Texas University in 1930, but dropped his classes in mid-term to go to work.

Way to Get At a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like cascara. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold; whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly — and cost only a dime?

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

Darrell V. Martin

THE GIVEN NAME of "Bill" Sutherland, WCAE announcer, is not William but Wilbur . . . A coincident that more Columbia Broadcasting artists went to Columbia University during their student days, than any other college . . . is the prize press agent story from New York this week . . . We remember when C. A. Wakeman used to brag about having every initial in his station call, then WCAE, but the "E" . . . Shapespeare's quotation, "One man in his time plays many parts," from the well known "All the world's a stage" passage in "As You Like It" applies to Ray Collins, actor on the March of Time programs . . . Collins has played more than 900 parts on the legitimate stage and in radio.

No amount of crystal gazing will ever reveal to us why sponsors pass up good features like Snoop and Peep, Moonshine and Honeysuckle, Careless Love, Nocturne when going on the networks . . . and locally, what's wrong with Riggs and Moke, a team that should have been commercial months ago . . . and getting better every day!

* * *

A year or so ago we would have been branded unpatriotic for saying that Sir Arthur Whitten Brown (who made the first transatlantic airplane flight in June, 1919, with Sir John Alcock) was more intrepid than Col. Charles Lindbergh . . . but it's a fact . . . Brown, virtually forgotten, is Ripley's guest on KDKA at 7:45 tonight.

Question a Day:

How old is H. V. Kaltenborn, the radio speaker, and how long has he been on the air?—B. W., Avalon.

Answer—About 55. He has been on the air 1,600 times since 1922 and probably holds the record for his type of program.

Snoop and Peep return to WCAE at 8 o'clock tonight . . . Gladys Rice and Douglas Stanbury harmonize on "Tea for Two" over WCAE at 8:30 . . . The Memorial to the late Knute Rockne on KDKA at 10:15 is to feature three of the "Four Horsemen," Will Rogers and the Notre Dame Glee Club.

Studio Lights

Jim Simpson, veteran director of Pittsburgh radio shows, is critically ill in St. Francis' Hospital . . .

Wayne King's sparkling performance last night with Walter Winchell was a fair criterion of what we may expect from popular orchestra leaders in the future . . .

Virginia Kendrick, Brookline titian, is to be guest soloist with Fritz Reiner's 110-piece orchestra in a new series of Curtis Institute concerts to be heard every Friday at 5 o'clock on WJAS . . .

Little Jack Little has quit NBC for CBS . . . a new series of programs soon . . .

Glenn Riggs liked hunting so well in Crawford county that he bought a cottage for himself and the missus at Cochranton, Pa. . . .

Latest bombshell from Eddie Cantor headquarters—"The Road to Mandalay is paved with baritones" . . . and "Sylvia" continues to be the tenors' girl friend . . .

Asked to define an incubator, a child on Uncle Henry's program shocked the audience with the reply, "Why . . . it's an egg plant!"

NBC executives blush peevishly when reminded that Kate Smith, Morton Downey, Tony Wons—big moneymakers now for CBS—once chilled their heels waiting outside NBC offices for a chance to see the sixteenth vice president about jobs . . .

"Mammy" Mills is usually on hand in the studios when the Four Mills Brothers broadcast for CBS . . . she also keeps them in shape with her good cooking . . .

After her NBC broadcast next Monday night, Lee Morse is to leave on a vaudeville tour which will include Pittsburgh if the musicians' strike is settled . . .

NBC's getting ready to celebrate its fifth birthday on Sunday, November 15, having grown from 19 stations to 85 since 1926.

Today's Tid Bit:

Two local announcers from different stations have been dining together lately and discussing deep subjects. The other day they delved into the subject of reincarnation.

"A horrible belief," said the one, "Imagine being a donkey in my next incarnation."

And the other announcer who was a little sick of the subject replied:

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—No week passes that the parade to the microphone does not include conspicuous in the front battalion a member of Hoover's Cabinet. Not only has Hoover himself broken all presidential radio records, but his cabinet officers are more active on the air than any other government group in the world.

Henry L. Stimson and Ray Lyman Wilbur are the most experienced radio talkers in the Cabinet. Stimson has a direct, matter-of-fact delivery; speaks with more vigor than charm. He always reads from script and watches closely the red second hand of the clock on the table before him. He always finishes on time.

Wilbur has the rare knack of extemporizing on the air, without faltering, without groping for a word. Once his manuscript was accidentally carried off by a subordinate. He spoke for nearly 45 minutes without a note—the only Cabinet officer who has ever ad libbed over the radio.

Andrew Mellon is nervous before the microphone, seldom speaks over it. He sits on the edge of his chair during a broadcast, never varies from his prepared speech, and appears relieved when it is ended.

Secretary of War Hurley talks into the metal box as casually as though he were talking to a friend. He refuses to be perturbed. As much cannot be said of Secretary of Commerce Lamont, though possessed of a good radio voice. Lamont is obviously not at home in the radio studio, is more nervous, even, than Mellon.

Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, is an orator of the old school—the only one in the cabinet. Yet, he understands enough of radio work to realize that he is talking to groups of four, possibly five, persons in a living room, and he tries to change his pace accordingly. He often talks with his coat off. His voice, with the exception of Borah's, is probably the best in Washington.

Secretary of the Navy Adams has a New England twang in his voice. His manner of speech and delivery over the radio remind one sharply of Coolidge. Spies report that he calls upon all of his native New England dignity to aid him before the microphone. He sits straight as a ramrod in his chair, is extremely careful with his manuscript lest the rustle of the pages goes out over the air.

WHEN YOU OVER-INDULGE

THERE are times when we all are tempted to take a holiday from the usual prudence.

Where is the person who wants to be discreet in diet every day in the year? It isn't human!

And it isn't necessary.

Your stomach won't be poisoned by every little indiscretion if you will just remember to give it the friendly aid of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It will sweeten the sour system and put things to rights.

Suppose you do overload your stomach with those things that bring on acidity? Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will neutralize many times its volume in acid. Just take two spoonfuls before and after such overindulgence. It's a very simple way to prevent those miserable mornings which follow too much to eat and drink.

When you overindulge — eating, drinking, smoking — don't suffer for hours! Nature will restore a proper alkaline balance in time, but Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts immediately. A creamy, pleasant-tasting emulsion that sweetens the stomach, dispels that sour gas, and relieves the nausea and headache, and feeling of biliousness due to overdoing. (Phillips' mild laxative properties always help the bowels at such times.)

Make sure it's genuine. The signature of Chas. H. Phillips on the wrapper and bottle will tell you it's the real product endorsed by the medical profession. Less perfect preparations do not act the same.

For a Healthy Mouth

Use Phillips' Milk of Magnesia as a mouthwash every evening before retiring. Use Phillips' Dental Magnesia, a superior tooth-paste, to keep the teeth clean and white.

"We'd rather have a Chesterfield and now we'll tell you why..."

Three Stars of "Ziegfeld Follies of 1931"
Helen Morgan (on piano)
Ruth Etting (at right)
and Harry Richman

Three mighty good reasons!

"MILDER"—smoke as many as you like! That's what every Chesterfield smoker knows... and it's not hard to prove, either. Just try this blend of milder, riper tobaccos!

"TASTE BETTER"—you'll like as many as you smoke! That's what more smokers are learning every day. Not over-sweetened, but just sweet enough for constant enjoyment. The mild, rich flavor of the finest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos.

"THEY SATISFY"—in every way! The tobacco, the paper, the package... everything about Chesterfield is the best that money can buy or that science knows about!

GOOD... they've got to be good!

ARREST POLICE IN TURMOIL AT POLLS

Two Chiefs, Officers and Constables Accused; Six Discharged in Vote Plot

The arrest of constables, police and police officials, rioting and fighting, and a plot to steal a ballot box were among the highlights that marked the disorder of the general election.

City police, with emergency squads in each station, were reinforced by state police and deputy sheriffs in the trouble zones. A detail of 31 state officers came to the city from Butler and Greensburg barracks. Half of the detail remained in the city today.

Among officials and police arrested were Edward Reider, McKees Rocks police chief; William Maissner, Mt. Lebanon constable; Luke J. Hanna, Sixth Ward Constable; Edward Bailey, Negro, city detective, and Patrolmen Harry Levin and J. Marks.

FOIL THEFT OF BOX

Six men were arrested by state and South Side police when the officers said they overheard a plot to steal the ballot box of the Third District of the Seventeenth Ward from the polls at Eighteenth street and Wrights way.

The men said they were Frank Ochinto, of 1206 Muriel street, Frank Plaziniski of South Thirteenth street; Walter Maynosk, of 608 Windom street; Frank Terleski, of 39 South Thirteenth street; James Cochran, of Wharton street, and Wilbert Mantel, of South Eighteenth street.

These men denied the charge and, together with seven others arrested on minor charges growing out of election disturbances on the South Side, were discharged when arraigned before Magistrate John J. Sweeney today.

RIEDER FREE ON BOND

Chief Rieder was arrested at the instigation of the Independents, charged with electing Frank Demel, an overseer, from a polling place of the First Ward, McKees Rocks. He was released on $1,000 for a hearing today before Justice of the Peace William Thompson, of Bellevue.

Independent headquarters announced that a warrant had been issued by Justice of the Peace Ira Edmundson, of Mt. Lebanon, for arrest of Constable Maissner, running for re-election, on a charge of violation of the election laws.

A charge of illegal voting was filed against Chief Keisling, of Carnegie, before Justice of the Peace Edmundson. The information, made by Mrs. Anna Eisler, alleged Keisling voted in a district after residing there less than the necessary 60 days.

In the Sixth Ward Constable Hanno, incumbent, supported by P. J. Sullivan, was arrested charged with violation of the election laws. Hanna, nominated at the primary, was arrested by a constable.

Vote Machine News Early

For the first time in political memory, all districts of the first three wards of Pittsburgh—one-time "holdout wards"—had reported by 9 p. m., two hours after the polls closed. Most Fourth Ward districts were in at the same hour. All these districts used vote machines altogether, 200 machines were used in 122 districts.

READING OUSTS SOCIALISTS

READING, Pa., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Republicans and Democrats, united in support of fusion candidates, scored a complete victory in yesterday's election and regained control of the city and county administrations held from two to four years by Socialists.

As the compilation of returns neared completion today, the figures revealed the fusionists had apparently elected a Mayor and two Councilmen; City Controller and City Treasurer; retained control of the City School Board and swept their candidates into county offices. The developments left the Socialist party with two Councilmen, who have two years to serve, and two Representatives from Berks County in the General Assembly.

Today the election contest developed an echo in a brief fight for the supervision of the ballot boxes. Chief of Police Walter S. Shearer, Socialist appointee, appeared at the courthouse with a squad of city police and attempted to post guard over the sealed returns. Sheriff Victor Goodheart, Democrat, was summoned and took charge of the supervision of the returns.

PROBE DEATH OF WAR NURSE

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Word was received here yesterday of the death in Worcester State Hospital of Mrs. Evelyn Moor Little, 35, daughter of an English bishop, who was found mysteriously injured in her living quarters here last March 9.

Mrs. Little was the estranged nurse-war-bride wife of Herbert M. Little, wealthy Peabody leather manufacturer and a flying ace in the World War. She was a cousin of Sir Ronald Storrs, governor of Cyprus.

At the time Mrs. Little was found with her head crushed it developed that she claimed to have fallen, her head striking a chair. However, Essex County authorities announced that the District Attorney's office was still investigating the affair.

Following services at Peabody, Mrs. Little will be buried in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge.

The Constable said Harden refused to obey the command and that the Negro drew a revolver and attempted to shoot him, but the weapon failed to discharge.

VOTE MACHINES IN USE HERE TOTAL 200

Districts Report Hours Earlier Than Usual; 22 Reported Out of Order

Voting machines—200 of them—were used in nine city wards and in Duquesne and Clairton yesterday, with varying reports as to their performance.

The totals of the four first wards, where vote machines were used, were complete and reported before 9 o'clock—and other sections where the machines were used followed shortly after. This—unprecedented in the history of Allegheny County voting—contrasted with the recording of paper ballots, which were being counted in many districts early today, with returns hours away.

Paper ballots were not used in any of the precincts where the vote machines were installed, according to Gilbert C. Cloonan, chief of the County Elections Bureau.

WOMEN INVESTIGATE

The League of Women Voters, conducting an investigation in the Pittsburgh wards and in Clairton and Duquesne, reported 22 machines out of order during the day, some for a brief time, and others all day.

Four had to be substituted, county officials said.

Mrs. J. O. Miller, one of the league investigators, gave as her conclusions:

"The machines as a whole were not a success although most of them worked."

She urged that election judges be more thoroughly instructed.

Mrs. Miller accused election officers of assisting electors without their request and without affidavits. She visited 14 districts of the Fourth Ward, she said.

UNFAMILIARITY NOTED

Her contentions were somewhat in conformity with a number of other league investigators. All agreed that many voters got assistance, and that they were, for the most part, timid and unacquainted with the machines.

Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, who organized the investigation, visited the First and Second wards and the five districts of the Fourth Ward from the Fifteenth to the Nineteenth inclusive. She found five machines were out for periods ranging from 10 minutes to two hours.

Mrs. Harvey K. Breckinridge inspected 10 districts of the Third Ward. She stated that men stood inside the curtains and that all the machines worked, but that she did not see a single voter who did not have assistance.

At the Letsche School, Ninth District, she said, a man stood outside with a notebook and as assistants to the electors filed out, they reported to him.

Mrs. Bond also visited 14 districts of the Fourth Ward. She reported four machines temporarily out of order. A mechanic was at each place, she said.

VOTERS ASSISTED

Mrs. Thomas McC. Mabon and Mrs. J. R. Pierpont visited the Sixth Ward, inspecting 10 districts. They reported six machines needing repairs, two of them out of order from 9:30 until 1 o'clock. Many voters were assisted at virtually every polling place in this ward, they said.

Only one machine was out of order in the Seventh Ward, Mrs. Roscoe B. Fleming said. Two other machines in other polls were not in use, due to the small number of voters, she added. She stated that voting machine mechanics were at every district, and some were inside the curtains when voters came in. She said:

"At least, they told us they were mechanics, and the electors made no objection."

MACHINES REPAIRED

Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. Jesse Shuman and Mrs. E. P. Keenoy investigated the Tenth Ward. They found six machines intermittently out of order and 12 working without trouble, Mrs. Smith said. Poole representatives repaired the machines, they said.

Three machines in Duquesne were reported as needing adjustments, it was reported.

Officials of the Poole Engineering Company were pleased with the showing of the machines, Hiram D. Hirsh, counsel, said:

"We think the machines were successful. With some few minor repairs, they were used everywhere."

Hirsh, however, put up $300 bond for H. L. Bosley, a mechanic of Baltimore, who, it was alleged by citizens of the Ninth District of the Sixth Ward, was showing the voters in the booth how to split the tickets." He had been sent into the booth when a machine jammed, it was said when he and Joseph Rosenberg, Judge of Elections there, were called before Judge Elder W. Marshall.

Senator Frank J. Harris, chairman of the State Senate Voting Machine Committee, declined to comment on the performance of the machines until he has gone into the matter further. He said:

"Anything that I would say now would be based only on partial information. You can rest assured there will be a thorough investigation of the entire matter."

Harry Gibson is the only county incumbent to return. He, with J. C. Wilson (Rep.), and Sheriff D. K. Callahan, Greenville Democrat, make up the Board of Commissioners.

VANISHED GIRL CLUE FAILS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Murray Salzman, New York broker, yesterday resumed his search for his missing fiance, Louise Hunter, beautiful New York society girl, convinced that the young woman who leaped from a ferryboat into the bay here was not Miss Hunter.

The young woman, rescued from the bay, was taken to a city hospital where she refused to reveal her identity. She was released.

Salzman's hopes were raised when a nurse at the hospital identified Miss Hunter's picture as that of the mystery girl. Closer check revealed she was not Miss Hunter.

Hospital attendents said the mystery girl repeatedly sobbed that she wanted to die. The only clue to her identity was her request to hospital attendants to call her "Irene."

Allegheny County District Votes in Westmoreland

The First district of the Borough of Trafford, although officially carried as a part of Allegheny County, will not be reported in the official returns for this county. Burgess Elmer Henderson last night stated that all of the districts of Trafford Borough are in Westmoreland County and that they used Westmoreland County ballots. He insisted that the Allegheny County Election Bureau was in error in including the First District of Trafford on their return sheets.

when "COLDS CATCH YOUR CHILDREN"

. . . a cleansing dose of Castoria!

The first step to take when your child catches cold, doctors agree, is to cleanse the body of all accumulated waste and infection-breeding material.

To carry off this poisonous matter, nothing is better than Castoria. It acts gently and mildly enough for children's delicate requirements, and yet it does the work unfailingly.

Castoria, you know, is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for babies and children. It contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics of any kind. It is so mild you can safely give it to relieve a colicky baby. Yet, in larger doses, it is an effective regulator for older children. And another help for mothers: children like its taste!

When you find a cold, a little fever, or a digestive upset starting, call in Castoria's kindly help. Your doctor will commend you for wise, prompt action. Don't forget—the genuine Castoria always has the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package. Be sure you get genuine Castoria.

Chas. H. Fletcher.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Events

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

November is surely not bleak socially, for with the arrival of this month, with its hint of winter, the debutante whirl has begun. And the debs are busy attending luncheons and teas, ushering at socially sponsored affairs, and enjoying the many informal events of the late autumn.

Covers were laid for 35 guests at small tables in the patio. Ann pompon chrysanthemums in yellow and bronze shades were centerpieces. The hostess wore a black crepe gown with bell sleeves of sunset red crepe, in dolman fashion.

Friday will bring the debut of Nancy Jane Longenecker, whose mother, Mrs. Charles Longenecker, will present her at a luncheon in the Twentieth Century Club.

The Finley Hall Lloyds with their son, Finley, Jr., are planning to sail on November 12 from New York on the new President Hoover, for San Francisco, Cal., via the Panama Canal. The first of the year they will motor to Fort Myers, Fla. The Frances DeLacey Hydes, of South Negley avenue, have taken a house in Tucson, Ariz., for the winter. Mrs. Hyde is a daughter of the Lloyds.

Yesterday afternoon the Vassar Alumnae Association held its first fall meeting in the home of Mrs. Joseph W. Kennedy, of Darlington road. The representatives, Mrs. Thomas L. Eddy and Mrs. LeRoy B. Mitchell, reported.

Mrs. C. H. E. Slocop and her mother, Mrs. John S. Craig, went to New York to meet Mary Louise Slocop returning on the Olympic from three months in Switzerland, Spain and France. She was in Geneva for three weeks attending the meeting of the League of Nations.

Central Project Designed for Unemployed

Central Branch, Young Women's Christian Association, has an interesting new staff project—a "leisure time room," which will be opened at the Chatham street "Y" tomorrow. The new room holds all sorts of potentialities, for it is to be open to the public regardless of creed, color, age or even membership in the "Y." It is designed primarily for girls out of employment, but with the possibilities it offers will appeal to every woman who has any leisure time downtown.

Various games, a piano, a Victrola, and reading material are there; there's room for dancing and from time to time, possibly once a week, a special program will be put on. The room will be accessible all day and all evening in fact, whenever the doors of the branch are open.

All classes at the Central Branch, by the way, are at present open without fee to unemployed women and girls.

Last night at Central Branch, Percy L. Clark, of the Illinois Social Hygiene League, gave the second in the series of talks on courtship and marriage. Discussing "The Physical Aspects of Courtship and Marriage," he said courtship gives young people an opportunity to learn whether they can live with each other, which, he declared, is much more important than whether they can live without each other.

Mr. Clark Gives Talk

He discussed "petting," saying it is simply a derogatory epithet applied by the older generation in whose young days the same thing was known as "spooning." He spoke with great frankness of "heavy petting," pointing out its evils and showing that it is dangerous in that it sets up a habit of emotional dispersion rather than a habit fixation which is necessary to a satisfactory marriage.

MODERNITY IS THE KEYNOTE IN THE LATEST NECKLINES

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—Fashion gives it to her devotees in the neck and they like it. Well, who wouldn't when the neckline is made so very interesting by the lovely chiffon scarfs, necklaces and ornamental decolletages now on view? Seriously, though, there are ever so many novelties that center round the neckline that we hardly know what to tell you about first.

ENOUGH TO SAY that ingenuous and original ideas are more to the fore than ever, since women demand so much from an expensive frock nowadays and it is only something entirely different that can lure them into purchasing evening frocks. The back line of the frock seems to have been exploited in every way possible and so now we have the back neckline well to the fore for novel treatments. And, one word more, modernity is the key-note of the new offerings, an up-to-the-minute modernity that is as startling as it is effective. What else could better express our hectic, pulsating existence, though? Certainly not the dear old modes of the eighties.

WE SHOW SKETCHES of one of Chanel's most entrancing novelties, her chiffon evening scarf, guaranteed to beautify any neckline. These are made in any color to match or blend with a chiffon or lace gown. Two jewelled tubes, in strass and colored stones, chosen to match each scarf, hold the drapery back and front. The scarf is formed of two very long, separate strips drawn through each tube at front and back, with the ends in back falling considerably longer than those in front.

* * *

AND NOW for another new neckline treatment, this time featuring a new little dinner dress made by Worth from a new heavy silk of the marocain type. The neckline is bound in black crepe and at the back dangle six half-balls of green galalith attached with silver hooks. There is an interesting draping at one side of the trailing skirt.

CLUB NOTES

Members of the Fortnightly Reviews of Mt. Lebanon took a very definite step out of their beaten path yesterday, for they changed not only their day of meeting, but the place as well. At Thaw Hall, University of Pittsburgh, they heard an illuminating talk by Dr. Alexander Silverman, on "Glass as a Factor in Civilization," and then went to Dr. Silverman's office to view his valuable exhibit.

The club's annual dinner for the husbands of members will be an event of Thursday, November 12, in the Dormont New Century Club.

About 300 members of the Tuesday Musical Club and their friends were present at the initial recital of the season in Soldier's Memorial Hall yesterday. The program was opened by Mrs. Arthur B. Siviter, retiring president, who gave her report of the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs, to which she was the club's only official delegate.

The first musical number on the program, which was arranged by Jean McCrory Newman and Mrs. E. B. Lee, was a group of violin solos played by Mary Redmond with Hulda Lefridge at the piano. Ruth Parker, soprano, sang an attractive group by Arnold Schomberg with Marion Clark Bellinger accompanying. Katherine C. Davies, pianist, a new comer in the club who has recently returned from Paris, played numbers by Bach, Chopin and Griffes. Alta Schultz, contralto, gave a group including compositions of Delibes, Chabrier, Ferrari and Bemberg.

Her accompanist was Beulah Taylor Marston, recently come from Chicago. The program closed with the String Ensemble playing "Omaha Indian Love Song," by Carl Bush, and "Danse des Personnes," by Moussorgsky, under the baton of Ruth Thoburn Knox, with Helen Roessing at the piano.

The tea tables were attractively decorated with orchid colored pompoms, and candles of the same color in crystal holders. Presiding were Mrs. C. Perry Kiefer, Mrs. Eugene Carmichael, Mrs. E. R. Gardner, Mrs. L. W. Mesta, Mrs. George H. Deike, Mrs. Charles Kiefer, Mrs. Robert J. Cleland, Mrs. Paul Rhinehold, Mrs. Otto Richter and Mrs. J. Kennedy Irwin.

HOOVER ISSUES CALL FOR U. S. THANKSGIVING

President Sets Aside Nov. 26, Cites Blessings Despite Hardships, Urges Charity

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—President Hoover yesterday issued his annual proclamation setting aside November 26 as Thanksgiving Day. It follows:

"We approach the season when, according to custom dating from the garnering of the first harvest by our forefathers in the New World, a day is set apart to give thanks even amid hardships to Almighty God for our temporal and spiritual blessings.

"It has become a hallowed tradition for the chief magistrate to proclaim annually a national day of thanksgiving.

CAUSE FOR GRATITUDE

"Our country has cause for gratitude to the Almighty. We have been widely blessed with abundant harvests. We have been spared from pestilence and calamity. Our institutions have served the people. Knowledge has multiplied and our lives are rich with its applications. Education has advanced; the health of our people has increased. We have dwelt in peace with all men.

"The measure of passing adversity which has come upon us should deepen the spiritual life of the people, quicken sympathies and spirit of sacrifice for others, and strengthen their courage.

"Many of our neighbors are in need from causes beyond their control and the compassion of the people throughout the nation should so assure their security over this winter that they, too, may have full cause to participate in this day of gratitude to the Almighty.

REST, PRAYER URGED

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, November 26, 1931, as a national day of Thanksgiving, and do recommend that our people rest from their daily labors and in their homes and accustomed places of worship give devout thanks for the blessings which a Merciful Father has bestowed upon us.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington this third day of November in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty one, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-sixth.

"HERBERT HOOVER."

Musician Named U. of P. Instructor

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Alberto Bimboni, widely known conductor, composer and teacher, has been appointed assistant professor of music in the school of fine arts of the University of Pennsylvania, it has been announced.

In addition to conducting classes in music, Bimboni will serve as director of the University of Pennsylvania Choral Society, a new organization which supplants the old undergraduate musical club of the university and which, in the future, will supervise the activities of the Glee Club and the orchestra.

2 Will Face Trial In Franklin Thefts

FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Warran B. Kuhns, 32, a former resident of Franklin, and Patrick O'Connor, 32, alias Harvey McCafer, who were arrested by Detroit police on suspicion, and who the police said confessed robberies in this district, will be returned here to stand trial for robberies this month, the Detroit police said.

Materials stolen from a sporting goods store were found in the pair's possession, along with seven pistols. The men also confessed to holding up and robbing the Franklin Garage October 27 where $40 was taken. The two waived extradition.

Court Gives Man Right to Cast Second Vote

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(Universal.)—John S. Weiss voted twice yesterday and it was sanctioned by the courts.

When he voted the first time, Weiss failed to adjust the pointers indicating his choices before he pulled down the lever and his ballot was blank. Poll officials would not let him vote again but he hurriedly appealed to the court, which granted him the privilege.

Old Mining Town Loses Last Pastor

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—St. Mary's of the Mountains Church, built by the Bonanza kings, who worshiped there, is without a parish priest for the first time in 70 years, and this famous old mining camp has lost its last active clergyman.

Bishop Thomas K. Gorman, of the Reno diocese, announced the parish had been abolished and that hereafter services would be conducted twice a month by a missionary priest from Carson City. St. Mary's at one time had a regular Sunday attendance of 2,500.

G. O. P. Wins Beaver In Slow Contest

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 4.—In an apathetic contest in Beaver County yesterday, the entire Republican ticket for eight major county offices was elected. David W. Denton, Square Deal candidate for County Treasurer, from Rochester, furnished the only excitement but was defeated by Dr. Frank R. Holt, Republican, Beaver. Walter M. Goettman, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner, is leading Col. James P. Leaf, Rochester, for the minority place.

In Beaver Falls, Chester W. Calvin, Republican, was elected Mayor over Perry A. Garrett, Democrat-Independent.

Pittsburghers Held In Hunt Violations

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—The guns of 13 persons charged with violations of the game laws were stacked in the office of Alderman Carl Phillips here. In the kills of the men were found a robin, a meadowlark, doves, bittern, owls, an Indian hammerhead, a ring-necked pheasant hen and 34 rabbits illegally killed.

The arrested included B. W. Stephenson, of Mt. Lebanon, bagging six rabbits; Pasquelli Quela, Pasquelli Castelli, Louis Cardillo, Michael Ferraro and Julius Capelli, all of Pittsburgh, charged with illegally killing birds.

BIDS FOR POSTOFFICE TO BE OPENED DECEMBER 15

U. S. PROMISES TO SPEED WORK

Chamber of Commerce Letter Spurs Action by Architect; Advertising Placed Today

Bids for the erection of the new Pittsburgh postoffice and the mail-handling equipment will be opened in Washington on December 15, Treasury Department officials announced. Advertisements for bids for the superstructure and the mail-handling equipment, with the exceptions of elevators and lighting fixtures, were released for publication today.

This action was taken at a time when President Thomas Dunn of the Chamber of Commerce, was trying to speed up action. Dunn was in telephone communication with Walter S. Gifford, chairman of the President Hoover's Unemployment Relief committee, who had been assured that the work was being speeded.

The conversation followed a letter sent Gifford by the chamber urging him to speed the project as a means of aiding business here. The letter said in part:

"The Pittsburgh postoffice for which, I believe, an appropriation has been made of $6,000,000 or $7,000,000, has been standing in a status quo condition for several years; the plans were ordered more than two years ago and were completed at least one year ago; the foundation contract was let early last spring and is nearing completion, and yet nothing has been done to complete the superstructure.

"Of the above mentioned amount, at least one-fourth would be spent on steel construction, which possibly would have gone to the Pittsburgh district, and that of course would have assisted in relieving unemployment in the mills of our city.

"If we are correctly informed, there is no reason why the superstructure bids should not have been invited last summer, so that the order for the steel necessary could have been awarded by the contractors securing the work.

"Instructions should be given to the supervising architect's office that the bids be invited for the superstructure at once, so that it would be possible for the contractors who are awarded the work to release orders for materials which would greatly relieve the Pittsburgh district."

$464,000 LEFT IN TWO WILLS

Two wills, disposing of estates valued at $464,000, were filed for probate today. The $404,000 estate of John Minke, of Fair Oaks, was divided among his four children, with the exception of $1,500 to an employe, Samuel Hemphill.

Half of the estate is to be divided directly among the children, Mrs. M. M. Lloyd, John F., Ralph B. and August J. Minke, Jr. The remainder was placed in trust, the income to be given to the children.

The will of Kate Dickson provided that $55,000 of her estate be given to her sister, Martha D. Duthrie, and $5,000 to her sister, Mary G. Civert.

New Yorkers Off Each Other In This Off Year

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Al Smith has been in the woods so long he emerges as an expert on forestry.

Cermak, Hague and Walker had a political talk. Subject: What to do until the doctor arrives.

The Capone boys were defeated by only 12 votes, but will not demand a recount.

Simeon Fess called his 1932 Republican committee together. He doesn't want a repaint job on the White House.

Tammany claims it was vindicated by Tammany's vote. Well, a hen has a right to cluck over its own egg.

This is an off-year in New York state politics. Smith is off Roosevelt and Roosevelt is off Walker.

When elections were doubtful the boys used to vote twice. Now, when contests are close, they count 'em twice.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 4.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Just flew in here from Mexico City by two good lines: The Pan-American to Brownsville and American Airways to here. That's a great valley down in that lower end of Texas—but did you know there is a mess of Republicans down in there. The rest of Texas is ashamed of 'em and got 'em segregated away off down there to themselves like some towns do vice.

I been away a few days, but I see by the papers Mr. Hoover's got a new commission. This is one of the most unique ones of all he has appointed. It's to find out "if he storied about the Navy or if he didn't"? Yours,

WILL.

Lang Slashes Budget for City Works

TAX VALUATIONS IN 19TH WARD REDUCED

Property valuations in the Nineteenth Ward have been reduced several hundred thousand dollars, Chief Assessor Thomas C. McMahon said today.

The reductions will save property owners thousands of dollars in taxes, the readjustments having been made because of organization and individual objections to the big advance in valuations made in some sections late last year. Rebates on 1931 taxes have been given to scores of property owners in the Mt. Washington, Brookline and Beechview districts.

OWNERS TREATED ALIKE

McMahon said that where land valuations were reduced on one street or section of the street, in the case of the appeal of any individual being allowed, reductions were given to all, where similar properties were valued at the same price. Explaining the situation he said:

"In some instances we refused to grant the reductions asked and were taken into court, but we will defend these actions.

"For instance, one case we are fighting has to do with property in West Liberty avenue. There the owner wants his valuation reduced to $100 a foot front, although demanding rentals based on a $300 a foot front valuation. In other words, this owner is using a method against his tenants that he is accusing us of using."

32ND WARD CUTS

McMahon said some readjustments also are being made in the Thirty-second Ward, but to what the total reductions will amount he is unable to say. The work has not been completed, and will not be for several weeks. McMahon said:

"Where we found that any injustice was done we remedied it. Readjustment of values in business districts has resulted in several property owners taking their cases to court, but we intend to fight the claims."

COST ESTIMATE MILLION UNDER THIS YEAR

Payrolls Pruned, Substitute For Asphalt to Help Cut Expenses to $6,000,000

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, has reduced his budget requirements for 1932 approximately $1,000,000, or about 1¼ mills, he said today.

In 1931 his budget appropriations totaled a little more than $7,000,000, while for the coming year he figures he will need around $6,000,000. Discussing reductions he said:

"We are saving wherever we can. We are also dropping from the payroll all unnecessary employes.

"The department does not plan to do as much resurfacing of streets as was done this year. We intend to use seal coating, instead of asphalt, where that is possible. This material costs 17 cents a yard as against $1.60 for asphalt. Seal coating is composed of heavy tar and fine-ground stone rolled thoroughly into a unit. Automobiles cannot skid on it."

ACCIDENTS CEASE

Regarding its use the director pointed out that before the material was used on the Manchester Bridge, about a dozen accidents a week occurred there in bad weather. Since seal coating was used, he said, there has been none.

Asked how many men he expected to employ during the winter months he said:

"About 800. They will not work steadily, as we intend to use the 'stagger system,' which means giving part time work to that number of individuals. Those selected will be men who are physically fit and whose circumstances are such that work will be helpful to their families."

BIG JOBS COMPLETED

Lang said that although not as much resurfacing of streets will be done in 1932, the department's efforts generally would be directed toward street work, establishment of water lines and construction of sewers. He declared the department has completed all the big work that had been laid out. He concluded:

"We will be able to get along with less men, which, together with large reductions in the cost of materials, will enable us to reduce our budget requirements around $1,000,000 and result in quite a saving to the taxpayers."

Color Bath Prescriptions For Weariness Forecast

Color baths will some day be prescribed by physicians for tired and neurasthenic individuals, according to Donald R. Dohner, director of the art-engineering department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, who addressed members of the College Club of Pittsburgh in their Craig street clubhouse last night. He said:

The nervous effects of color schemes should be considered in the lighting plans for homes and buildings, he continued.

Courses of study are being given to engineers and designers to unite efficiency to beauty, he said, tracing the application of art to industry in the design and coloring of everything from lamp cord plugs to electric locomotives, from push button plates to giant motor generators.

CANAL HEARING SCHEDULED IN YOUNGSTOWN

River Improvements Slated As Topic in Preliminary To Waterway Construction

Maj. W. D. Styer, Pittsburgh district engineer, was to preside at a public hearing on the proposed Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal today in the Ohio Hotel, Youngstown. Proposed improvements of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango Rivers were to be discussed, marking the first step in the preliminary arrangements for construction of the canal.

A total of 25 locks and dams and 77 bridge alterations would be required, according to a survey recently completed by Maj. Styer, in the construction, which would provide slackwater for 22 miles on the Beaver River, 40 miles on the Mahoning River and 60 miles on the Shenango River.

The bridge type of gate dam, which provides the minimum obstruction during floods, has been adopted throughout. Dredging, to deepen the channel, will also minimize flood dangers.

It will be necessary to augment the flow, because of insufficient water supply during periods of low water, by means of four reservoirs on the headwaters of the Mahoning River, it was stated. The Pymatuning reservoir, now under construction, will meet the water supply on the Shenango River, it was said.

BLAMES SLUMP ON LOW WAGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(INS)—Failure of industry to give labor a proper proportion of the great profits made during the prosperity era was one of the basic factors that brought about the depression, George Soule, editor of the New Republic and director of the National Bureau of Economic Research, told the La Follette Senate Committee today.

During the prosperity period industry did not carry out the economic doctrine of high wages which it rhetorically approved, he said, despite popular belief to the contrary. While certain large corporations did increase wages, those paid the majority of industrial and farm workers were actually decreased between the period of 1923 and 1928.

MOTHER KILLS CHILD, SELF

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Mrs. James A. Horner, 30, shot and killed her 9-year-old daughter, wounded a baby daughter probably fatally, and then killed herself today, rather than have the children face destitution.

The husband and her father, asleep on the second floor of the farm home east of here, were aroused by the shots. They reached the rooms below just too late to prevent Mrs. Horner from turning the rifle on herself.

Mrs. Horner, shot through the heart, died instantly. Her daughter, Pearl, also died instantly from a bullet wound in the heart. Her six-week-old daughter, Cora, was taken to a hospital in a critical condition with a bullet through her body.

The family has been penniless for some time, officials said. Distress in their condition, they indicated, led the woman to shoot the children and herself as the family was awaking this morning.

CAPONES MAY MEET IN PRISON

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—The Capones, Alphonse and Ralph, convicted federal income tax dodgers, may be prison-bound soon, on the same train, with Leavenworth, Kans., as their destination.

Ralph was reported en route to Chicago today from his wintering place in Miami, Fla., to surrender for imprisonment on his three-year conviction, the United States Supreme Court having denied him a review of his case. Assistant United States District Attorney Jacob I. Grossman yesterday ordered Capone's attorney, George N. Murdock, to produce him tomorrow afternoon before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. If Capone fails to appear his $35,000 real estate bond will be forfeited.

Meanwhile Alphonse Capone was reported to be ready to start for Leavenworth soon to begin the 11-year prison and jail sentence imposed by Judge Wilkerson, so he will receive credit pending his appeal. He receives no credit while a prisoner in jail.

GIRL, 4, DRINKS POISON, DIES

Four-year-old Erma Pieh, of 2323 Penn avenue, is dead today, a victim of poison which she swallowed in her home yesterday. She died in West Penn Hospital a short time later.

The child, playing in the kitchen, picked up a bottle of antiseptic and drank a portion of the contents. Her mother, working in another part of the house, heard the screams of the little girl and rushed her to the hospital.

Promotion Urged For Capone Judge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Promotion for the Federal judge who sent Al Capone to prison for 11 years and fined him $50,000 was urged upon President Hoover today. Senator Glenn (Rep.) of Illinois, called at the White House and proposed that District Judge J. H. Wilkinson be advanced to the vacancy on the Circuit Court of Appeals, seventh circuit, created by the retirement of Judge George T. Page, of Peoria.

EVERYONE SHOULD DRINK WATER IN THE MORNING

Italian Doctors Working Wonders on Headache and Stomach Sufferers With Simple, Internal Bathing

Why is it that eight out of every ten people today are being made miserable, unhappy and inefficient by constant headaches?

Italian doctors startled the world by giving plain effervescent water before breakfast as the remedy. A homely treatment, but effective sometimes beyond belief. A form of intestinal bathing that makes anemic-looking, pasty-faced, headachy and stomach-acidity people take on new life, new appearance and new health.

The way the treatment works is on the same principle of washing out the intestines every morning before breakfast just like you wash dirt off your face and hands. For just as it is necessary to clean ashes from a furnace before a fire burns bright and clear, so it is necessary to wash out the stomach BEFORE food goes into it.

Otherwise you most likely cause a bad condition by mixing the food you eat with ptomaine-like accumulations in the stomach that virtually poison the fresh foods you put in it.

For that reason, every man or woman—whether sick or well—is advised to drink each morning BEFORE BREAKFAST, one-half glass of water with two tablespoonfuls of ordinary Italian bisnachi effervescent in it, followed by a large glass of plain water. That's the whole Italian treatment tens of thousands of people today are crediting with near-miracles in the relief of constant headaches, sour stomach, acidity, constipation, "bilious" attacks and general lassitude and debility.

The Italian bisnachi effervescent to put with water can be obtained in large cans at any store for a few cents. The way to pronounce the word is Bree-os-kee—ordinary Italian bisnachi. A few days of it will suffice to make most anyone a crank on the subject of intestinal bathing.

BRADDOCK TOWNSHIP FIREMEN GUARDING 100-ACRE TRACT THAT BURST INTO FLAMES AFTER SIX YEARS' SMOLDERING

BRADDOCK COAL MINE AFIRE

Bursting into flame early today, a drift coal mine in Braddock Township shot flames and smoke several feet into the air as two companies of volunteer firemen from Braddock Township stood by to prevent its spread to surface property. Workmen attempted to block off the fire area as advice was sought from the United States Bureau of Mines.

The mine, a six-foot vein of Freeport coal, has been smoldering for six years, according to Joseph Kettering, owner. The recent opening of a mine wall by welfare workers, he believes, caused a draft which fanned the flame. The blaze shot six feet high, across a crater nine feet wide and 12 feet deep.

Firemen poured water into the mine, forcing smoke to issue from another opening 50 feet away.

Homes of Louis Mahring and Mrs. C. P. Brewer, nearby, firemen said, are endangered both from fire and possible cave-ins.

Woman Faces Charge Of Illegal Voting

Mrs. Elizabeth Carr, of Shady lane, West Homestead, will be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Walter Terrill tonight on charges of illegal voting. She was arrested yesterday by a constable after she was said to have given her address as 617 Seventh avenue, West Homestead.

'Mountie' Poses 9 Years as Red, Gets His Man

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—A sergeant in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police revealed today that for nine years he wore the red cloak of communism over the scarlet jacket of the "mounties" in order that he might maintain the tradition of his service and get his man.

At the trial of nine Communists the sergeant, John Leopold, testified that he assumed the name of E. W. Esselwain, posed as a Communist, and for all those years acted as secretary of the Regina branch of the Communist party of Canada. He was never suspected.

He attended all conventions in his secretarial capacity and performed all the duties of a Communist so he might obtain the desired information against the suspects.

Prophetess Aged 125 Dies in Poona, India

POONA, India, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—A Mohammedan prophetess named Babajan, who claimed to have been 125 years old, is dead here. For as long as any living person can remember Babajan sat under a tamarind tree, giving advice and guidance to all who came to consult her. Both Hindus and Moslems flocked to seek her counsel and to listen to her prophesies. Her death has been followed by extraordinary demonstrations of grief.

CO-ED SLAYING SUSPECT MOVED

TUCSON, Ari., Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Golney (Mac) Seymour, 22, Apache cowboy, held for the slaying of Miss Henrietta Schmerler, Columbia University student, has been transferred from Globe, Ari., to the Tucson jail.

The movement of the confessed killer here last night followed a statement by John P. Dougherty, Seymour's attorney, that he expected a group of Indians from the Fort Apache reservation to arrive in Globe today to make financial arrangements for the defense.

District Judge Albert M. Eames, however, said emphatically the safety of Seymour at Globe was "not in question."

John C. Gungel, United States District Attorney, remarked that "sometime it's a good thing to have a prisoner where you can talk to him." The prosecutor's home is in Tucson.

The young Indian faces a preliminary hearing November 23 on a charge of having slain Miss Schmerler while they were on the way from her cabin to an Apache dance last July.

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Lennox Robinson, author of "The Far-Off Hills," had explained to the audience in the Twentieth Century Club on Monday evening that the title of his play was an attempt to put the pathos of distance into a haunting phrase—the hopes the dreams, the aspirations of his Irish people. Last night his play itself was presented to illustrate his point. And the audience—quite unprepared for what it got—saw a play that requires neither explanation nor excuse, acted in a way that only the Moscow Art Theater, the company presenting "Uncle Vanya" and the company presenting "Boris in Hand" have recently approached.

George Seibel

Indeed the Moscow Art Theater comes closest to this perfectly artless art with the single difference that it brought us Russian mirth instead of Irish mirth.

For "The Far-Off Hills" is a jewel of comedy—a great green precious emerald sparkling with laughter.

Not only that. "The Far-Off Hills" is a rich lode of poetry, the rare gold of human nature transmuted into ingots all 24 karats fine.

The audience—which should have been much larger—laughed until it cried. This man Lennox Robinson has a wee bit bit of Oliver Goldsmith in him.

WITHIN FOUR WALLS

The comedy revolves around the reformation of an elder sister who is the domestic tyrant within the four walls of her home. She is planning to become a nun—and everybody wants to see her off to the convent because she has turned home into a hell. How the younger sisters marry off their father, who is going blind so that Marian may be free to take the veil—how Marian at once decides that she must sacrifice her vocation to bring up her sisters—how in the end Marian decides she must sacrifice her sisters to marry the young man she could not stand: this makes three acts of absolutely priceless humor acted with absolutely flawless finish.

There are scenes like the one in which the widow Susie Tynan gets the blind widower Patrick Clancy to propose, the one in which Marian proposes to the doleful Harold and scares him off, and the uproarious bedroom scene without one blush, which are ahead of anything in the sophisticated comedies of our modern wits.

SOME REAL ACTING

"That little man is really scared," said Partridge about Garrick's Hamlet when the Ghost appeared.

And I believe that F. J. McCormick really did hiccups last night, that P. J. Carolan is actually afflicted with cataract, that May Craig does indeed get the toothache when her love affairs go awry, that Arthur Shields smashed a door to make Eileen Crowe come downstairs in her new dress, and how I should like to see that vulgar postcard which made Eileen laugh against her will and how I should like a swig of that whisky that warmed the spirits of Barry Fitzgerald and Michael J. Dolan.

But aside from the acting, the wholesome comedy of Maureen Delany, the ebullient selfishness of Kate Curling and Shelah Richards, there were the voices of all the players making music such as you seldom hear upon the stage. They have haunting voices, all of them, men and women, with melancholy music turning again to tinkling laughter. But what's the use of trying to describe those voices? I'll hear them still when the Abbey Players have traveled beyond "The Far-Off Hills."

This afternoon they play "Professor Tim" and tonight "John Ferguson"—again at the Twentieth Century Club.

Grundy Play At I.K.S.

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Who increases knowledge increases sorrow. In other words—when ignorance is bliss it is dumb to be a wise guy. That is the moral of "A Pair of Spectacles," an amusing comedy translated from the French by Sydney Grundy. It was presented last night in the Theresa L. Kaufmann Theater, of Center avenue, by the Irene Kaufmann Players, and an audience that comfortably filled the fine little theater gave every evidence of obtaining much enjoyment from it.

It shows how looking at the world through the wrong spectacles gives one a wrong conception of how much good there really is in the world. It is an old, old play, with "asides" and other obsolete technical devices, but it is still modern as to truth, and still is potent to create thought as well as laughter.

The young people of the playing group are to be congratulated upon having been able to interpret it with sufficient vividness to cause the audience to accept it with interest rather than toleration merely.

Frederic March Will Follow 'Jekyll and Hyde' With 'The Miracle Man'

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4.

This will be Frederic March's biggest year in pictures. After "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," he is slated for the one-time Gary Cooper role in the talkie version of "The Miracle Man."

All these forecasts, of course, are subject to studio changes of mind. But Gary is regarded as definitely out of the running and March is at least tentatively, his successor.

Frederic March

This will almost complete the casting of principals for the Frank L. Packard story. Sylvia Sidney, little Robert Coogan and John Wray are already assigned. Wray will replace Irving Pichel, who was originally named to play the Lon Chaney role in the talkie.

TOOMEY COMING HOME

Charles Butterworth congratulates the Theater Guild, producers of Eugene O'Neill's marathon, "Mourning Becomes Electra," on being the first to adopt the six-hour day. . . . George Hill has bought a ranch next to Reginald Denny's at Lake Arrowhead. He will build a hunting lodge there. . . . Last week Bebe Daniels had her first party since the birth of her baby. . . . Regis Toomey, Buddy Rogers is going around again with Mary Brian. . . . Jack Harvey, manager and pal of Jimmy Durante, sent Schnozzle the following wire at his fishing camp: "Stay where you are. Studio still casting 'freaks.'" . . . The Santa Fe Chief left Los Angeles yesterday with a record number of film people aboard. Among the passengers are Dick Arlen and Jobyna Ralston, Regis Toomey, bound for his home town, Pittsburgh, to make personal appearances; Charles Starrett, heading East to play opposite Claudette Colbert; William Boyd, slated for the same picture, and Nick Stuart, who is going after Sue Carol. . . . Roscoe Ates is on crutches. A mule kicked him. "It's true!" . . . Leo Carillo finishes "The Dove" and takes a plane to San Francisco to appear for Henry Duffy in a revival of "The Broken Wing."

AND THEN WHAT?

Sylvia Sidney's mother says fame on the New York stage follows a well-defined path. She lists these rungs on the ladder: (1) Third string critics wondering who you are. (2) A special bow at the curtain. (3) Bouquets. (4) Letters from people you have not met. (5) Press notices. (6) George Jean Nathan seeing the entire show. (7) Telegrams from people you have not met. (8) News stories based on rumor about your private life. (9) A motion picture contract. And options. Mrs. Sidney, don't forget about options.

IN THE NEWS

These perilous days for the free-lance haven't daunted Maureen O'Sullivan at all. The Irish actress has gotten herself a job at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer as Johnny Weissmuller's leading woman in "Tarzan."

Third Role

Elissa Landi will come to the Davis screen Friday in "Wicked," her third starring picture. In it, she thinks she marries a bank clerk, but husband turns out to be a bank robber.

Debt Protest In Newsie

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Protests against cancellation of $11,000,000,000 in debts owed to the United States by Europe are made by Senators La Follette and Thomas in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News, showing in the Penn and other theaters. Senator La Follette declares this will mean that American taxpayers will have to bear the burden and vows that he will battle to defeat the proposal unless Europe first disarms.

Jim Londos, world heavyweight champion wrestler, retains his title in a thrilling mat contest with Matros Kirilenke.

There are scenes of the traffic rush over the new George Washington Bridge across the Hudson River.

The "Fighting Irish" keep up their unbroken series of victories by defeating Carnegie Tech 19-0 in Pittsburgh. Tech gives an amazing exhibition of pluck and gameness.

Directs Dialogue, Plays Role in Picture

Dual capacities will mark the association of Frank Reicher with "A Woman Commands," Pola Negri's first talking picture for RKO-Pathe which is now being made under the direction of Paul L. Stein. Reicher, who is equally well known as an actor, writer and director, is serving on the picture as dialogue director as well as playing an important role.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"The Merry Wives of Windsor," Sheakespearan farce at which the lively Queen Bess probably roared in delighted amusement, will be the opening play of the repertoire to be presented by the Stratfrod-Upon-Avon players in the Nixon next week. It is the least subtle of Shakespearean comedies, giving basis for the opinion that the author "wrote it down" to the intelligence and taste of royalty and nobility. "King Lear," which is on the list of few Shakespearean troupes will be played Tuesday night. The box office will ticket you for this attraction tomorrow.

Small Timer says that after-dinner speeches are often dry regardless of what may be in the glasses.

Sigmund Romberg's tunes are among the factors accounting for the long life and popularity of "The Student Prince," which returns to the Alvin next week, with George Hassell, Gertrude Lang and Allan Prior in featured roles. Among them are the rousing "Drinking Song" and "Just We Two." One good song, it is said, will "make" any musical play, and this one has several. Thursday is the day the box office boys will make deals with patrons.

* * *

Small Timer says that on previous post-election days it was a case of being all over but the counting-out, but that there are other counts now, including those of the grand jury.

To The Mothers Whose Children Won't Eat

A Simple Way to correct Poor Appetite

NATURE knows best. Never coax a child to eat! Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite. When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, don't give small children a constipating cathartic that drains the system and weakens twenty feet of tender bowels! California syrup of figs is all the "medicine" they require.

The Child's Appetite Will Always Respond

Specialists will tell you that a sluggish appetite almost always means the child has a sluggish colon. Correct this condition called stasis, and see how quickly a listless, drooping boy or girl begins to eat—and gain! The only "medicine" such children need is pure, unadulterated syrup of figs.

California syrup of figs is doing wonderful things for ailing, sickly children all over the United States. Children who get syrup of figs, now and then, soon have the appetite and energy of young animals! They keep well and avoid colds and sluggish spells.

Begin Tonight

Nature never made a finer laxative for children; and they all love the wholesome, fruity flavor of the real California syrup of figs. It's purely vegetable, but every druggist has it all bottled, with directions. Begin with it at once. The very next day, your child will be eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the syrup of figs a few days and you will see the most amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight, and spirits.

A SINGLE "IF"

The promises made by the bottlers of California Syrup of Figs are true—and it will do the same for you—IF it is genuine CALIFORNIA Syrup of Figs. Don't accept any bottle that does not plainly say CALIFORNIA. Every druggist has the genuine.

Walter Winchell On Broadway

(Copyright, 1931, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

To a Successor

He likes to talk about himself, my dear.
Be patient with him when he gets that way.
Just stroke his brow and whisper in his ear
Some sentimental words. You must be gay
And quite vivacious, if he's in the mood
For trivial things, but if he should be sad,
Show him you're sympathetic. Let him brood.
Don't chide him. Murmur gently a 'too bad."
Admire his taste in cocktails or cravats,
And laugh at all his jokes, however stale.
Don't try to choose his socks or shirts or hats,
If you observe these points, you will not fail.
And . . . as an afterthought . . . good luck to you!
I know just how you feel . . . I loved him, too.
—Kathleen Lamb.

Stew Stuff

Perhaps Ginger Rogers tells it more delightfully. It's the one about the drunk who ankled unsteadily into a Broadway lunchroom and said:

"Gimme a cupsacuffee and a cinemabum."

"Sorry," said the man behind the counter, "but we haven't any buns."

"Oh," oh'd the plastered one, "stoo bad. Lessee now. Well, then I think I'll have a hot shocolate and a cinemabum."

"I told you," growled the man, "that we're out of buns!"

He's in Again!

That Izzy Elinson person says Hollywood is going in for economy and the comedians are the ones hardest hit.

The Morning Mail

"Dear Walter," affectionately writes Leo Townsend, "I know a guy who attended Eugene O'Neill's new lengthy play and emerged to find that his wife had divorced him on grounds of desertion.

"And you can say what you want about O'Neill, but he's done one thing you mustn't forget. He's brought back the 8-hour day for actors!"

"According to Walter Winchell," says the Greenpoint Home News, "a N. Y. Times reporter became minus a watch while the lights were dimmed in Edison's honor at a political club in Greenpoint, where the Manhattan newspaperman was sleuthing for Seabury dope.

"A reporter with a watch in his pocket, instead of a pawnshop, ain't that something?"

Origin

George Martin avers that he knows how the saying, "What the country really needs is a good 5-cent cigar!" originated.

A very boring Senator, it appears, one day was harrassing a patient Senate with a long-winded speech on What the Country Really Needs. Tommy Marshall sat in the midst of his very large chair, overlooking the Senate. Everybody knew the Senator was gabbing for the benfit of his constituents and not for the delectation of the Senate.

After expatiating (oop!) on a given point interminably (ouch!) the Senator periodically would boom out with: "But what the country really needs to——" and so on, etc., and so on.

After he had so asserted a dozen times, Marshall lost patience and brought his gavel down with a deafening bang. He leaned across his high bench and fixing the Senator with a sarcastic eye, snarled:

"The Senator hasn't struck it yet! What the country really needs is a good 5 cent cigar!"

And, as you've probably read (and heard since the depression started) that line has been paraphrased:

"What the 5 cent cigar really needs is a good country!"

The N. Y. Sun's radio pages of Oct. 27 started to become opposition to those of us who try to be comical. The radio list of 7 and 8 p. m. reported, in part:

A Form of Criticism

"Am I worried?" cried Eddie to his barber.

"Oh," comforted the barber, "a man in show business so many years as you have been, should not be upset by a Palace audience."

SLAYING TRIAL COUPLE WEDS

DENVER, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Nelson C. Bowles, Oregon capitalist, who was acquitted with his former secretary, Irma G. Loucks, last March of the slaying of his wife in Portland, sought refuge here from the public more than a month ago, the Denver Post reported. The Post said Bowles is married and living in a fashionable residential district.

When questioned about his wife's identity Bowles refused to talk. However, persons who have seen the woman identified her as the capitalist's former secretary.

With Bowles are two children who he says are his daughters. The Bowles' had two children, Patsy, 7, and Sally, 5. Bowles said:

"The children know nothing about the Portland affair. That is the only reason why I had hoped that my whereabouts would not become known."

The woman believed to be Mrs. Bowles underwent an appendicitis operation several days ago in a Denver hospital and is reported in a critical condition.

OFFICIALS LAX IN AIDING ANNOUNCER

THE TASK OF keeping a football crowd informed of the multitude of game details not apparent to the eye of the casual spectator, but nevertheless of real interest and importance to him if he is to follow intelligently the progress of play, could be vastly simplified if the field officials appointed by Walter R. Okeson were obliged to co-operate with the men in charge of the press box and public announcing system in bringing home to the fans the explanation of intricate points.

Walter R. Okeson

It is possible from the vantage point of the press box to obtain with a high degree of accuracy such data as the name of the ball carrier, the name of the tackler, the yardage gained or lost, and the nature of the play. But it is an utter impossibility for any one, save the officials who actually call them, to determine consistently the exact reason for the imposition of penalties. To the average person in the stands, a five-yard setback means an offside play and a 15-yard infliction stands for either holding or roughing.

AS A MATTER of fact there are 21 infractions that call for five-yard penalties and 22 that carry with them 15-yard sentences. If it requires four men—a referee, an umpire, a field judge and a linesman—standing virtually on top of the scrummage to detect what happens in the melee when the teams merge, is it reasonable to suppose that scoreboard attendants, announcers or newspapermen reporting the action can keep track of all that takes place in the mix-up?

The management of the Stadium here has gone to great expense to install a public-address system for the convenience of its patrons; it has erected two scoreboards upon which to record various bits of information; it takes pride in its press box, in which gather scribes from many parts of the country for the purpose of wiring home news of the battle. Public address system, scoreboard and press section are in constant telephonic communication with the playing field—but the 'phone man at the edge of the gridiron must depend on his own powers of observation and the good disposition of the officials for the dope that he is to relay to those waiting above.

NOW THE FIELD man cannot see everything, and, sad to state, officials at several Stadium tussles have been most remiss in making contact with him. As a consequence, both the gallery and the reading public lose out when forced to rely on guesswork in explanation of much that transpires on the barred sod.

Is it demanding too much of officials who are paid handsomely for two hours of week-end labor to expect them to show vicarious courtesy to the ticket purchaser by according consideration to the telephone man who asks the nature of a ruling?

CERTAIN ARBITERS HAVE displayed impatience with the young man who, in questioning them as to penalties, times out, and the like, is merely doing his bit toward making the game more popular by better acquainting the onlooker with it. The petty self-importance of such officials might, of course, be curbed by requests from school authorities that the brusque individuals receive no more assignments. This, however, is less feasible than the passage of a regulation adding to the duties of, say, the field judge, the obligation of co-operating with the management in getting across to the public those frequently puzzling details, knowledge of which is essential to proper understanding of the ebb and flow of hostilities. Meanwhile, it is to be hoped officials at remaining games here will be better disposed than some of their predecessors toward inconveniencing themselves slightly in order to give added service to cash customers and incidentally assist in the creation of good will toward the institutions which after all are their employers.

Cy Perkins

THE PASSING OF another old-timer from the major baseball leagues may result from the unconditional release of Catcher Cy Perkins by the Yankees. As Cy will be 36 before another season begins he may have to be content with a coaching job if he stays in at all.

Perkins has spent 18 years in professional ball and has remained steadily in the majors since the fall of 1917. For six consecutive seasons he caught in more than 100 games per year for the A's, but with the coming of Mickey Cochrane in 1925 he was forced back to bench duty.

THOUGH JACK CHEVIGNY, during his late visit to Pittsburgh with the Notre Dame gridders, rated Mike Sebastian, of Sharon, as Pitt's outstanding back, Paul Reider, 156-pound halfback, will start for the Panthers against Carnegie.

Reider did not have a pleasant afternoon against Notre Dame after the first few minutes of the second period. He was away for several short gains early in the game, but after that was pretty well bottled up by the Irish defense, especially on passes, never getting near the ball.

HOWEVER, COACH SUTHERLAND intends to use the New Castle speedster, for aside from being a clever open field runner Reider is also a good blocker and a smart defensive player. He plays safety in the Panther defense and no pass had ever been completed on him for a touchdown until Marchy Schwartz threw the ball past him in the first quarter of the Notre Dame game.

PITT IS BLESSED with many good halfbacks this year. Substitutes for Warren Heller are Jimmy Simms and Mel Brown, both fast, hard-running backs, but not quite equal to the Steelton youth in all-around ability. And Mike Sebastian and Dick Matesic, left-side backs, are probably even better as replacements for Reider.

In fact, the reserve backs at Pitt have scored practically as many touchdowns as the regulars. Luch, Heller and Reider, of the present first-string backfield, have accounted for 16 touchdowns among them, while Clark, Matesic, Sebastian, Simms and Hasson have made 15. And Rocco Cutri, second team quarterback, has kicked nine of the 14 points after touchdown chalked up by Pitt this year, Jim MacMurdo having made the five others.

GEORGE GODFREY, Negro heavyweight, went through years of ring fighting without being hurt, but already the wrestling game has laid him low. He has had to postpone a trip to the coast and is at the home of his mother in Chicago suffering from an infection in his left arm.

The infection came from injuries received on the mat. A similar infection recently caused the death of Stanley Stasiak, Polish wrestler. Godfrey's trouble is believed not to be serious, however, and he expects soon to resume his journey to the coast, with his manager, Jimmy Dougherty. He has three boxing and 17 wrestling engagements booked out there.

Earl Mastro

THE OLDEST OF the present listic champions in point of reign will be in danger of dethronement tonight when Battling Battalino enters a Chicago ring to defend the world featherweight crown against Earl Mastro. Battalino will have to put up just about the best fight of his life to escape being defeated and separated from his title. In the first place he meets in Mastro a fighter of parts who would be dangerous under any conditions, and in the second place the ten-round distance will not be in Battalino's favor, as it will keep his ruggedness and stamina from counting for as much as they did in his longer championship bouts in New York, where the title route is 15 rounds.

UNDEFEATED TEAMS MEET BIG TEST

By JULIUS LEVIN

Two undefeated, but tied, football teams clash Friday afternoon in the feature attraction on the scholastic card when Stowe Township, Ted Marnen's powerful eleven, engages Moe Rubenstein's Ambridge machine on the Stowe Township field.

Stowe, after being held to a scoreless deadlock by Har-Brac in the opening battle of the season, has been coming along in fine style, scoring six straight victories and allowing its opponents only two points, a safety by Carnegie.

AMBRIDGE TIED TWICE

Ambridge boasts five victories and two ties, both scoreless affairs, with Monessen and Aliquippa. Only six points have been scored on Ambridge this season. Freedom turning the trick when it crossed the Ambridge goal line for a touchdown. Freedom's feat broke a string of 16 straight games in which Ambridge had kept its goal line free from all opposition.

Clairton, boasting a string of six straight victories, will play a Friday game for a change, engaging Elizabeth at Clairton. This is the first defeated team Woodman's eleven has met in the last four games. Charleroi, Monongahela and Greensburg all showing perfect records prior to their contests with Clairton. Clairton should have no trouble winning, as Elizabeth has won only three out of five games.

TEST FOR EDGEWOOD

In the Class B division, the Edgewood-East Pittsburgh contest looms as the feature attraction. East Pittsburgh suffered an unexpected defeat at the hands of Braddock, but Edgewood still is in the undefeated class, a tie with Aspinwall being the only blemish on the Pickett card. The game will be played at East Pittsburgh.

Peabody being scheduled for a non-league game with Norwin at Irwin, Schenley will strive to strengthen its hold on first place in Section I, of the City League, by engaging the weak Fifth Avenue eleven at Malone Field. South meets Westinghouse, at Westinghouse, in the other Section I fray.

School Notes

Coach Jimmy Russell's Dunora High eleven is out of the running for the W. P. I. A. L. championship, but the Monongahela Valley team nevertheless is creating quite a furore in scholastic circles by the manner in which it is upsetting power-ful opponents. It humbled Uniontown 12-7 in defeat at the hands of California, Dunora turned right around and beat Charleroi and Peabody. Peabody was undefeated at the time it met Russell's eleven.

Ford City High, which was stopped by Har-Brac after scoring five straight victories, has one of the outstanding backs in the W. P. I. A. L. ranks in Ordeal Fryor, Negro flash. So far this season, Fryor has scored 13 touchdowns for the Allegheny Valley eleven. It was Ford City that eliminated Turtle Creek Union from the W. P. I. A. L. championship. The 18 points, all scored by Fryor, represent all the tallies made against Foxy Miller's team this season. Fryor ran 95, 50 and 30 yards for his three touchdowns against Union.

C. P. (Neenie) Campbell, a brother of Bill Campbell, Homestead High, is assistant football coach at Ford City. During the basketball season he has complete charge of the floor machine.

One of the reasons for the fine showing being made by Dunora this season is the powerful line built by Moon Clark, former Duquesne University star, who is assisting Coach Russell.

Coach McHenry's McKees Rocks eleven, led by the versatile Johnny Sutherin, will strive for its ninth straight victory against Crafton at Crafton Friday. The Rox eleven suffered its only defeat at the hands of New Castle, 6-0.

Washington and Turtle Creek Union will not engage in active competition this weekend, both rejecting an open date prior to their meeting in Washington the following Saturday. The day of rest is the third of the season for the Little Presidents.

One of the feature attractions on the Saturday program is scheduled at New Kensington where Beaver Falls will attempt to check the winning streak of Carl Glick's Ken High eleven. The only defeat suffered by Beckathorne's Beaver Valley team this season came at the hands of the Midland machine, 13-0.

Plans are under way to stage a charity football game in the Beaver valley district between all-star teams representing the Beaver valley and the Greater Pittsburgh district.

Eddie Zaneski, one of the best all-round backs in the Beaver Valley, has been playing a sparkling game for Rochester. Zaneski stood out prominently in the game with Midland. He tossed 32 passes in that contest, completing 15 of them.

Fedeski, who has been used as a second-stringer at New Brighton, likely will be promoted to the regular team as a result of his fine work in handing Beaver its first setback last week. Fedeski, in three plays, carried the ball 70 yards for a touchdown.

Ondish, Midland's speedy back, is setting the pace for the scorers in the Beaver valley with 18 touchdowns for a total of 78 points. Ciotti, Beaver Falls, is second with 55 points, and M. Capo, of New Brighton, third, with 39 points.

WEIRTON, WELLSBURG MEET

WELLSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 4.—Two clever football teams will be seen in action here Saturday afternoon when Weirton and Wellsburg resume athletic relations. The game has been designated as the "home-coming" event and will be preceded by a big parade, featuring two bands and the student bodies of both schools.

HODAPP MARRIES

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—Second Baseman Johnny Hodapp, of the Cleveland team, American League, and Martha Garaghan, of Indianapolis, were married yesterday. Hodapp formerly played with the local team. Hodapp's parents live in Cincinnati. They left for New York and will sail tomorrow for Europe. They will make their home in Cincinnati.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE WATERFALL THAT "FALLS" UPWARD—One of the phenomena to be found in Norway is the Voringfoss (Crystal Falls) near the Fossli Hotel, at the end of the Hardanger Fjord, Norway. It was reported to me by William Rhinelander Stewart, of New York City, who saw and photographed the falls last summer. A small side stream of the falls drops over the precipice a short distance from the main falls, where the clear drop is approximately 1,000 feet. But the small stream never reaches the bottom! The reverse "fall" is caused by the terrific upward air current from the large stream, and it is blown back up over the precipice in the form of fine mist.

COCHRAN WINS, 200 TO 0

Welker Cochran, 18.1 balkline billiard champion, didn't give his opponent, Frank Dessau, a chance at the Ueberle parlors, Oakland, last night, when he neared the world record in running 200 in one inning in an exhibition match. Cochrane was to have played at 18.1 against Dessau's 18.2 game, but Dessau didn't even get started. The world record at 18.1 is held by Jake Schaefer, who defeated Willie Hoppe, 212 to 0, in April of 1926.

Cochran's opponent next week in titular combat, Willie Hoppe, disposed of Don Mitchell, 250 to 9, in the William Penn parlors. Willie had a high run of 63, and Mitchell, 7.

BARR BEATEN AT PINEHURST

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 4.—Winthrop Williams, New York, and Francis T. Keating, New York, reached the semi-final round of the Pinehurst Autumn Golf Tournament yesterday. Williams defeated C. S. Strout, Biddeford, Me., two up, while Keating eliminated Harold C. Buckminster, Boston, two and one.

Halbert J. Blue, Aberdeen, N. C., medalist and defending champion, along with Edwin L. Scofield, New York, advanced to the semi-finals by default of Lawrence Barr, Pittsburgh, and W. H. B. Ward, Hartville, O., respectively. Today Blue meets Williams, and Keating plays Scofield.

ICE HOLDOUTS SIGN

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—The Canadiens of the National Hockey League have signed Aurel Joliat and Pete Lepine to complete their roster for the coming season. Both had been holdouts.

Sport Vignettes

When Geneva College lost, 21-0, to Franklin and Marshall College at Lancaster, last week-end, it marked the first time a team coached by Howard Harpster, Carnegie Tech's all-America quarterback in 1928, ever failed to score... And it was his twenty-fifth start... He began his coaching career at Shady Side Academy in 1929 and won every one of eight games on his schedule... Last year, at Geneva, he won nine games and lost one, 46-6, with Bucknell... So far this year he has won four, tied one, 14-14, with Bucknell, and lost, 13-7, to Duquesne and 21-0 to F. & M.... To carry the history of this familiar figure even farther, it is a fact that the Carnegie Tech teams of 1926, 1927 and 1928, on which Harpster played, failed to score only once... That was in a 6-0 game with New York University in New York, and the Violet got its points from two field goals.

Just in case you didn't know it, Ben Jeby, of New York, who fights Buck McTiernan at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, has beaten Ignacio Ara, Len Harvey, Joe Dundee and Harry Ebbets, and has lost to Dave Shade and Vince Dundee in his major battles... He started out as an amateur and won 38 out of 40 battles, taking 30 of them by the knockout route... Last Monday night's show at the Garden drew around $3,500, which is fine stuff considering the way the houses are going elsewhere around the country... Tony Herrera and Harry Carlton drew less than $1,000 in a return bout at Jersey City, Carlton's home town, the same night, after the pair had fought a thriller to a booed decision for Tony in Madison Square Garden, New York, recently... There wasn't even enough money in the box office to pay Herrera's guarantee Monday.

Mose Butch is off fighting 122-24-26-pounders and will insist that his future opponents scale not more than 120 pounds... He was all upset against Frankie Wallace at the Garden last Monday due to the shifting of his bout from the windup position to the semi-final spot and the fact that Wallace came in a pound overweight and precipitated another jam... The Garden has Mose under contract for another bout on December 7 and it will be with a legitimate bantamweight, possibly Eugene Huat, to whom he lost a great 10-round battle at the Meyers Bowl last summer... Apples Meyers will get a license to operate the Castle Bowl in New Castle, after all, the home-town opposition to out-of-town promoters there having been waived.—HARRY KECK.

Navy-Ohio Game To Be Heard at Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—While the varsity eleven is battling Ohio State, at Columbus, Saturday, the B squad players, the lads who bear the brunt of the work in prepping the regulars for their big games, will be holding the spotlight at Annapolis, arrangements having been made to meet the B squad of the University of Pittsburgh. During the quarters a review of the big game will be read through a loud speaker for the benefit of spectators, a running story being received by telegraph.

N. Y. GRIDDER DIES

CORTLAND, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Fred Murphy, 19, Cortland Normal School football player, injured in a Normal-Stroudsburg College game October 24, died last night. Murphy suffered internal injuries, and the immediate cause of death was given as a ruptured kidney.

N. Y. QUINTET PLAYS DUKES

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The Columbus Council basketball team, one of the leading Eastern quintets last year, has announced a schedule of 17 games for the 1931-32 season. New opponents include Duquesne University, Canisius College, John Marshall College, St. Peter's College, and the University of Baltimore. The schedule:

December 7, St. Francis College; December 11, New York Athletic Club; December 14, St. Peter's College; December 23, Villanova; December 28, John Marshall College at Jersey City; January 6, Niagara University; January 11, Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute; January 20, St. John's College (New York); January 29, Georgetown; February 4, Providence; February 5, Duquesne; February 6, St. Francis; February 12, St. Mary's; February 15, Canisius; February 19, University of Baltimore; February 25, Long Island University; February 29, John Marshall.

PITT, TECH BOOKED

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—Western Reserve will meet Carnegie Tech and the University of Pittsburgh on the floor this season, according to the basketball card announced today. Carnegie Tech will be met on January 22 and Pitt on February 24.

Editor of Maroon Paper Under Fire

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Louis N. Ridenour, editor of the Daily Maroon, student publication of the University of Chicago, is under fire for permitting publication of an anonymous letter in which the resignation of Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg was demanded.

James Weber Linn, professor of English, deplored the publication of the letter and, in turn, demanded Ridenour's resignation as editor of the paper.

Ridenour, in answer to Prof. Linn's demand, said the letter was published to unite the team behind Stagg, who is coaching his fortieth Chicago team.

PITT HALFBACK PRIMES FOR SKIBO FOES

By JESS CARVER

Warren Heller, the Man Who Woke Up, is priming himself for the game with Carnegie Tech this week. Jock Sutherland is priming him, too, but Jock's training is being carried on along with the drilling of the rest of the squad.

This Heller is a funny bird. They have a flock of trick names for him out at Pitt and he takes a lot of kidding. Up until the Notre Dame game, he'd been just an ordinary halfback, but against the Irish, Warren came to life, turned in a whale of an offensive game and was keen and alert on the defense.

So Heller finally has come to the realization that he has everything that goes to make up a good halfback. All he needs to do now is to develop. Against the Tartans, and before a home crowd, he figures he might as well go to town. If he can click against the smart and scrappy Tartans, he figures he'll be aces-up against Army. So in his own quiet way, the big Steelton lad is preparing for Tech, and there are no ways more quiet than Heller's.

The Pitt squad will be taken out of town Friday to await the battle with the Skibos.

BEVEVINO IMPRESSIVE

Folks are talking more and more about the quarter-backing of Bevevino, the diminutive Tartan, who transfered to the Schenley Park School from Notre Dame. Bevenvino looked as good as Stu Dueger against the Irish, and I've a sneaking suspicion he'll be used against Pitt plenty Saturday. My inside information operative came out of a week-end fog yesterday with some information relative to the manner with which Bevy is regarded by the Tartan coaching staff, and Pitt may as well be warned right now that they need not think the going will be any softer Saturday if Dueger leaves the game and little Bevevino comes in.

Yesterday's drill at Carnegie was nothing to become excited over. The varsity reported still pretty well tired out. Coach Bob Waddell looked 'em over and then sent them through a very light session. The injured guards, Kebe and Heinzer, still are limping and on the ailing list and their chances of being fit for duty against Pitt remains problematical.

DRILL ON PASSES

Pitt, given a tough enough workout Monday, was set through another yesterday. Jock still is drilling his men on their forward pass defense, because he figures, and probably rightly so, that the Skibos literally will fill the air with heaves on Saturday.

The Panther offense will resemble very closely Panther offensives of the past. The double wing backs will be introduced to local football followers for the first time this year in the Stadium; the same formations that caused Notre Dame no little trouble. Pitt

TOMMY WANTS SCHMELING GO

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—"Tommy Loughran will fight Schmeling, Sharkey, Dempsey or anyone else who can give him a good go," Joe Smith, manager of the Philadelphia Adonis, told Jimmy Johnston at the Madison Square Garden.

"If Sharkey wasn't a coward, he would step out and sign for a fight with Tommy," added Smith. "He is trying to hide behind the fact that he won from Loughran before, and that Tommy wouldn't put up a suitable fight. Sharkey will find an entirely different man to contend with if he ever steps in the ring with us again."

Before leaving for Philadelphia, Smith signed a blank contract to have Loughran fight "any man in the world." He said that both he and his boxer anticipated a meeting with either Dempsey or Sharkey with being the final objective.

"Loughran will fight any man, any place, any time," Smith told Johnston.

Jimmy Belmont

The following Monday, George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, meets Jimmy Braddock, of Jersey City, and, on the succeeding Monday, Tony Herrera, the Mexican lightweight, boxes Johnny Jadich, of Philadelphia, in a return bout, Jadich having won over him at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, during the recent outdoor season.

Herrera and his manager, Ray Alvis, stopped off in Pittsburgh last night en route back to Chicago from Jersey City, where Herrera boxed a draw with Harry Carlton Monday night, and while here he closed for Herrera and Fields, whom he also manages.

Braddock boxes Patsy Perroni, of Canton, O., at Cleveland next Monday night and then comes here for the meeting with Panka.

Mrs. Kellogg was tossed to the hard pavement when her mount stumbled while galloping along the side of a road and received a fractured skull.

BARNEY PONDERS OVER NEW MANAGER

LOTS OF APPLICATIONS FOR JOB VACATED BY JEWEL ENS . . . . WHO'LL GET IT?

Back from an invigorating two weeks' vacation at Atlantic City, Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates, has returned to his desk to find it flooded with applications for the job of manager of the Buccaneers, to succeed Jewel Ens, recently let go. Dreyfuss is in no hurry to name his choice, but says it will be a good one when it's made. Fans are speculating plenty.

DREYFUSS GETS FAN MAIL

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The return from a vacation often means running head-on into a lot of toil and trouble.

Barney Dreyfuss, Pirate owner, found fans and correspondence humming with the same burning question yesterday when he reached his desk. The fans wanted to know "who is the new manager?" and the writers of many of the letters wanted to be that manager.

So Barney may steal a leaf from Herbert Hoover's book and lose himself in the recesses of the Blue Ridge Mountains, where he can have quietness as he ponders the big question.

But Dreyfuss will not appoint any commission to ferret out the answer. It looks like a one-man job to the Pittsburgh magnate and he is the gentleman who will take the assignment. The task will take a lot of time, but it's to be a one-man job.

TAKEN TO TASK

Among the letters received by the Pittsburgh clubowner was an anonymous missive which took the Pirate chief to task for withholding the identity of the new pilot. Instead of tossing the note into the wastebasket, a receptacle that generally catches such letters, Dreyfuss gave the note considerable attention.

"Even if he did not sign his name, he must be interested in the club, else he would not write such a definite letter," said Dreyfuss.

And there was a fine letter from Joe Devine, of San Francisco, but it was not an application for the managerial job. Indeed, Joe appears to be well satisfied with his present berth—he is manager of the San Francisco Missions, of the Pacific Coast League.

But Joe wanted to aid in another direction. The smart gent, who brought a flock of stars to the Pirates, is building up a club of snappy youngsters, and he was merely getting in his spring requests early. In other words, Joe wants some of the promising young Pirates for his new team—and it is quite likely he will get a few.

TALKS WITH STENGEL

Dreyfuss disclosed he had quite a lot of baseball discussions while he was in New York. He went to President John A. Heydler's office to pay a social call and, while at the headquarters of the league, he encountered a flock of prominent diamond characters, including Casey Stengel, who already has turned down a couple of major league managerial offers.

Casey the Cutup is the pilot of the Toledo Mudhens, but what with Toledo bank failures and the like, his season was not marked with signal success.

Stengel apparently has not applied for the managerial post here, and Dreyfuss did not intimate that he would consider Casey, but the club that eventually lands him is likely to have a personable fellow at its head.

Dreyfuss really thinks the next pilot will not be known inside of a month.

"I expect to attend all the December baseball meetings," said the local owner. "At present there is nothing particular a manager could do that cannot be transacted at the office. There is nothing to be gained in rushing the matter; therefore, we will take plenty of time. The main idea is to get the right man, and one who can put the club in the race. I believe that with a couple of changes the Pirates will be a flag contender."

CECIL MEETS CLAN DOUGLAS

League warfare in soccer will be abandoned this weekend, with the West Penn Cup ties monopolizing the limelight. Only two games will be played Saturday afternoon, but Sunday finds a full list of games.

On Saturday, the only game in the Pittsburgh district will be staged at Westinghouse High School Stadium, with Clan Douglas and Cecil, of the Keystone League, clashing.

Cecil will be in there fighting, since Morgan bumped them out of the National last Sunday. Cecil will have to show better form to beat Clan Douglas, which compares with any club in the district.

However, it has been many moons since a Central League club has been successful against a member of the Keystone League in cup tie battles, and, unless the Central boys change their style a little, the Keystoners are still expected to be on top.

Mack to Trade Three, Report Says

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—The Philadelphia Record quotes Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, as saying two or three members of the American League champions will be traded or sold for waivers within a short time.

Mack refused to name any player that might be traded or sold, but it was intimated Phil Todt, reserve first baseman, would be sent to St. Paul in part payment for Oscar Roettger, who was purchased late in the season, and Jim Moore would be sent to Dallas.

Enid Wilson to Try For U. S. Title Again

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Miss Enid Wilson, British golf champion, who will sail for home Friday, said today she planned to return to America next year to compete in leading tourneys. Although defeated twice on her 1931 invasion, Miss Wilson said she was not discouraged and was hopeful of more success next year.

ILLINI LOSE WALSER

ROCKNE DINNER TONIGHT

The drive for a memorial to the late Knute K. Rockne, Notre Dame's famous football coach, will be launched formally this evening with a national radio broadcast and campaign dinner in all parts of the country. The dinners will be timed so that attendants may hear the broadcast as they make their plans for the campaign in their sections.

The local dinner, as arranged by Clarence Overend, graduate manager of athletics at Carnegie Tech, who is the district chairman, will be held in Kaufmann's dining room, starting at 8 p. m.

There will be a program of short speeches, including one by Father Leahy, of Notre Dame University, and the formalities of the local affair will be concluded in time to catch the national program at 10 p. m.

Judge Frank Patterson is to be local toastmaster, and one of the main speakers. Other brief addresses will be made by Elmer Layden, R. N. Waddell, of Carnegie Tech; Dr. John B. Sutherland, of the University of Pittsburgh; Bill Amos, of W. & J., and Clem Crowe, of St. Vincent College.

Baggerly Elected Coast Loop Prexy

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 4.—Hyland Baggerly, former San Francisco sports writer and present owner of the Los Gatos (Cal.) Mail-News, has been elected president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League for a three-year term.

Baggerly was advanced as a compromise candidate after Harry Williams, president for the last eight years, withdrew because the president's salary was reduced from $10,000 annually to $6,500.

Baggerly was a noted baseball writer and sporting authority in the early days of the Coast League's history.

Farrell to Wed Partner in Movies

MT. VERNON, N. Y., Nov. 4.—John Joseph (Johnny) Farrell, United States open golf champion in 1928, and Catherine Theresa Hush, his partner in a recent series of talking pictures on golf technique, are to be married, November 24, it was learned after he applied for a license here.

Following the ceremony, in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Bronxville, the couple will be accompanied by Gene Sarazen and his wife on a trip to California and Honolulu and return through the South, playing in golf tournaments, it is understood.

Woman to Referee Men's Golf Match

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—A woman has been selected to referee a men's exhibition golf match.

Mrs. E. Boyd Morrow, former state and Middle Atlantic golf champion, was named referee for the benefit match, which will be held tomorrow.

CHARITY GO SLATED

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4.—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, will appear here November 18 in a double exhibition bout for local charity. Dempsey will engage in two two-round bouts, his opponents to be selected at a later date.

NEW PLAYERS IMPRESSIVE IN DRILL

By CARL W. SHATTO

With Coach Charley Reid issuing the instructions, Pittsburgh's International League hockey warriors inaugurated their training campaign at Duquesne Garden today.

Joe Matte, Gordy Fraser and Art Berlett, defense men, and Capt. Tory Gregg, Frank Ingram, Ty Arbour, Tex White, Whitey Fields, Eddie Rodden, Eddie Ouellette and Louis Holmes, forwards, were in uniform for the first drill. Ingram, Arbour and Holmes are new additions to the Jacket squad, all having been obtained from the Chicago Hawks, of the National League.

The new Pittsburgh representatives showed up well in the practice session, but the showing of Arbour and Ingram was not surprising, for both are established stars of much "big league" experience.

Norman Locking, another new wingman obtained from the Hawks, has quit Montefiore Hospital, where he was confined with a mild attack of pneumonia, but will not be able to participate in the workouts for two or three days.

Coach Reid drove the local skaters at a fast pace, for they are to meet the Chicagoans in the first game of a two-game series here Saturday night. The second game with the Hawks will be played next Tuesday, and on the following Thursday the Syracuse Stars will come here to inaugurate the International League title fight.

Coach Reid expects to have a full squad at hand within 24 hours. He intimated that because of the overabundance of wingmen, three forwards probably will be dropped.

W. & J. DEPARTS TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 4.—Washington and Jefferson College gridders, who have not played on their home field since the opening game, will entrain tomorrow for their intersectional tilt with Marquette University at Milwaukee, Wis., Saturday.

The President will stop en route at Evanston, Ill., where a workout will be held Friday at Northwestern University's Stadium.

Coach Amos will inaugurate a new policy against Marquette. Two fresh elevens will be alternated at each quarter. A combination started against Temple, including several athletes who had not previously been regarded as regulars, proved effective, giving the mentors two clubs of almost equal strength.

Deacle, injured in the Western Maryland game, has rounded into form and will be at fullback on one of the teams. The entire squad is in the best of physical condition.

Olympics to Play In Charity Game

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 4.—Four thousand tickets have been distributed for a charity football game to be played between the McKeesport Olympics and the Zippern All Collegians at Offutt Field here, Saturday, November 28. The local team expects to present an all former-Pitt backfield consisting of Jimmy Clark, 1931 Panther fullback; Franklin Hood, Williams and Jim Rooney.

BETTING FAVORS MASTRO IN TITLE BOUT

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Christopher (Bat) Battalino, featherweight champion, and Earl Mastro, Chicago challenger, weighed in unofficially yesterday for their 10-round title go at the Chicago Stadium tonight. Battalino tipped the scales at 127 pounds, and Mastro at 124½. The featherweight limit is 126.

Mastro, who once had ambitions to be a violin virtuoso, will be fighting to bring the title to the West for the first time since Abe Attell lost it to Johnny Kilbane in Los Angeles in 1912.

Mastro, backed by local admirers, was a 6-to-5 favorite.

CHARITY GAME ENDS IN TIE

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Manhattan College and the College of the City of New York fought to a scoreless tie in a football game for the benefit of charity yesterday.

Not conceded a chance before the game against the strong team coached by John Law, former Notre Dame captain, College of the City of New York outplayed and outfought its rival.

LIONS IN SHAKEUP

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 4.—Varsity lineup changes shook the Penn State squad from top to bottom yesterday in the first scrimmage of the week in preparation for the Colgate game. Three new men were in the backfield, and several substitutes went into the line. The second team, with a number of former first-string players on it, had the upper hand throughout the hour's practice, but there was no scoring. Capt. Lesnik did not take part in the scrimmage.

Undefeated Sing Sing Elevens to Battle

OSSINING, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Two undefeated football teams will clash here within a few days when the White team, led by Red Hope, will meet the Black team captained by Sunshine Williams.

However, the game will have little bearing on the National championship, for both teams hail Sing Sing as their Alma Mater, and the game will decide nothing but the championship of the Hudson River institution of learning—and correction.

Warden Lewis E. Lewis is so pleased with the work of the teams, that he is considering allowing them to play outside teams. However, the warden is too solicitious in regard to the health of his players to allow them to brave the discomforts of traveling, and any games played will be held on the home grounds.

HYGRO TO RUN IN PIMLICO

PIMLICO, Md., Nov. 4.—Hygro, the strapping Red son of Epinard, which carried the Nevada Stock Farm's banner to a high place in the Western 2-year-olds' list, earned the right to run in the rich Pimlico futurity Saturday, when he whirled to an impressive victory in the eighth Helpful Stakes here yesterday.

He shouldered a crusing impost of 128 pounds, and made every pole a winning. At the end he was coasting along well in hand, five lengths in advance of Gallant Sir, which closed powerfully to nip out the place award by a nose from the wilting Rabbit Skin.

Hygro stepped over the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5, the fastest time in which the stake has ever been run. Joe Bejshak worked the colt out an extra furlong in 1:26.

E. LIVERPOOL, BURNS MEET TONIGHT

By TOM BIRKS

East Liverpool's Potters tackle the Dan Burns Club, of New Kensington, in a Western Pennsylvania Independent Football Conference game, at Parnassus High School Field, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, tonight.

The contest has aroused a great deal of interest, because of East Liverpool's splendid showing last Sunday.

Manager Purl Dailey, of East Liverpool, with a flock of new players in the lineup, is prepared to offer the stiffest sort of resistance to the Burns machine tonight, but the New Kensington eleven appears to be little worried over the outcome, inasmuch as it has been playing the best football in the conference of late.

However, East Liverpool has everything to gain and only little to lose, so the fight should wax bitter.

The week-end headliner will pit Art Rooney's club against West View Sunday, and that conflict is expected to bring a shower of sparks, or whatever revengeful contest creates.

The Sonny Boys defeated the Allison Park eleven, 13 to 6, in a nocturnal Lightweight Conference game at Sanders Field last night.

FAMOUS SINCE 1840—NOW—BETTER THAN EVER

PITT IS GIVEN HIGH RATING BY ANDERSON

By HEARLEY W. (HUNK) ANDERSON
Notre Dame Coach

As the 1931 football season reaches its halfway mark, there is the usual tendency on the part of many to designate some team or some section as being outstanding in demonstrating the game successfully.

The fairest method would be to agree that sound football is now being played in all parts of the country, and that no one section has any more right than another to proclaim its prowess to the exclusion of all others.

It sometimes happens of course not be properly rated off a system of victories and defeats.

It sometimes happens of course that an undefeated team is the best in the country. Notre Dame last year was such a team because of its schedule. It had been asked to meet various styles of football from practically all sections of the country, and coped with them all successfully.

But this does not always happen.

POOR START MEANS LITTLE

More than once a team might get away to a bad start and lose a game or two before it starts clicking. And that same team at the end of the season would be able to defeat practically all the teams that managed to go through the year without a loss.

The element of luck enters into early season football and the inability of a team to get itself keyed up properly for a given game sometimes proves fatal to its season's record.

However, the popular method of rating teams on the basis of undefeated and untied seems to go on.

It does not take much reasoning to point out the weak points in this process of calculating.

We happened to defeat Pittsburgh in a game that was the hardest on our schedule up to that time. Northwestern might have been tougher, but the playing conditions prevented a fair test of relative strength and weakness of the two teams that wallowed around in the mud.

FEW ABLE TO TOP PITT

Pittsburgh by that defeat lost caste, according to the records that go in for "undefeated and untied" teams. Yet I wonder how many of the still "undefeated and untied" would be able to win a game from Pitt this year.

Similarly, Ohio State dropped an early game to Vanderbilt. But the Ohio State team that fought it out with Northwestern and ran up a score on Michigan would have given plenty of trouble to plenty of the "undefeated and tied" teams.

When a coach builds up a schedule, nowadays and doesn't absolutely hand-pick it, he must look for trouble where it is least expected.

Sooner or later he runs across some opposition that may not have had anything else to do all fall but get ready for his team. And, more often than not, he gets knocked out.

That doesn't make his team a bad one, but, from the table of statistics, you'd sometimes think it made the team just terrible.

Bobby Jones' Golf Lessons

By Robt. Tyre Jones, Jr.

The only golfer ever to win the U. S. and British Open and Amateur titles in a single season.

While we are still on the subject of power in the golf stroke, and how driving one other feature appears worthy of a lot of consideration. We have said something about the use of the wrists and the timing of the body-wrench as means of increasing the force of the blow. The other factor which complements these is the distinct lift that as the club is brought against the ball.

There are few parts of the stroke which are more interesting than the golfer's footwork. For my own instruction and amusement I have taken myself a number of slow-motion shots, holding out the feet and knees of my player, and the results have been most valuable. They show among other things a surprising mobility, indicating that the expert golfer is as light on his feet as an accomplished dancer.

A great deal has been written about the left foot and how its heel returns to the starting mark after the downstroke has been started. But little has been said about the right foot.

Bobby Jones

I have a number of pictures which show the right heel leaving the ground almost at the same time that the left heel returns to it. But most important of all, there is the clearest evidence that in the act of hitting the weight rests entirely upon the balls of the feet. In some cases even during the latter part of the hitting stroke the heels of both feet are entirely off the turf.

SENSATION OF PULLING

Charley Hall, himself one of the longest hitters who ever played the game, has a very great faith in this "lift" to add length to his drive. It does never result in actually lifting the club-head or causing the blow to be directed upward. But it does, I believe, achieve the marked flatness at the bottom of the arc which is found in the swings of all great golfers. I think always that the predominating sensation to be had from a well-directed stroke is one of pulling, and pulling hard against something, and when this is added to the powerful and well-timed wrist-and-body actions, the maximum of power is reached.

The impression must not be made that there is any good in lifting the head, either by looking up or otherwise, increasing the distance from its axis to the ball. As a matter of fact, the stretching of the left side must not have this effect. The head may and almost always does move backward while the player is expending his great effort, but it never goes up. The left shoulder at impact is high, but that is the limit.

MEEHAN DAZED BY OREGON VICTORY

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—John F. Meehan, New York University coach, is glad there were not a couple of halfbacks with broken legs playing on the University of Oregon thunderbolt that struck his team here Saturday.

Exonerated just after he had completed a three-hour practice session in preparation for this week's tilt with Georgia, the Violet mentor still wore a subdued, worried expression. He is a man filled with emotion since he watched the Violent Violets as were take a 14-to-6 trimming from an eleven they were figured to beat anywhere from two to five touchdowns.

"Feature this," he began dolefully, "they not only beat us to the punch and outplayed us all the way, but they did it with a makeshift lineup and a list of injuries that looks like a hospital bulletin board.

CRIPPLED OPPONENT

"One of their tackles, who smeared our plays all afternoon before they reached the line of scrimmage, had a thumb in a plaster cast. One of their backs was suffering from gastric ulcers and another had a floating cartilage. They had a regular end playing quarterback for the first time in his life and a tackle playing end. There's no telling what they would have done if a couple of them had broken legs."

The Webfeets' victory over the Violets considered one of the most powerful teams in the East, ranks as one of the major upsets of the current season. Trounced by Southern California and held a scoreless tie by North Dakota, Coach Doc Spears' lads were considered no match for the Meehanites, who had bowled over five opponents and already were getting themselves fitted for an eastern championship.

"It was tough for me," said Meehan, "but that Oregon team deserves all the credit in the world. I've seen some inspired teams in my time, but that bunch takes the cake.

TEAM OVER-EAGER

"It's been said my team was over-confident, but that's wrong. However, it was over-eager. After Oregon pushed over its first touchdown in the opening minutes of play, my boys got excited. They were trying to score two touchdowns on every play. They never did get settled down after the first shock."

Meehan sees one ray of light. He figures his team, as a result of its rude awakening, will have a psychological advantage over Georgia's great undefeated eleven here this week end.

Stagnation to Be Ended By Right Kind of Selling

—By B. C. FORBES—

WHAT WILL start prosperity?

Buying.

What must start buying?

Selling.

Is the right kind of selling about to be launched?

It is.

WE WERE INDUCED to buy too much when things were booming.

Salesmanship supersalesmanship flourished in 1928-29.

Salesmanship supersalesmanship has since languished.

And just as we responded to buoyant, exuberant salesmanship we have responded to spiritless, dejected, unconvincing salesmanship.

When the three-ring circus was going full blast, newspapers and magazines were overflowing with advertising, efficient salesmen were in clamorous demand, sales promotion efforts were breaking all records.

Now that all these buying and selling incentives are more needed, how they have subsided!

B. C. Forbes

AT LAST, however, cowardice is to give place to courage in important directions. At last sales aggression is to supersede sales apprehension.

What probably will prove the most noteworthy example of all will be set by the leaders in the automobile industry. And the largest company of them all, General Motors, probably will set the pace.

I was last week in Detroit, taken into the confidence of several powerful motor corporations, and learned definitely that they are primed to unleash the most intensive sales effort ever conceived. More money will be spent than ever before, more promotion channels will be utilized, more brains will be employed.

TO SELL SUCCESSFULLY when the public is in sluggish mood better salesmanship must be supplemented by better products or more attractive prices—or both.

The foremost producers of automobiles have set the stage to offer both. Hardly one 1931 motor model will be maintained exactly as is; practically every company will present new designs. Price changes, too, will favor the buyer.

SURVEYING AMERICAN business as a whole, published figures show that the concerns that increased their advertising and other sales efforts have done distinctly better than concerns that curtailed.

Now that there is increasing agreement that the bottom of depression has been reached and passed, even timid organizations will doubtless follow the lead set by the more enterprising. Everything indicates that laggards will be left in the lurch.

THIS, FROM a unique sales letter, sent out by a company (Jarman Shoes) which last year increased its sales fully 23 per cent and is doing still more business this year, is refreshing.

"Next time a big thinker solemnly tells you that we are having a depression because the law of supply and demand was violated, ask him what he means by demand. Or, ask him to go chase a fish.

"Where was the demand for radio 10 years ago?

"Where was the demand for orange juice 10 years ago?

"Where was the demand for Friendly Five shoes seven years ago?

"Where was the demand for eight-cylinder cars when only four-cylinder cars were built?

"Where was the demand for Frigidaires 10 years ago? And oil furnaces?

"The way for a manufacturer to cure depression is to make a better product and tell the public about it. Demand is flexible. No one demanded our shoes seven years ago. Today, 2,000,000 people demand them. Tomorrow, it can be 2,500,000.

"Drop me a line when the depression is over. I might be too busy to notice it."

Currency Fluctuations to Affect Foreign Trade

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE EFFECT OF THE ABANDONMENT of the gold standard in England and several other European countries is being closely studied by American corporations which have a large volume of export trade. This business has been materially reduced by the generally low state of business activity. The depreciated value of the pound and of other important European currencies may further retard the volume of our foreign trade.

The general tendency to heighten tariff walls in Europe is another factor which is discouraging the purchase of articles of American manufacture. The victory of the Nationalist party in England may be expected to result in the increasing use of protective tariffs in that country.

The movement of the foreign exchange market for unstabilized currencies is likely to prove a major factor in the rise or fall of the future sales of American corporations in European markets. It will also be a factor in the competition of European products in markets in this country.

Buying Power Reduced

AS THE CURRENCIES OF unstabilized European countries decline in value in relation to the dollar, it becomes increasingly difficult for those countries to buy American products. They have to pay greater amounts of their own money to buy dollars to make purchases here. Further declines in foreign exchange will retard America's export business, while advances will act as a stimulant. Tariffs will be additional obstacles to be overcome by American manufacturers.

The English manufacturer who is buying his materials and paying his labor in a depreciated currency has an advantage when he sells in the United States or in another country which is maintaining its paper money on a gold exchange basis. The effect of the abandonment of the gold standard is usually to reduce prices in relation to world markets. This produces a competitive advantage when exports are made to gold standard countries. Of course commodity prices advance in a country during a period of currency inflation, but this movement usually lags behind the fall in the value of money on the foreign exchange market.

Tariff Wall Reduced

THE UNITED STATES follows a policy of tariff protection for its industries, but the abandonment of the gold standard in other countries will go a long way toward eliminating this barrier to foreign competition in our domestic markets. The man who pays his labor and buys his material with cheap money and sells his product for money worth its face value in gold has a long start towards leaping any tariff hurdles which may be put in his way.

Foreign exchange fluctuations promise to become almost as important to business activity and security values in the future as they were in the years immediately following the war. The ultimate levels at which the pound and other depreciated currencies will be stabilized will not be so important as the advances or declines previous to stabilization. Once stable points are established, regardless of whether these are at old levels or new ones, commodity prices will gradually adjust themselves to world levels and will eliminate advantages or disadvantages in foreign trade. But the gyrations of money values before that time must be regarded as the most important influences in foreign trade.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The bond market advanced generally today, with many of the low priced issues scoring large gains. Trading was quiet at the opening but increased as the day advanced.

United States Treasury and Liberty loans opened firm and worked higher gradually.

Foreign obligations opened active and strong. A number of this group scored good gains, but some issues developed a selling tendency.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, odd omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Rally — Local Market Narrow

MARKET FIRMS AFTER EARLY DECLINE

Oils and Coppers Draw List Out of Slump; Rail Shares Remain Sluggish

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP.)—The securities markets displayed a persistent inclination toward higher levels today, despite a morning setback in shares.

Oils and coppers pulled the stock market out of a mild slump after Monday and bonds worked almost steadily higher, the Argentine issues recording the best levels in weeks, presumably as a result of the improvement in wheat.

In shares, rails and a few miscellaneous industrials weakened after a higher opening. Rails remained rather sluggish, but morning losses of a point or two in such industrials as American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical and Johns Manville were soon recovered. United States Steel held fairly steady. In the afternoon gains of 1 to 2 points appeared in such coppers as Kennecott, American Smelting and Cerro de Pasco, and oils were generally up fractionally. Phillips rising a full point. Trading was in light volume. Ward Baking preferred jumped 6 points.

Speculative quarters showed some disappointment over the news that the union employes of Canadian Railways had declined to acquiesce in a proposed voluntary wage reduction of 10 per cent, but the decision of the heads of the American Railway Brotherhoods to invite railway executives to a conference to discuss wages in connection with unemployment was regarded as encouraging evidence of a conciliatory attitude.

The manner in which the wheat market had managed to absorb extensive profit taking was regarded in Wall Street as decidedly cheering. Strength of the oils was a further reflection of the firming of crude prices in the Mid-Continent fields. Buying of the coppers led to unconfirmed rumors of progress in the conversations between leading world producers now in New York to discuss measures of stabilizing the industry.

The midweek business statistics were moderately encouraging. "Iron Age" reported that steel ingot output had crept up to 30 per cent of capacity from 29. This is the first time in several years that the steel industry has failed to slow up as it entered November. The weekly report of freight car loadings showed a somewhat larger than seasonal gain, and the report of electric power consumption was a little more favorable than last week's.

CRYSTALLIZING OF RAIL POLICY EXPECTED

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Further crystallization of rail road policy in respect to the Interstate Commerce Commission's compromise freight rate decision may result from the annual meeting of the American Railway Association which is being held at Chicago today.

Though wanting to be in the position of not scorning any aid most railroad presidents do not think that the commission plan meets the emergency situation. The stronger roads definitely were opposed to the idea of giving a dole to the weaker roads out of the selected freight rate increases, but as a result of further conversations of a special committee of the Association of Railway Executives with the commission, they are considering a plan for lending sums out of a central pool to roads which are failing to earn their fixed charges.

Mr. Rukeyser

OPPOSE POOLING

Executives of the stronger roads do not especially relish the pooling idea, and if they accept it will do so reluctantly in the interest of avoiding rocking the boat.

It is proposed to earmark the increases from the proposed new freight rates and lend the proceeds to the weaker roads. Each carrier would have a running account with the pool and be responsible to it for excess earnings as a guarantee of loans made to weaker roads, if in the stronger class and also responsible, if in the weaker class, to return loans as soon as earnings permit.

The criterion in either case would be earnings above defined fixed charges or lack of earnings to meet defined fixed charges.

In either case, it is thought that a full year's earnings would be necessary to classify the road as a lender or borrower. A system might conceivably be in one class in one year and in the other the next.

At best, in dollars, it is estimated that the decision gives the carriers 25 per cent of what they asked for, and in view of the poor earnings since the petition was filed, it is doubtful whether the full 15 per cent rate increase would have adequately met the situation. There is a feeling that petitions for additional increases would result in long drawn out delays which will militate against meeting the crisis.

CHANGES HELD NEED

Accordingly, attention turns naturally to wages, which in some districts rose from 55 per cent to 90 per cent since the war. Some executives are reluctant to disturb wage standards, but many are of the opinion that labor costs could be reduced through changing working standards which still follow the precedents set up by Director General of the Railroads McAdoo during the war period.

A few railroad executives think that these arbitrary standards pay for much work that is not performed.

Agreements, it is felt, ought to be reconstructed to eliminate economic waste forthwith, though, frankly, some railroad heads think that brotherhood chiefs might be more strongly opposed to such revision than to wage adjustments.

THE LOVE TRAP -:- Story of a Girl's Struggle For Love and Happiness -:- By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

CHAPTER XII.

Mary had determined one thing firmly before she went to sleep—it would be important for her to discontinue her employment at the Metropolis Hotel. Pride alone was sufficient reason for quitting; Landers had procured her the job; to continue on would keep her too close to him.

She closed her eyes and rested comfortably in her narrow bed, while she tried to vision her future with Steve. Nothing mattered but their love! With the bright optimism of youth she forgot all her fears. Steve's smart mind, and his courage would pull them through. He would triumph in life and buy her everything. But such possessions were merely pleasant things. All that actually mattered was the love that she and Steve had for each other.

In the morning she slipped downstairs and telephoned Nelson at the hotel that she was not coming back to her job. He was astonished. And then angry. But he imagined that Buck Landers was behind her quitting, and he dared not be furious. After all, it was only a temporary inconvenience for him, since he could immediately get a fairly competent girl from an agency. His faint sputtering meant nothing in comparison with the overwhelming facts in Mary's life.

ABSENCE DISCOVERED

She was all eagerness to see Steve, and share with him the plans of their next move. Anything he decided would be perfection—that was the way she ought to feel about her lover, and that was the way she did feel. Her devotion to him was now so concentrated that anything else was of no importance. She was all impatience. What she hoped was that Steve would decide for them to marry immediately. Between them they had a little money, and they could both work and maybe a little later could go West, where Steve would make his real start.

He would be down presently and would be tapping on her door; they would go to breakfast together in a little restaurant around the corner. She looked forward to it with a kind of dazzled happiness. When he did not come she was disappointed and when 30 minutes had dragged past, she was a little worried. At last, when it seemed as though he were oversleeping, she pocketed her reticence and tripped up to his room.

Her knock at the door brought no response; she entered cautiously and saw that he had gone. Her first thought was vexed. Hadn't they agreed to have breakfast together? Why had he gone out without her? It began to look a little strange . . .

Landers had uttered those words, had taunted her with threats. It was silly, she told herself, to worry about Steve. He had probably slipped out for some harmless purpose of his own, and would return soon. He did not come back, however, and gradually her apprehension began to spread wildly through all her thoughts. If anything happened to Steve . . . she would die!

LANDERS PHONES

She began to listen for his footsteps, but the only sounds that reached her ears were the petty noises of the rooming house. A postman blew his whistle in the vestibule, down the hall a Negro maid was running a carpet sweeper. The house was empty of its roomers. Mary identified the heavy tread of the landlady going about her business with a jingling bunch of keys. In the dull mirror she looked at herself. Her face was colorless and the deep blue eyes under her brave little hat were wide and haunted looking. If anything happened to Steve . . .

Mary sprang for the door. "No! No! I'm not gone—I'm here! Hold it!" She flew down the stairs, almost ran to the instrument. "Hello . . . hello!"

The voice that answered had a confident coolness. "Good morning, Mary," said Buck Landers. "You haven't seen Steve this morning, have you?"

Fear tore at her breast like a wild animal, intent on dragging its prey to earth . .

"He's not here! I can't find—"

He answered her with a steadiness that riveted all of her attention: "Well, don't get excited, Mary. I'm sure he's all right, in fact I know he is. Of course he may be missing for just a little while—I wouldn't be surprised—but I don't believe he's badly hurt, or anything like that. Chances are he's visiting some friends who won't let him get away—if you know what I mean."

OFFERS ADVICE

She beat against the wall with her clenched fist. Landers had done something to Steve. She believed it—she knew it! A wild ferocity possessed her. she could kill anybody who hurt Steve! She would—but a dazed helplessness overpowered her. There was nothing she could do! A glimmering intelligence warned her that she would have to negotiate, somehow, with Landers.

"Are you sure he's not . . . dead?"

"Oh, nothing as fatal as that has happened to him. I'm certain." Landers returned. His voice sounded careless. "No, you mustn't let yourself get all worked up and hysterical. You can't do Steve any good if you get wild, you know. If I were you, Mary—I think I'd talk to somebody and get a load of good advice."

"But who — where —" she cried wildly in her distress.

"Calm yourself," he told her. "If Steve is missing, and you want some good advice—who's better to talk to than the man that befriended you both? Me. I'm the fellow that you naturally ought to turn to first—don't you think? You're just a little girl, Mary, and I don't want you to be unhappy. Everything is going to be fine. Of course, I warned you that something might happen to Steve, because this is a big, tough town—remember what I told you?"

FOLLOWS HIS SUGGESTION

She was caught—trapped. Now that she knew for certain that Buck Landers had carried out his threat, had visited some mysterious vengeance upon Steve, the shock staggered her. But she did not crumple under it. Out of some unexpected depth of her nature, she drew upon her hidden strength, her latent power. She was like a young prize fighter reeling under a hundred hammerings but still trying to keep on his feet. Desperately, she forced her benumbed brain to function with a fragment of wisdom. Whatever happened—whatever the price—she knew she had to save Steve! Now was not the time to antagonize Landers . . .

"Tell me what I must do—" She was clutching at the wall to steady her swaying body. "I'm at your mercy, Mr. Landers! I'll be reasonable—tell me what I must do—but please don't let anything happen to Steve! For God's sake don't let anything hurt him! Promise me that and I'll—I'll—"

But he was too hard, too wary, to leap at any hollow victory. She could almost see the cautious shrewdness gleaming in his stony eyes.

"Why, Mary, I'd get over being excited the first thing," he told her with odd leisure in his voice. "Then I'd see my old friend, Buck Landers, just as soon as I could. Matter of fact, I'd come right on down to the hotel as soon as a taxi could bring me, and I'd make up in my mind on my way that I was going to be a sensible girl and put all my trust in my old pal, Buck."

Her heart died and crumpled. "Wait for me," she urged out of her laboring being. "I'll—I'll be right there . . ."

UNREALIZED COURAGE

Grief, to Mary, was like a stunning blow that confused and jarred the mind. The full intensity of the pain would come later.

Rigorously, she suppressed the sensation of suffering and, as a result, the power of the desperate energy within her increased. Fear became transformed into a haggard excitement, her mind clung tenaciously to the thought that she must find and rescue Steve. With an effort of will, she refused to allow herself to anguish over his possible suffering, his danger. Thus, under pressure, she was discovering her own unrealized courage.

She went at once to Buck Landers, but not trembling and uncertain as she had been before. Her dark blue eyes, for the first time, had a hard glint. She was ready to meet his steel with steel.

In his apartment, he looked at her without any expression of love, not even with desire. She had become to him, evidently, an antagonist. This was a struggle, a battle. Romance had fled from Landers, leaving behind a terrible thirst for victory—a hatred for Mary's beauty that could only be assuaged by possession and mastery. But she would have to yield supine and conquered in his arms before the old fires could flame anew.

"I'm glad you decided to be sensible and not lose your head," he said—and she felt he was suppressing a sneer. "It's not going to help any to get excited—it won't help Steve, either."

MENTIONS POLICE

"I'm not excited—now," she returned with a trace of vigor. "You're the one who ought to be excited and afraid, too."

"Yes?" The hint of ill-will remained in his voice.

"Yes. You're smart, Mr. Landers—or you think you are—and I can't see why you imagine you can do terrible things and get away with it. If anything happens to Steve, you'll be punished. You'll be found out, that's absolutely certain. I haven't got your money and your brains, but I can see plain as day that you're in more danger right now than poor Steve—wherever he is—can possibly be. You'll be punished—"

"Suppose I went to the police and told them everything? Why, I could have you arrested, Mr. Landers, even with all your money, just by repeating all the things you said to me."

"Don't you realize I could deny every word you accuse me of?" he asked her, contemptuously. "I could produce a dozen witnesses and every one of them would bear out a charge of blackmail against you. Oh, yes, it would be the easiest thing in the world to frame you. It's been done in this town before, you know. But that's all foolishness, Mary. You're no fool—you won't let it come to that. We're not enemies—I'm merely putting some pressure on you, to hold you. It's all for your own good, at that. Are you still crazy about Steve?"

"I love him better than anything on earth!" she declared, warmly. "What have you done to him? Where is he?" Her voice faltered a bit. "Mr. Landers, why don't you drop all of this wickedness? You could be such a wonderful man——"

CONSIDERS STEVE ENEMY

"I'll tell you why I don't turn soft and do the bless-you-my-children stuff," he said. "I tried to hold you with kindness and good treatment, but you run out on me. The only thing a girl like you can understand is power—force. Do you think I want to go through all this rough stuff? It's the last resort with me, Mary—but I don't hesitate to use it, if necessary. I've got to put the clamps down on you to make a believer out of you. And, the simplest way was to get at this young sap you think you're crazy about now.

"So far as Steve is concerned, I don't worry about him at all. When he crossed me he wiped out every ounce of good feeling I had for him. When a man turns against me, he's my enemy. You think you're my enemy now—and that's why I treat you like one—but you'll come back into the fold, never fear."

He had a deadly coolness that was beginning to chill her blood. It was no good arguing with him. His very frankness was entirely brutal.

"You weren't like this when I first met you," she said in amazement. "And now you act like a fiend!"

"No, I'm just gambling—on a sure thing," he told her confidently. "The cards are marked against you, little Mary. But now let's stop this chin-music, and let me make you my proposition. Steve has disappeared. I'm not going to kid you—I know all about it. Some friends of mine picked him up, and they're holding him. They're tough eggs—the birds that got Steve. If I give the word they'll do anything I say. They'll put him away forever where nobody will find him. Or they might do worse—they might turn him loose, and he'll never be any good to himself or anybody else on this earth. That sounds pretty bad to you, doesn't it? Well, it is pretty bad—but I warned him to keep out. He butted into a play for high stakes—for a woman—and you're the woman, Mary dear. You belong to me and I'll go the limit to keep you. Marry me and, I give you my word of honor, I'll see that Steve is turned loose unhurt. He'll be put on a train for California and he'll have a nice little roll of money in his pocket. You won't have to worry about him, ever. Anyway, it's ten to one he'll forget about you inside of a few days. If you really care a damn about this fellow, you can show it by saving him. If you want to be stubborn, you merely sacrifice him to your bull-headedness. That's the lay-out."

"How long will you give me to make a decision?" she asked nervously.

He estimated her with cold, appraising eyes.

"Till tomorrow, say, but on condition—and on this condition only—that you don't complicate things."

"Complicate?"

"It wouldn't do you any good, but you might get a wise idea of blabbing to the cops. If you do that I promise you, you'll never see Steve again. And besides, you'll be wasting your time—and that's another promise."

She looked at him searchingly, and realized that he was not bluffing. "I won't go to the police," she promised. "Give me till tomorrow to think this over—I want you to think it over, too, Mr. Landers. You might decide that you are wrong about all this—you really are, you know."

"Till tomorrow, then?" he asked, unmoved.

A tension in her relaxed, and she became suddenly tired—she was dizzy and her knees weakened. "Tell me about Steve—he's all right, isn't he? You haven't done anything to hurt him? If I could only be sure that nothing awful has happened to him——"

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

(Copyright 1931 King Features Synd., Inc.)

She entered cautiously and saw that Steve had gone.

"The cards are marked against you, little Mary," said Landers.

What Has Gone Before

Mary Kennedy, pretty secretary, engaged to Buck Landers, wealthy, middle-aged sports promoter, realizes love is greater than riches when she meets young and handsome Steve Moore, Landers' ward. Buck surprises Steve and Mary as they confess their love for one another. When Steve refuses to give up Mary, Landers threatens him. Landers warns Mary Steve's fate depends upon her. He insists that she visit him to talk things over. Fearing for Steve's safety, Mary has him move to her boarding house. Then she goes to keep her appointment with Landers. He insists that Marry marry him and Steve leave town. Landers' henchmen knock Steve unconscious when he voluntarily asks them to take him to Landers.

GOLLY, IT LOOKS LIKE MR. SMYTHE-VAN-SMYTHE'S HANDWRITING! AND IF IT'S WHAT I THINK IT IS I'LL BE HAPPIER THAN A SCOTCH MAN AT A FREE-FOR-ALL!
Dear Miss Cinders:
Which I sent to you was not sent as compensation for what you've done to help me as you did. It was simply a gesture of goodwill and friendship. I hardly expected you to receive it as unprecedented.
I had also intended giving you a check for $10,000 but my actions have caused me to alter my plans. I remain neither to take this course, nor your merchantman attitude hardly merits further consideration.
I am getting tonight for Australia on the Paloma. With keen disappointment,
I remain

TODAY'S MYSTERY.

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat)

About four months ago, when our friend J. W. Moran was at Milford, somebody changed hats with him. He wore this hat the rest of the summer. The other evening when J. W. met Rev. Jones and told him all about the hat the latter handed him the hat he was wearing. Then was when J. W. just about had to pinch himself. It was the hat he had lost four months ago at Milford. Rev. Jones hadn't been in the barbershop. How did J. W. get his hat? Rev. Jones had not been to Milford. How did he get Mr. Moran's hat?

FRISBY OFFERS HIS GOOD TIMES IDEA

While waiting for the returns in the Backward Women's Good Times Week letter contest, Congressman Horace Frisby feels that every red-blooded man and woman in this country will wish to further the cause by wearing the Frisby Sneezing Rose in his or her buttonhole (as the case may be). "Many a hearty laugh may be had," says Frisby, "when an unsuspecting friend smells the beautiful rose and bursts into an uncontrollable fit of sneezing which often lasts several hours. These roses may be ordered from me, in red, pink or yellow, at 15 cents each, three for 40 cents, or $1.35 per dozen. Bring back good times—ca-choo—buy a rose!"

The Wabash Tunnel Plan

Reconsideration by the grand jury of the county's purchase of the Wabash tunnel and bridge for a new traffic outlet to the South Hills is commendable. Original action of the Commissioners appears to have been taken without deliberative study of the project by the public generally, and without the County Planning Commission being given an opportunity to scan the proposal.

It is asserted that the ultimate expenditure to complete a safe and useful link with the South Hills is much more than the $4,200,000 set forth by the County Commissioners as the cost they now see. The Commissioners contend the deal is advantageous to the county.

Objectors, while not opposing any increase of traffic facilities, urge that it would be better for the county, in view of the unemployment situation, to build a new bridge and tunnel if the cost is to be no greater than would eventually be spent under the present plan.

A huge sum and an important project are involved. The re-examination by the grand jury and other interested agencies will mean no great delay, whatever may be the final decision.

Support for Pinchot

The reaction of Philadelphia members of the Legislature to Gov. Pinchot's program for the special session to convene next week is encouraging.

The Philadelphia delegation is hostile to Pinchot in many matters, but its spokesman promises to co-operate with him in his plans for relief of the unemployed.

Senator Samuel W. Salus indicated that while the Philadelphia members would not slavishly accept the Governor's dictation but would reserve the right to vote as they thought best they would be glad to comply with any reasonable suggestions he might make and to help him in his relief program.

Salus expressed the belief that the cigaret tax, the additional gasoline tax and the tax on billboards would be passed. Certainly if the Philadelphia members stand by the Governor in these proposals he has every reason to be encouraged.

Of course, objections can be raised to all of Pinchot's proposals as well as to every other money-raising scheme; but he must at least be given credit for having offered tangible, definite plans.

It is up to the critics who oppose his suggestions to offer something better.

As Salus says, money cannot be raised for the relief program without levying taxes, and no matter where the tax burden falls someone is bound to be hurt.

Depositors Reassured

Secretary Gordon, of the State Banking Department, Renders a Service With His Frank Statement.

Dr. William D. Gordon, State Secretary of Banking, has rendered a service in his full and frank statement dealing with conditions in recently closed banks and his plans for the protection of depositors.

There are those who counsel a policy of silence concerning the banking situation, or, at most, discussion in guarded whispers. Suspicion breeds in such an atmosphere. There is considerable legitimate information to which depositors are entitled and Dr. Gordon has done right in giving it to them.

He frankly discloses the modest salaries paid Banking Department officers who are entrusted with the management of the affairs of closed banks. Thereby he reassures depositors who have been led in some instances to believe that the expenses of liquidation consume a large part of a bank's assets.

Dr. Gordon's statement concerning proposed legislation which will tend to prevent the conditions under which banks have been laboring is also encouraging.

Not the least important feature of Dr. Gordon's statement is the announcement that the department is requiring banks to report loans made to "public officials who may be instrumental in placing public deposits in those institutions."

In view of the developments in the Franklin Savings and Trust Company case here, such information is altogether pertinent and may be of considerable value in protecting the interests of the public.

P. R. R. Improvements

It Would Be Interesting to Know When Work Will Be Started on Local Projects.

J. V. B. Duer, electrical engineer for the Pennsylvania Railroad, predicts the completion of the Pennsylvania's great program of electrification between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington in the early part of 1933. The work of electrification is progressing rapidly.

On completion of the job, Mr. Duer says, the Pennsylvania will operate more miles of electrified trackage than any other American railroad.

This is all very fine, and we rejoice to see the Pennsylvania thus forging ahead.

But what about the Pittsburgh District? Why are all these great improvements being made in the East? Why is Pittsburgh, one of the greatest producers of revenue on the Pennsylvania system, being slighted? When is the electrification of the local lines going to be started? When are we going to get our new station?

A Fatal Bomb Outrage

Explosions Call for the Employment of Good Detectives, Who Will Keep Persistently on the Trail.

Two more mysterious explosions must be added to the long list of bomb outrages from which the Pittsburgh district has suffered.

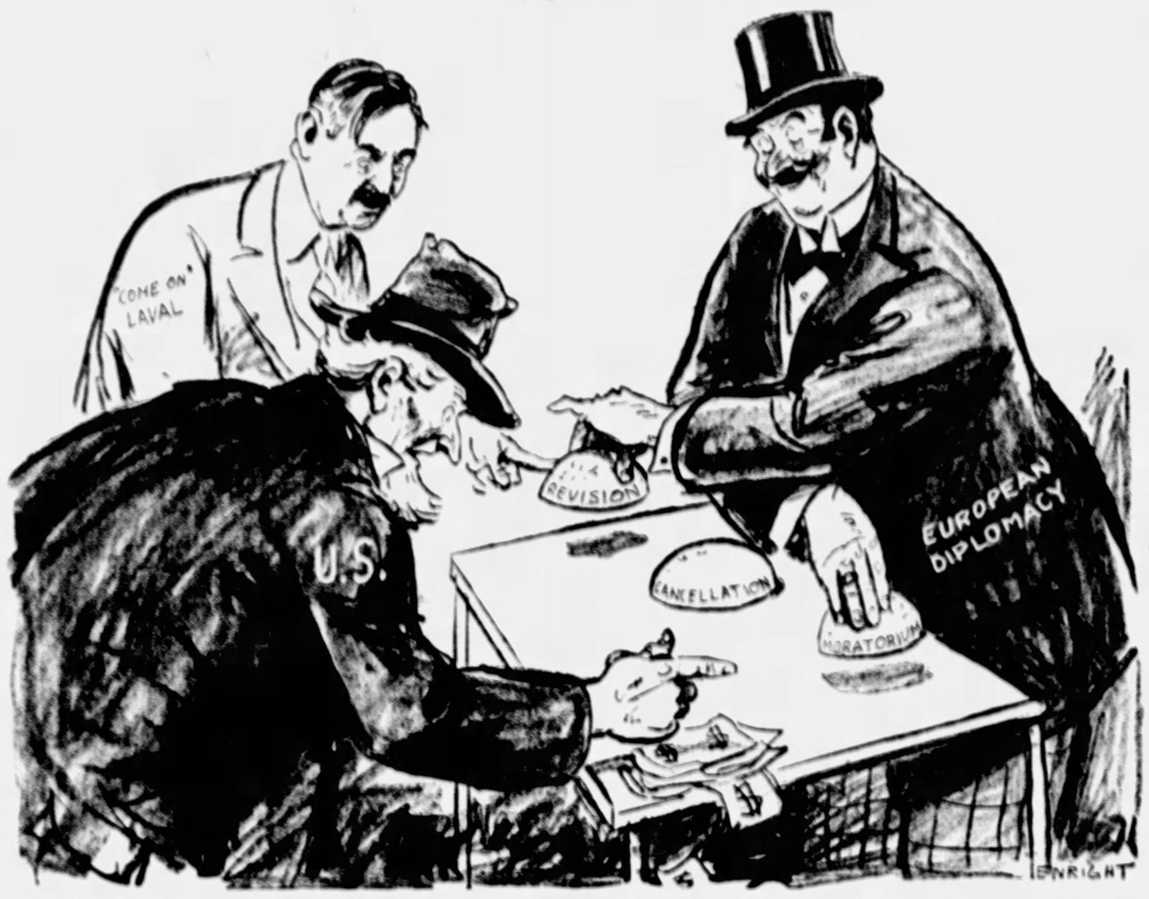
Investigation of these bombing affairs calls for the highest grade of detective skill. The fact that the culprits in such cases are rarely caught is proof enough that the bombers are too clever for the city and county detectives.

The difficulties in running down the criminals are not to be minimized. Investigators are often handicapped at the very outset by the unwillingness of the terror-stricken witnesses to talk.

The ablest detectives should be employed—men who will stick to the trail and not be daunted by obstacles.

The Old Shell Game

(Copyright, 1931.)



In the bright lexicon of the Thimble Riggers there is an old established custom never to give a Sucker an even break. The International Thimble Riggers see in Uncle Sam only a Sucker, and the Shell Game is all set by the wily diplomats of a Europe determined to get rid of its War Debts. The way is paved for CANCELLATION; Moratorium and Revision are but steps leading to that Goal.

Premier Laval's visit to America was but the "come-on" trip of the Cancellationists, and he has declared his mission here a success.

Why does the Administration fool around with these international shell games and fall for the blandishments of the Thimble Riggers while there are so many problems pressing for solution at home?

Has Internationalism pushed Americans out of the Capitol at Washington?

Nice Face, Nice Hat

And, Most Important, Fine FOREHEAD.

THIS IS LADY BROUGHAM AND VAUX.

We print this picture because it is pleasant to look at. The ornamental part of life should not be neglected and we print it because it shows how simply and beautifully women can dress, in the modern style. Nothing could be simpler than this little dress, and the hat, called in England the "Robin Hood," is supposed to look like the cap that Robin Hood wore when he did his poaching and fighting "under the greenwood tree."

Perhaps some American merchants would like to take up this hat and develop it as a pleasing change from the "Empress Eugenie" type which is beginning to look almost like everything and anything from a sea shell to the top of an ice cream freezer.

There are many things that the discriminating will admire in this picture of the young woman who was Miss Valerie French, now the wife of Lord Brougham and Vaux, an officer in the Scots Guards. She has a beautiful hand, slender, well shaped; a delicate wrist and arm which shows no overfeeding or starving.

The features are beautifully moulded, the neck is strong; a very important thing, meaning long life and great vigor.

The hair is well arranged, although we should have preferred an arrangement that would allow the ears to be seen.

The ear tells as much about the character as any part of the face and should never be hidden.

Most pleasing, beautiful and encouraging of all is the well-shaped forehead, which comes out like the forehead of a small baby. You notice how babies always have foreheads that look as though they must become geniuses.

Thinking is done BACK OF THE FOREHEAD. What we think is the ONE important thing about us. This young woman with the right training and direction should do her thinking usefully.

Also for women and girls there is an interesting suggestion in the ornament that Lady Brougham and Vaux wears in her little Robin Hood hat. It is the star of the Scots Guard, borrowed from her husband and used as an ornament. It indicates that she is proud of her husband and his regiment. American women might take up that idea, although their husbands are not in the Scots Guards.

The bride of a plumber could wear a little gold soldering iron. The wife of a taxi driver might have a miniature meter set with diamonds. The multi-millionaire's wife could wear a large dollar mark—two bars of gold with an S of large diamonds making the dollar sign. And the racketeer's loved one might have for ornament a miniature "automatic" picked out in rubies to show that it means business.

The really interesting thing about this, however, is the delicacy of the face—the beautiful profile. May the young woman live long to make Lord Brougham and Vaux happy, and may he DESERVE IT.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The inexorable law of diminishing returns has fallen heavily upon New York's greatest spenders—employes of the brokerage houses in Wall street. Hundreds have been marking time for more than a year awaiting the expected upturn in the market.

Optimists all, they believe prosperity will arrive suddenly over night and for that reason few have sought other means for tiding themselves over scanty days. As one expressed it: "We are in hock to our landlords."

These are mostly men who were themselves completely un-pursed by the crash and who were accustomed to making from $20,000 to $75,000 a year. They lived as gamblers live the world over—easy come, easy go, patronizing best tailors, best cafes and highest priced night clubs.

I know a half dozen who kept "open house" every evening from 5 to 7 during the boom days. Their apartments and pent houses were overflowing at this period by the loose living crowds that drift from place to place for free drinks and the hope of free dinners.

Some brokers after the smash bluntly told grifters the harvest days were over. Others locked their doors and one in a midtown hotel hung out a sign reading: "You were welcome when the going was good. Now it is different—if you catch the idea."

Yet they are the only class of employes I know who show no visible evidences of hard times. They had plentifully filled wardrobes and are dressing as fashionably as ever on the reserve supply. Landlords have been considerate because they were good fellows when they had it.

Their chief difficulty is ready cash. Otherwise they have lived almost as opulently as ever. Life has paused for them, but they do not whine. They had their prosperity jag and nurse their headaches with fortitude. "Things will be humming by spring," they say. And don't we all hope so.

PATHOLOGICAL LAWS

By Archibald Henderson

The difficulties of studying scientifically the effect of disease in human beings through several generations are virtually insuperable. The principal of scientific control cannot be invoked. But it would be an exceedingly important and valuable discovery if science could find out the effects of heredity on the likelihood of any individual developing disease. To make such a study scientifically, it is necessary to have some lower animal forms as subjects of experimentation. This has recently been done by Miss Maude Slye of the University of Chicago. She has been at work on this subject for over 20 years; and her latest study was of 205 mice, all descendants of the same pair of parents. Since 1908, covering the entire period of her studies in pathology of this type she has grown more than 100,000 animals for her researches. All of them were derived from a few dozen original ancestors.

For the past four years, she has been studying four generations of mice, derived from a mouse known to be immune from cancer mated with a female mouse which she knew would develop the disease because of its cancer-ridden parentage. Actually this female progenitress, after two years and one month, did die of cancer. The male progenitor died at the age of two years, two months, and 23 days, and showed no tumors of any kind during his lifetime.

Dr. Slye had previously found that the inheritance of freedom from the disease is more likely than the inheritance of susceptibility to it. This is scientifically stated thus: the inheritance of susceptibility to cancer is inherited as a "simple Mendelian recessive." Mendel's law is maintained. This was demonstrated with the first generation of the above-mentioned two ancestors (parents); no pathologic growth being found in the nine children. This supports Mendel's law which states that the mating of a cancerous mouse with a cancer-free animal invariably results in a first generation which is completely free of the disease.

However, another Mendelian principle requires that the first breed from such parents as those described, while free of the disease themselves, can transmit it to their offspring, according to the definite ratio of three to one. That is, three out of every four should be immune to cancer, while the fourth is likely to develop it.

Dr. Slye found that Mendel's law of recessives was not approximately, but exactly confirmed by the second generation. There happened, fortunately for the precise ratio required, to be exactly 36 individuals of the second generation. Of these 36, 27 were noncancerous and nine were cancerous. The expected ratio of three to one was exactly found, a beautiful verification of the expected result according to the accepted principle under the law of Mendelian recessives. Thus it was demonstrated that cancer is a recessive rather than a dominant Mendelian trait.

In the total family of 205, it was found that 23 developed cancer. This figure very closely approximates the figure for human beings. The cancers themselves are almost identical in mice and men.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

I've been studying humans and their cussedness—including myself and my own—for nearly 50 years. And I have come to this conclusion—

WE GET WHAT WE WANT OUT OF LIFE.

This statement will be immediately and indignantly denied by every person who reads it. You, for example, will cry—

"That isn't so! I've wanted thousands of things that I didn't get. I've wanted to be rich and powerful and popular. I've wanted to travel...to go on thrilling adventures...and meet strange, interesting people. But I've never had the chance. Or, if I did have the chance, I wasn't able to take it."

Yes, that's your story, stranger. And you'll probably stick to it. But it isn't true. You DID get out of life what you wanted. There were, of course, certain goals beyond your possible attainment... certain mental and physical handicaps you could not pass. But, barring these, you could have had anything you wanted out of life. AND YOU TOOK WHAT YOU WANTED MOST.

For instance—you say you wanted to go on adventures. And you could have gone on them—IF THAT WAS WHAT YOU HAD WANTED MOST. But there were other things you wanted beside adventure. You wanted safety... or perhaps ease . . . or perhaps money. Or perhaps you couldn't bear the thought of leaving your home and dear ones and your good job—

But these wants conflicted terribly with your adventure wants. For adventures aren't safe—they're dangerous. They aren't easy. They mean much hard work and discomfort. They rarely make money. Instead they're apt to leave you penniless. And hardest of all, they force you to leave everyone you love behind you and to go out into lonely perils.

Yes, you wanted adventure. The thought of great, white ships plowing the peacock seas . . . of winding trails leading like green tunnels through the jungle brush . . . of dead, forgotten cities bleaching on the desert sands . . . the thought of all that waiting wonder drove you nearly crazy with desire.

BUT WHEN IT CAME RIGHT DOWN TO BRASS TACKS YOU WANTED SOMETHING ELSE MORE. YOU WANTED ADVENTURE, BUT YOU WANTED SAFETY AND COMFORT AND MONEY AND THE COZINESS OF HOME FIRES MORE. AND YOU TOOK WHAT YOU WANTED MOST.

That is the truth. It is a very disagreeable truth. You will not like to admit it. Yet you could change the whole course of your life for the better if you would admit it.

Fate does not cheat us of the things we want. We cheat ourselves. We cheat ourselves through our own cowardice and laziness, our greediness and conceit and silly sentimentality. And because we are so ignorant concerning ourselves, we do not know that we, alone, are responsible. IF WE DID KNOW, WE MIGHT SAVE OURSELVES.

Think of your own life. Have you the courage and sense to think of it honestly? Then think back to your disappointments and losses—to the dreams that never materialized. Why didn't they materialize? For years you've been blaming somebody else because they didn't. For years you've gone around consumed with resentment and self-pity. But whose fault was it—really? Granted that other people were malicious and peevish and selfish . . . how about YOU?

A little less lazy? More willing to fight for your rights?

What then?

YOU GET WHAT YOU WANT . . . WHAT YOU CHOOSE . . . OUT OF LIFE. DON'T KID YOURSELF THAT YOU DON'T!

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Good Morning, World!

Good morning, World!
How good to see
The sun-god rise
In majesty;
To feel across
The deeps of space
His touch upon
My lifted face!

Good morning, World!
How sweet to hear
The meadow-lark
With matin clear,
As he lifts up
His happy voice
That makes my heart
In turn rejoice!

Good morning, World!
How my soul sings
To hear the message
Dawning brings;
New faith, new cheer
And hope are born
For every man
At every morn;
